

Racial, Religious Problem Is Topic

The question of "Discrimination Practices in Living Organizations on Our Campus" will be discussed tonight by a panel of campus leaders in a meeting sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The discussion, which is open to the public, will be held in the Student Union at 7:30 p. m.

The six member panel will consist of Wilma Wittenfeld, vice-president of Pan Hellenic; Elsie Schiller, president of Co-op council; Bob Summers, president of Theta Chi; Jerry Malone, Westminster foundation; Bob Pollock, president of Sigma Chi, and Robin

Lamson, vice-president of NAACP.

Dr. Robert Clark, assistant dean of the college of liberal arts will act as moderator for the panel.

The following types of questions will be discussed: "Do we have a problem of racial and religious discrimination on our campus and how serious is it?" "What can be done to eliminate it and - or do we want to eliminate it?"

The panel will also receive questions from the floor.

Junior Weekend Workers Needed

Petitions for sub-chairmanships of Junior Weekend, May 14 to 16, are being called for. Jim Light, general chairman, announced at a meeting of living organization representatives Monday.

Positions to be filled are chairmanships of the following committees: all-campus luncheon, clean up, promotion, publicity, terrace dance, all-campus sing, float parade, Junior prom, queen's contest and coronation, sunlight serenade, traditions, and radio publicity.

Petitions are due March 2 and petitioners should include theme suggestions if possible, Light said.

The schedule for the weekend will feature the queen coronation at the Junior prom, May 14; all-campus sing and float parade, May 15 and sunlight serenade, May 16.

There are two weekends between Duck Preview and Junior Weekend this year instead of one in order to give time for preparation, Light emphasized.

Other chairmen for the event are Len Calvert, junior class vice-president, treasurer; Ann Blackwell, class representative, secretary; and Bob Kanada, class representative, assistant chairman.

Lecturer to Use Slides on Egypt

"Architectural Sculpture of the 19th Egyptian Dynasty" will be depicted in colored slides by Mark R. Sponenburgh, assistant professor of art, in the browsing room lecture Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Sponenburgh, on leave of absence from the University the past two years and on a Fulbright scholarship, has concentrated his studies during this time on Egyptian sculpture and architecture. He was affiliated in his work with the American Research center and the Royal Archaeological society of Egypt.

While in Egypt, Sponenburgh completed work for a certificate of special project from the Institut Supérieur des Beaux in Cairo, Egypt. The certificate is equivalent to a doctor's degree in an American university. Topic for his thesis was "An Aesthetic Evaluation of Pharonic Statuary."

S. W. Little, dean of the school of architecture and allied arts, will be discussion leader following the slide-lecture.

Students Urged To Participate In WUS Campus Projects

More students are needed to participate in the World University Service projects being conducted on campus, according to Sue Shreeve, student chairman of one of the three project groups.

Students may still turn in petitions to the ASUO box on the third floor of the Student Union, Miss Shreeve said. The two discussion groups in the project will be able to use as many as 70 more members, she emphasized.

One group, headed by Agnes Weitz, student from Germany, and K. S. Ghent, associate professor of mathematics, will explore the relations and interests of foreign and American students on campus.

The second discussion group, under the direction of Miss Shreeve and F. E. Dart, assistant professor of physics, will be concerned with the contributions students who have traveled abroad can make to the college community.

A third group, directed by Norm Webb, senior in psychology, and Leona E. Tyler, associate professor of psychology, will conduct a survey on the campus to discover what factors influence students opinions on international affairs.

"These groups will offer students the chance to meet new American friends as well as those from other countries. They will enable students to discover ways to better international relations on the individual level," Miss Shreeve stated.

Petitions Needed

Petitions are still needed for subchairmanships for the World University Service drive to be held on campus April 19 to 24, according to Ted Goh, general chairman. The petitions are due Wednesday at 5 p. m. in the YMCA office, Student Union 319.

Subchairmanships are open for the auction, special projects (such as carwash), carnival, queen selection, firesides, solicitors, flying speeches, press relations, radio, posters and printed matter.

Both the carnival and queen selection are new features of the drive. The carnival will be held during intermissions at the Vodvil show with figurines and souvenirs from different countries being sold.

The Queen contest will consist of a foreign student candidate from each living organization on campus. The elected Queen will act as hostess at the Vodvil show handing out prizes and announcing winners.

The WUS drive was formerly World Student Service Fund and will be held in conjunction with Duck Preview weekend.

Chairman Needed For Duck Preview

Petitions for the general chairmanship of Duck Preview are due in the ASUO office by 4 p. m. Thursday, according to Tom Wrightson, ASUO president.

If more than five petitions are submitted the petitioners will be interviewed by the newly formed ASUO screening committee.

The petitioners will then be interviewed by the Senate Thursday evening.

Duck Preview weekend for high school seniors is scheduled for April 23 and 24.

WRA Pairings Listed For Friday Carnival

Living organization booth pairings for the Women's Recreation association carnival Friday have been announced by Carol DeVilbiss, booth chairman.

The carnival, centering around a "carrousel" theme, is slated for Friday night from 9 to 12 in the men's unfinished gymnasium in the physical education building. Tickets, which cost 25 cents, may be purchased at the door. Main features of the event will be food and game booths operated by campus living organizations.

Themes Due Today

Themes for booths are due today at 5:30 p. m. at the cage in the women's locker room at Gerlinger hall, according to Miss DeVilbiss. The $2 participation fee is also due then and should be turned in to Miss DeVilbiss or Joyce Comer at the Alpha Phi house.

The pairings are as follows: Al-

'Effects of Hunger' Topic of Discussion

A Faculty-at-home, sponsored jointly by the YMCA and YWCA, will be held tonight at 7:30 at the home of B. H. McConnaughey, assistant professor of biology. McConnaughey will lead a discussion concerning the effects of hunger on present world conditions.

Transportation will be available from Gerlinger hall at 7:15 p. m. The meeting is open to all students and further information may be obtained from the YM or YW offices.

Dance Recital Slated at OSC

The Harriette Ann Gray Dance company will appear in the Gill Coliseum in Corvallis Sunday at 8 p. m. The concert dance group is being sponsored by modern dance students of Oregon State college.

The program will feature a modern dance called "Grooved." It tells the story of a mother's attempt to dominate the life of her daughter and the mother's eventual defeat by the daughter and her suitor.

Miss Gray's dancing experiences have ranged from classical ballet to assistant dance director at Columbia studios and solo work in major motion pictures.

Tickets are $1.20, 90 cents and 60 cents. Orders may be mailed to: Women's Building, Oregon State college, Corvallis, Ore., or tickets may be obtained at Gill Coliseum Sunday.

Historian to Talk On British Policy At 1 p. m. Assembly

"The British Foreign Policy between the Two Wars" will be discussed by Sir Ernest Llewellyn Woodward, noted British historian, at the University assembly today at 1 p. m. in the Student Union ballroom.

Sir Llewellyn, who has traveled widely, is at present doing research work at the Hoover library for a proposed book about the history of England in his own time. The University assembly lecture is the only speaking engagement on his schedule, since he is not on a lecture tour.

Editing Documents

A professor at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J., he is editing an official collection of documents from the British foreign office archives. He has already produced 20 volumes of documents on British Foreign Policy, 1919-1939.

The assembly speaker worked in the British foreign office during World War II and was in the British army during World War I.

Much of his time has been spent as a professor at Oxford university, England. He has held positions both as professor of modern history and as professor of international relations at the English school. Sir Llewellyn was knighted in 1952.

Authored Many Books

A member of the American Philosophical society, he is the author of many books including "War and Peace in Europe," "History of England," "The Twelve-Winded Sky" and "French Revolutions." He also plans to publish another book soon about the "Diplomatic History of World War II."

D. H. Stephenson, professor of history, will introduce the speaker at the University assembly.

Sir Llewellyn will also be featured at a coffee-hour forum sponsored by the Student Union coffee hour forum committee, in the Student Union lounge at 4 p. m. today.

Four Adviser Changes Told

Spring term changes and replacements in counselors at Carson hall have been announced by Virginia Kempston, freshman women's adviser.

Helen Gershanov, junior in art, will replace Kay Moore Stager, senior in business, on Carson 5. On Carson 3 will be Gloria Jameson, senior in English, and Goldie Ryals, junior in speech, taking the places of Judy McLoughlin, senior in English, and Dorothy Kopp, junior in business.

Danny grad Joan Hutchon will serve as a counselor at Hendricks hall until the return of Marigene Pelouze, graduate in sociology.

Sonatas for Violin Feature of Recital

Georgeanna Beaver, graduate student in music, will present a violin sonata recital tonight at 8:15 in the school of music auditorium.

The program will feature three sonatas; No. 4 in C minor by Bach, No. 2, Opus 30 in C minor by Beethoven and No. 1 in G minor by Brahms.

Miss Beaver is a graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Music, Cleveland, Ohio. She will be accompanied by William Woods, instructor in piano.

Concert, Reception Set For Mrs. Jane Thatcher

A concert honoring Mrs. Jane Thatcher, professor emerita of piano at the University, will be presented in the music school auditorium, Wednesday at 8:15 p. m.

Accompanied by the University Symphony orchestra, conducted by music school dean Theodore Kratt, Mrs. Thatcher will play Grieg's "Concerto for Piano in A Minor." The orchestra will play one movement of Beethoven's "Symphony No. 1 in C Major."

After the concert members of the music school faculty will hold a reception for Mrs. Thatcher in Gerlinger hall. Acting President V. P. Morris and Dean Kratt will give short talks.

Both the concert and the reception will be open to the public.

The concert will be Mrs. Thatcher's first University concert appearance since her retirement in 1950. For more than 30 years she was a member of the faculty at the school of music. She was head of the department of piano for many years, as well as national music adviser to Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority.

A native of Jackson, Michigan, Mrs. Thatcher began studying piano as a child and at 18 went to Vienna to continue her studies. She worked under the personal tutelage of Theodore Leschetizky, also teacher of Paderewski and Arthur Schnabel.

Marriage interrupted Mrs. Thatcher's career, and brought her to Portland, Oregon. In 1914 her husband joined the staff of the University and 3 years later Mrs. Thatcher became a professor at the music school.
