

Looking Ahead . . .

. . . to spring? The edit page muses on the possibilities of spring, it's being just around the corner and all that. See page two.

Oregon Daily EMERALD

Hold Your Hat . . .

. . . as it will be windy today, the local weather bureau says. Southerly winds of 30 to 40 miles per hour, accompanied by rain are predicted for today, but will decrease tonight. High for today will be 50, low tonight, 43.

VOL. LV

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, TUESDAY, FEB. 16, 1954

NO. 83

Cougars Find Waldo No Duck

"Waldo's from Oregon, but he ain't no duck," quipped the Washington State Daily Evergreen in a Feb. 10 feature article. The former Oregon Theta Chi mascot, now at Washington State college, was described as follows:

"A stranger has hit the campus with such impact that in just a few short weeks almost everyone either knows or has heard of Waldo. He is a junior transfer student from the University of Oregon arriving on campus just before final week."

Monster on C Street

Referring to Waldo as "the monstrous black and white dog that has established residence down on C street with the Theta Chi's" the Evergreen goes on to tell that Waldo has already started going to the local hangout for coke dates. He is also joining the line down at the reinstatement board (whatever that is), attending classes and generally getting acquainted on campus.

"Since his arrival, Waldo has made only one social blunder. This happened when he was taken to the Vet clinic to plan a feeding schedule for him, he mistook a floor ash tray for a fire plug," the Evergreen reports.

'Perfect House Dog'

It was mentioned that the WSC Theta Chi's have turned to panhandling the butcher shops in a desperate attempt to trim Waldo's $500 annual board bill. Waldo has made the rounds of the sororities on campus and has even been smuggled up to the second floor in a couple of houses. "He makes a perfect house dog," the paper reports.

Apparently the Washington stater has gotten to know Waldo quite well for the Evergreen article concluded:

"Also he hates bells; doesn't drink, although he has blood shot eyes, and doesn't have any girl friend. He might be mourning his girl friend at Eugene, Snowbelle."

Emerald Workers To Get Pix Taken

Emerald staff members will get their Oregon pictures taken at 3 p. m. today at the Shack. All Emerald workers including copy desk workers, reporters, make-up editors, night, ad and sports staffers are to meet for pictures.

The Emerald birthday will be celebrated tonight at 6:30 in the Shack, according to Elsie Schiller, editor. Refreshments will be served and a general staff meeting will follow.

Badeau's Speech Covers Near East

John Badeau, president of the Near East foundation, will give a sympathetic interpretation of the problems of the Near East in his University assembly speech Thursday. He will speak at 1 p. m. in the Student Union ballroom.

"What is at Stake in the Near East" will be discussed by Badeau. He has been a resident of the Near East for 20 years

Badeau's connection with the Near East dates from 1928 when he went to Iraq as a member of the United Mission in Mesopotamia. He lived both in Mosul and Baghdad. Trained as an engineer, he aided in the construction of missions while in Iraq.

During this time, Badeau began the study of the Arabic language, culture and history. He was particularly interested in the problem of the Arab world's adjustment to western civilization.

In 1936 he joined the staff of the American University at Cairo where he served as associate professor of philosophy and religion. He became Dean of the college of arts and sciences in 1938 and president of the university in 1945.

During the war, Badeau served with the United States office of war information as chief regional specialist for the Middle East. He had control of news and information programs which presented America's war aims to the Arab world.

Badeau's residence in the Near East has covered most of the important political events of recent years. In 1932 he saw the ending of the British Mandate in

Thursday 1 O'Clocks Scheduled for Today

All Thursday 1 p. m. classes will meet today at 1 p. m. because of the University assembly scheduled for Thursday at 1 featuring John Badeau, president of the Near East foundation.

Army ROTC drill will be held today at 1 p. m. instead of the regular Thursday drill.

Danish Architect Speaks Tonight

"Architecture and Town Culture" will be the topic of a public lecture tonight at 8 p. m. in the science auditorium by Steen Eiler Rasmussen, professor of architecture from the University of Copenhagen, Denmark.

Rasmussen is the first speaker in a series of winter term lectures sponsored by the school of architecture and allied arts. His trip to the West was made possible through the American Institute of Architects and the American-Scandinavian foundation.

A visiting professor at Yale and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Rasmussen is also chairman of the Regional Planning committee for Copenhagen and a member of the royal academy of fine arts. He has written two books on town planning and publishes material in the architectural journals.

While on campus, Rasmussen will also speak to architecture students Wednesday evening on "Danish and Scandinavian Architecture." He will also conduct seminars with city planning classes.

Water Pageant Tickets On Sale Today in SU

Tickets for the water pageant to be staged this Thursday and Friday by Amphibians, women's swimming honorary will be sold for 80 cents today and Wednesday from 1 to 4 p. m. in the Student Union, according to Nancy Garrison, publicity chairman. The water show is scheduled both nights for 8 p. m. at the men's pool.

"Under the Big Top" is to be the theme of the production, which will feature the novelty aspects of a real circus. Included in the show will be ten main acts, intermission entertainment and the grand finale. Clowns will captivate the audience at intermission, according to Sally Stadelman, Amphibian president and general chairman for the event. "Three Ring Circus" is the title of the finale, in which the entire cast will participate, Miss Stadelman said.

One of the main acts will feature the use of "black light," which creates an unusual effect. Costumes worn by the cast, in this number are phosphorescent. When the lights are turned out, the audience will be able to see the shimmering swimming suits, seemingly moving by themselves in the darkened pool.

The entire production is written and produced by Amphibian members, and advised by Marian Perry, instructor in physical education.

'Sea No Mystery' States Buchsbaum In Condon Lecture

Man has progressed beyond feeling mystery about the sea, reported Ralph Buchsbaum, in his second Condon lecture, "Man Studies and Understands the Sea." "We still have a lot to learn about the ocean," Buchsbaum explained, "but we know our own ignorance and we are no longer held back by fear."

Illustrating his lecture with slides Buchsbaum showed new instruments and techniques used in studying the sea.

"Our study of the sea begins on land," Buchsbaum stressed, "since the islands of the sea are the tops of mountains."

New methods of exploring the sea have aided men in finding fish and seafood supplies and in using these supplies intelligently, he told his audience.

Buchsbaum is a professor of zoology at the University of Pittsburgh, and the author of the textbook, "Animals Without Backbones." In 1940, he received Chicago University's excellence in teaching prize.

Buchsbaum will deliver the same two Condon lectures on "The Sea and the Life Within It" Feb. 16 and 18 at Oregon State college and Feb. 23 and 24 at Portland State college.

Foreign Education Discussion Slated

The second in a series of international student panel discussions on "Understanding Our World Community," will be held tonight at 6:15 at Gerlinger hall.

Students participating in the panel sponsored by the Wesley foundation, include Ephraim Layode, Nigeria; Paul ten Hove, the Netherlands; Mitsugu Sakihara, Okinawa, and Husam Al-Dhahi, Iraq. The group will speak on education in their homelands. Ted Goh, Singapore, will be the moderator for the group.

A potluck supper at 5:20 at the Gerlinger hall sunporch will precede the program.

SU To Show Nature Films

The educational movies scheduled for Wednesday evening in 138 Commonwealth deal with nature. The following seven movies will be shown: "Crystal Clear," "Paricutin," "Bird Migration," "Spring Blossoms," "Death Valley National Mountains," "World Gardens" and "Story of Bees."

The movies will be shown as usual starting at 7 and 9 p. m., according to Pamela Rabens, member of the Student Union movie committee.

Friday Deadline For Ball Tickets

Friday is the deadline for buying tickets to the Senior ball, according to Jack McClenahan and Bob Berry, ticket co-chairmen.

Price is $2 per couple, and they may be obtained either at the Student Union main desk or from living organizations' salesmen.

Salesmen are Bryce Reimer, Alpha Tau Omega; Mike Jeffries, Beta Theta Pi; Bill Veatch, Campbell club; John Prag, Chi Psi; Milan Foster, Delta Upsilon; Jack Bob Kubeck, Phi Gamma Delta; Ev Stiles, Phi Kappa Psi; Gordon Nobriga, Phi Kappa Sigma;

Bob Enright, Phi Sigma Kappa; Ron Mount, Pi Kappa Alpha; Bill Batterton, Pi Kappa Phi; Don Bonime, Sigma Alpha Mu; Joe Artstett, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; John Tonack, Sigma Chi;

Ward Cook, Sigma Nu; Forest Easton, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Leo Naapi, Theta Chi; Carl Peres; Delta Tau Delta; Al Oppliger, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Jerry Froebe, Phi Delta Theta;

Ted Goh, Gamma hall; Leo Nutman, Hale Kane; Gary West, French hall; Gary Stanton, Sherry Ross; Jack Harmon, Susan Campbell, and Jack McClenahan, Merrick and Nestor halls.

The dance, which is sponsored by the senior class and to which everyone on campus is invited, is to be held Saturday in the SU ballroom, from 9 to 12:30 p. m.

"Winter Wonderland" is the theme, and the Jantzen beach band of Bill Becker will play. Corsages for the formal dance are optional.

Cressman To Show Slides of Mexico

L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department, will speak on "Pre-Columbian Mexico" at the Student Union browsing room lecture 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Colored slides will be shown with the lecture. Discussion leader for the evening will be Chandler B. Beall, professor of romance languages.

The weekly lecture-forum series is sponsored by the University library and the Association of Patrons and Friends of the University of Oregon Library.

Choir Tickets On Sale at SU

The Mt. Angel Seminary Gregorian Choir is scheduled to appear here Feb. 25, under the sponsorship of the Student Union board.

Tickets are now on sale at the SU main desk. Price is 50 cents for students and faculty, and 85 cents for others. Tickets will be available to students and faculty through Monday when they will go on sale to the general public.

The choir will appear in the SU ballroom presenting the following program: The First Lamentation of Jeremiah; the Gospel of Good Friday in Holy Week; Credo VII, eighth mode, 13th Century; Vesper Hymn of St. Scholastic, second mode; Vesper Hymn for Many Martyrs, second mode, eighth century;

Vesper Hymn for Feast of the Apostles, first mode; Alma Redemptoris Mater, fifth mode; Ava Regina Caelorum, sixth mode; Regina Caeli, sixth mode; Salve Regina, fifth mode, and Antiphon and Magnificat for Vespers of Holy Saturday, eighth mode.

Duck Preview Head Petitions Wanted

Petitions for Duck Preview general chairman are due Thursday, Feb. 25, at 4 p. m. in the ASU office, according to Tom Wrightson, ASU president.

The ASU senate will meet Feb. 25 to interview all candidates for the chairmanship.

Duck Preview weekend for high school seniors is scheduled for April 23 and 24.

Present Day Music Lecture Is Tonight

F. W. Bittner, instructor of music theory, will present a lecture on "A Survey of Contemporary Music" tonight at 7 p. m. in the Student Union.

The combination concert and lecture will be held in the Peter Howard listening room, according to Martha Spatz, chairman of the SU recorded music committee, sponsors of the concert.

French Club Reads Moliere Tonight

The February meeting of the French club will be held tonight at 8 at the home of Bob Griffith, 2341 Emerald street.

A reading of one of Moliere's plays, "Le Medecin Malgre Lui," will be given by members of the group.

Anyone who is interested in the French language, culture and country is invited to attend, according to Griffith.