

Shearing Plays Wednesday

"The Battle of the Saxons" will be a highlight of the George Shearing concert in McArthur court from 7:30 to 10 p. m. Wednesday. Appearing in the battle will be Stan Getz, Zoot Sims and Wardell Gray.

Getz is considered one of the most promising names in jazz. Sims was formerly with Woody Herman and Stan Kenton. Gray starred with the Benny Goodman and Count Basie bands.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at the Student Union main desk for 85 cents.

Heart Hop Ticket Sales, Voting Begin Wednesday

Ticket sales for the Heart Hop will begin Wednesday at the Cop and the Student Union, according to Sharon Isaminger and Anne Hill, general co-chairmen for the dance.

The annual girl-ask-boy dance, sponsored by the YWCA sophomore cabinet, will be held Feb. 13, at Pi Beta Phi, Zeta Tau Alpha, Kappa Alpha Theta and Chi Omega.

Crowning of the "King of Hearts," who is selected by the votes of women buying tickets, will be held at Chi Omega, said Nancy Hooper, publicity chairman.

Finalists for the title of "King," and their sponsoring houses, are Bob Berry, Carson 4; Wes Ball, Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Kappa Psi; Dick Bruce, French hall; Ron Griffiths, Chi Omega; Bruce Purvine, Beta Theta Pi, and Milan Foster, Delta Upsilon.

A social hour for the six was held Monday noon at the YWCA office in Gerlinger by members of the sophomore cabinet.

Dessert Set Tonight For Soph Women

A dessert for all sophomore women will be held tonight at the Delta Zeta house from 6:15 to 7:30, according to Donna Buchanan and Carol Huggins, social chairmen of the YWCA cabinet, sponsoring group.

Entertainment will be provided, Miss Buchanan said, and plans for the Sophomore Skip Day, to be held next month, will be discussed. Plans for the Heart Hop, to be held Saturday, will also be discussed.

Co-hostesses for the affair will be sophomore members of Delta Delta Delta and Pi Beta Phi.

UIS Will Entertain Friday at Carson

All campus Greeks are invited to join the United Independent Students Friday night in the basement of Carson hall, UIS President Hollis Ransom said today.

Dancing, entertainment and refreshments are planned for the party beginning at 9 p. m.

Campus clothes are in order for the stag affair, according to Bob Patterson, chairman of the event.

Oregon-OSC Game Tickets Going Fast

Tickets for the Oregon section at the Oregon-Oregon State basketball game Saturday, Feb. 27, in Corvallis, are selling rapidly, the athletic ticket office said Monday.

Only 140 of the 400 seats in the student section are left, and these probably will all be sold by next week, the ticket sellers said.

Sea Exploration Is First Lecture In Condon Series

Do thoughts of green-eyed sea monsters frighten you? Are you puzzled about ancient tales of the sea?

Such ideas and misconceptions of the sea will be discussed by Ralph Buchsbaum, professor of zoology at the University of Pittsburghs, at 8 p. m. in the Student Union ballroom.

Tonight's talk, "Man Fears and Explores the Sea," is the first of two on "The Sea and Life Within It" in the annual Condon lectures. Buchsbaum will explain in non-technical terms how sea knowledge is gained, the importance of museums, and the classification and naming of animals.

In his final Thursday lecture, "Man Studies and Understands the Sea," he will discuss newer scientific approaches and biological conditions of the sea.

The Condon lectures, which are free and open to the public, were started in 1944 and are supported by the Oregon State Board of Higher Education. They were named in honor of Thomas Condon, the University's first professor of geology and will be presented at Oregon State College, Feb. 16 and 18, and Portland State college Feb. 23 and 24.

Buchsbaum is the author of "Animals Without Backbone," a book dealing in non-technical language with the invertebrates. He received the Chicago prize for excellence in teaching in 1940.

Intramural Rules Broken; One Team, Different Names

by Len Calvert

Emerald Editorial Assistant

Law professors played intramural basketball this winter if the roster of the "Legal Eagles" basketball team was any indication.

The team, composed of law students, was entered as a "B" squad. It was later discovered that the same men also were playing for Barrister Inn under their own names.

Majority Unnoticed

This is only one of the rule infractions which has been brought to the attention of the intramurals department this year. Others have been caught, but the majority seem to go unnoticed except by opposing players.

The intramural office does not accept the responsibility of checking players' eligibility. It is up to the various team managers to spot violators and report them to the office.

Players, according to the intramural rule book, must be regularly enrolled in the University and affiliated with the organization for which they are playing. Any player violating this rule will be suspended from participation for the rest of the year and the team has to forfeit the game in which the protest was made.

Men who have earned varsity letters are not eligible to compete in the intramural sport in which they won their letters.

Protests Written

Protests of eligibility violations must be made in writing to the intramural director within 24 hours after the game has been played. The case is then decided by the Administrative board, which hears both sides of the issue.

Protests on matters other than eligibility must be made during the game.

The Administrative board is composed of Paul Washke, director of the program; Earl Ferguson, assistant director and Bob Robinson, Emerald sports editor.

Encourages Athletics

Oregon's intramural program is set up to encourage as many men as possible to compete in athletics in a spirit of fair play and good sportsmanship.

In order to bring more men into the program, such sports as basketball and volleyball are divided

Petersen to Give Assembly Talk

"Big Business Meets the Challenge of Change" will be considered by Theodore S. Petersen, president and director of Standard Oil Company of California when he speaks at 1 p. m. in the Student Union ballroom today at a regular University assembly.

Petersen will meet informally with students during a discussion period at 4 p. m. in the Dad's lounge.

T. S. PETERSEN Challenge Met

Petersen is also director of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company, the American Petroleum Institute and the Western Oil and Gas association. He is a trustee of the California Academy of Sciences, consulting professor of marketing for the Stanford University graduate school of business, a member of the San Francisco Bay Area Council and the Business Advisory Council for the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Advanced Rapidly

Starting with Standard Oil in 1922 as a service station salesman in Portland, Petersen advanced rapidly working in a variety of jobs throughout seven western states, and by 1931 he had become a division manager for Standard Stations, Inc., at Sacramento.

By 1938 Petersen had risen to the position of general manager of Standard Stations. Later that year, he became assistant to the president of Standard Oil of California and manager of the Employee Relations and Personnel department.

Portland School Graduate

Soon he was named general manager of sales and, in 1942, was elected to the board of directors; a few months later he was named a vice president. In 1948 he was elected president of the company.

Born in Logan, Utah, in 1896, Petersen moved to Portland with his family in 1912. He graduated from Washington high school, Portland, in 1916. Before joining Standard he was engaged in the real estate business.

Petersen is being brought to the campus by the University assembly and lecture committee as the third winter term speaker.

Harpist Recital Set For Tonight

A harp recital by music students will be presented tonight at 8:15 in the music school auditorium. Admission will be free.

Students of Mrs. Doris H. Calkins, instructor in harp, will play two groups of numbers. Their program will include works by Tournier, Liadow, St. Quentin, Nedhal, Hasselman, Kreisler, Salzedo and Flotow.

In addition, Mrs. Calkins will play "Introduction and Allegro," by Ravel. She will be assisted by the Eugene Alumnae quartet.

Speech Freedom Is Lecture Topic

Warren C. Price, associate professor of journalism, will speak on "An American Crisis in Freedom of Speech: The South, 1880-1870," at the Student Union browsing room lecture 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. Discussion leader for the evening will be W. H. Stephenson, professor of history.

Rally Board Choice Slated for Tonight

Interviews for rally board petitioners will be held tonight beginning at 7:15 in the Student Union Sully Stadelman, rally board chairman, has announced.

Approximately 35 students have petitioned for the board, and Miss Stadelman has suggested that the petitioners bring studying or books to read while waiting for their interviews. The interviews will be short, she stressed.

Members of the interviewing committee will be Don Crawford, Paul Lasker and Ben Schmidt, ASUO senate rally committee members; Yell King Tom Gaines and Miss Stadelman.

Foreign Students Begin Panel Series

The first in a series of weekly panel discussions by international students on "Understanding Our World Community" will be presented tonight at 6:15 on the Gerlinger sun porch.

Tonight's topic will be "Economics and Politics." The panel members will include Hortolf Biesberger, Oberndorf, Germany; Geoffrey Ibon, Nigeria, and Ahmed Jalal Uddin, Pakistan. Moderator for the group will be Ted Goh, junior in journalism, from Singapore.

The discussions, sponsored by Wesley Foundation, follow the 5:30 p. m. potluck dinner.

Future topics will be "Education," Feb. 16; "Social and Cultural," Feb. 23; "Religion," March 2; "The Christian Impact," March 9.
