

Bridge Sharks To Get Trophies

Trophies will be awarded to the men's and women's living organization with the highest scores in today's all-campus bridge tournament to be held from 7 to 10 p. m. in the Student Union.

Straight contract bridge will be played in the tournament which is being held under the sponsorship of the SU board. Last year's winner were Alpha Delta Pi and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The University will be one of 172 colleges and universities in the United States participating in the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament to be held Thursday in the SU. The tournament will be played in official tournament style with pre-determined duplicated hands.

Trophies will be awarded to the school winning the national title. A plaque bearing the names of the four individual campus champions will also be awarded, and certificates will be given the individual winners.

More than 4000 men and women undergraduates across the country are expected to participate in the tournament, playing on their own campuses. Hands which have been prepared in advance are mailed to the participating schools.

The tournament is now in its eighth year. National titles last year were won by Princeton and Purdue universities.

Novelty Pairings Slated for Rally

Something new in the way of pairings will be tried in the pre-OSC game rally, scheduled for 6:30 p. m., February 24, in the Student Union ballroom.

The Rally Board has decided to pair the campus organizations according to their geographic locations. The "Millrace," "Hilltop," "Campus," "Lower Alder" and "Upper Alder" houses will be pitted against each other in hopes of getting more enthusiasm.

As a further incentive to yell, the board is planning a perpetual trophy, which will be held jointly by the houses in the winning section of the University. Unlike any ordinary gold or silver trophy, this one will be made of paper mache, with room on it for the names of all winners.

Bill Bowerman, assistant athletic director, has been picked by the board as its first adviser. "We will be able to work closer with the athletic department, now that we have a coach as an adviser," rally board chairman Sally Stadelman said.

In a meeting Tuesday afternoon, the group also decided to plan skits for rallies in the future, and also to sing more songs at athletic events.

WUS Asks for People To Help in Experiment

by Sally Jo Greig
Emerald Reporter

Workers are needed to participate in an "experiment for international understanding" conducted by the World University Service, according to Sue Shreeve and F. E. Dart, assistant professor of physics, chairmen of the experiment on this campus.

The University has accepted an invitation from WUS to participate in this experiment, which is separate from the fund raising drive which will be held in the spring.

Anyone interested in working on this project should turn in their petitions by Feb. 22 at the Student Union. "This project offers the students of Oregon a rare opportunity to participate in a program of this type. It will give students a deeper insight of the problems of international relations," commented Miss Shreeve.

The purpose of the program is to arouse students to an awareness of international affairs and needs. The objective is to determine the significant factors influencing student and faculty thinking on world affairs.

The program will have three parts. The first will consist of a questionnaire to be circulated among students to find out what has most influenced their thinking on international problems. Chairmen for this committee will be Norm Webb, senior in psychology, and Leona E. Tyler, associate professor of psychology.

Agnes Weitz, student from Germany, and K. S. Ghent, associate professor of mathematics, will be the chairmen for the second group.

This group will organize discussion groups to talk about relations of foreign students to the University. The purpose will be to find what influence foreign students make on the community in which they live.

The third group will center around American students who have either traveled or studied abroad. The purpose of this group will be to determine how much the individual gained from his experience and how much he helps the understanding of international affairs after his return.

Chairmen of this discussion group will be Richard Brown, freshman in liberal arts, and R. E. Dodge, associate professor of business administration.

Cressman to Speak On Indian Cultures In Browsing Room

"Pre-Colombian Mexico" is the subject of tonight's browsing room lecture, which will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. in the Student Union.

L. S. Cressman, anthropology department head, will speak on the Indian cultures in Colombia and Mexico before the Spanish conquest.

Special emphasis in the program will be given to the Toltec, Mayan and Aztec cultures found in Mexico. A feature of Cressman's talk will be colored slides showing archeological ruins of the countries. The slides will also illustrate various art forms.

Following Cressman's speech there will be a discussion session led by Chandler Beall, professor of Romance languages.

Next in the lecture-forum series will be a lecture by M. R. Spontenburgh, assistant professor of art, on the "Architectural Sculpture of the 19th Egyptian Dynasty," Feb. 24. Discussions will be led by S. W. Little, dean of the art school.

SPECIAL ACTS

Water Show Set

"Popcorn and Lemonade" will open the water pageant, "Under the Big Top," to be staged Thursday and Friday by Amphibians, women's swimming honorary. The production is scheduled both nights for 8 p. m. at the men's pool.

Tickets for the event cost 80 cents and will be sold today from 1 to 4 p. m. in the Student Union. They may also be purchased at the booth outside the pool on the evenings of the performance, or from any Amphibian member who is in the pageant.

Written and produced by Amphibian members, the water show will consist of ten main acts, intermission entertainment and the grand finale, all portraying phases of a real circus. Clowns will be featured at the intermission. They will also do exhibition diving, according to Sally Stadelman, Amphibian president and general chairman for the event.

Scott Lehner, sophomore in speech, will be master of ceremonies as a side show barker, and will "call" the audience to each act.

"The Greatest Show on Earth," will be the title of one of the main numbers in which the swimmers will perform to the music from the Cecille B. DeMille movie of the same name. Helium-filled colored balloons will be incorporated into the act. They will be released out into the audience at the end of the number.

An unusual feature of the production will be the use of "body lights" by the swimmers in one of the numbers. Small lights are attached to the performers' arms and legs. All other lights are turned out. As the performers swim, only the lights can be seen flickering around the darkened pool, creating a fire fly effect, Miss Stadelman said.

"Three Ring Circus" is the title of the grand finale, in which the entire cast of the pageant will participate. Other features are a merry-go-round, the use of "black lights" in some of the numbers, and special solo numbers.

SU Gallery Shows Children's Works

An art exhibit featuring the work of children in Eugene elementary schools is now being held in the Student Union art gallery, to continue through March 6.

The exhibit was arranged through the co-operation of Miss Freda Harshbarger, art supervisor of the Eugene public schools. Art work done by children at St. Mary's Academy is also displayed, according to Barbara Johnson, SU art gallery chairman.

Women's Slate Set for Election

Associated Women Students and the Women's Recreation Association have released their complete slate of officers for Thursday's elections. Voting for the officers of these organizations will be held in conjunction with the YWCA elections.

Rosemary Hampton, junior in speech, and Janet Wick, junior in history, have been appointed for the AWS presidency. Nominees for secretary of the organization include Jane Bergstrom, sophomore in architecture and allied arts and Sally Ryan, sophomore in journalism.

Olivia Tharaldson and Margaret Tyler, both freshmen in liberal arts, have been nominated for sergeant-at-arms. Two other freshman liberal arts students, Valerie Hersh and Marcia Mauney, were nominated for reporter.

WRA Slate Listed

The Women's Recreation Association has nominated Sally Stadelman, sophomore in sociology, and Nikki Trump, junior in business administration, for the presidency of that group.

Judy Counts, sophomore in liberal arts, and Doris Liljeberg, junior in physical education, are in the race for the secretary's position, and Prudence Ducich, sophomore in architecture and allied arts, and Charlotte Martin, sophomore in physical education, have been nominated for treasurer.

Others Named

Also on the slate are Darlene Hammer, sophomore in physical education, and Delores Schleichert, sophomore in liberal arts, for the office of custodian; and Carol Harrison, junior in physical education, and Kathleen Morrison, freshman in liberal arts, for sergeant-at-arms.

Voting for officers in the three organizations will take place at the voting booth in the lobby of Gerlinger hall from 12:30 to 6 p. m.

Ball Ticket Money Due

Ticket salesmen for the Senior ball must turn in their money and additional tickets today by 7 p. m., according to Bob Berry and Jack McClenahan, ticket co-chairmen.

Tickets may be returned to Berry at Delta Tau Delta or to McClenahan at Nestor hall. Additional tickets will remain on sale at the Student Union main desk, for $2 per couple.

The dance, which is the first all-campus formal of the year, will be held in the SU ballroom Feb. 20 from 9 p. m. to 12:30 a. m. "Winter Wonderland" is the theme, and Bill Becker's Jantzen beach band will play.

Corsages for the dance are optional, and dark suits or tuxes are in order for men. Official chaperones for the evening will be Howard L. Ramey, instructor in speech, and his wife.

All ticket salesmen who have sold 20 or more tickets to the dance will have their names placed on a pass list at the door of the dance, as will all committee chairmen.

This Russian Joke Not Funny to Reds

By Associated Press

This joke was recently smuggled out from behind the Iron curtain:

A Soviet officer was explaining to a Czech peasant how Russia could deal with the United States. He said 20 atom bombs could be packed into 20 leather suitcases and distributed all over America.

The peasant looked doubtful, and the Soviet officer asked him if he didn't believe Russia had 20 atom bombs. The peasant replied, "Oh, I wasn't thinking of that. I was just wondering where you'd ever find 20 leather suitcases in Russia."

Moroccan Authority Speaks Here Friday

Rom Landau, internationally recognized as the world's leading authority on Morocco, will lecture in the Dad's Lounge of the Student Union Feb. 19 at 8 p. m.

Landau will lecture on Morocco, which he revisits each year and knows intimately. He has also traveled extensively in the Middle East, and has written books about that area as well as about Morocco.

Many of Landau's articles on the country have appeared in American and British papers, including the London Times, New York Times, the Christian Century, America and the Middle East Journal.

During the second world war, Landau was a gunner in the Royal Air Force and later became a member of the Arab Committee of the Intelligence department in London's Foreign Office.

Recently he has concentrated exclusively on Morocco, having published five books about the country. He holds the title of of-V, the current Sultan of Morocco.

Billiards Meet Here Soon

The Intercollegiate Billiards Tournament will be held Feb. 23 through March 10, according to Jack Socolofsky, campus chairman for the event.

National college team champions will be chosen from teams making the highest scores in each of four tournaments, pocket, straight rail, three-cushion and co-ed pockets.

Highlighting this year's competition will be a national "Face-to-face" tournament, with the three highest scoring persons in each event receiving an expense paid trip to the East, where the national college individual champions will be determined.

The University of Oregon placed third in the nation last year behind the University of Wyoming and the University of Washington. Frank Tilly, a member of Oregon's team last year, was second in the nation in the 1953 telephonic tournament.

Return Label Sales Continue

Coeds can buy personal return address labels at booths set up in Gerlinger hall Thursday during women's elections. Members of Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's honorary, have charge of the sales.

The labels, which cost $1.25 for 300, include name and address. Phi Theta members will take orders for the labels, which are later sent to each student making an order.

The gummed labels can be used on envelopes, books, records, checks and athletic equipment, according to members of the honorary.
