

WRA Carnival Set for Tonight, Food, Fun, Frolic the Rule

Aggielanders Invited Too!

Carnival characters will take over the men's unfinished gymnasium tonight from 9:30 to 12, when the Women's Recreation association puts on its annual carnival.

All Oregon and Oregon State college students and Eugene residents are invited to attend, according to Sylvia Wingard and Kay Partch, co-chairmen for the event. Admission is 25 cents to be paid at the door. The gym is located in the physical education building, across from McArthur court.

Centering around the theme of "Carousel," a carnival atmosphere will prevail, even down to sawdust on the floor, according to Miss Wingard. Concession and game booths will be the main features, operated by campus living organizations. Bob Sogge, junior in business and Jerry Froebe, sophomore in business will be on hand to act as barkers for the occasion.

Traditional carnival fare will be offered at one of the booths, operated by the carnival committee, according to Janet Ferris, food chairman. Included will be candied apples, popcorn, cokes, hot dogs, and ice cream bars. Cotton candy and Spudnuts will also be available as something new for the carnival this year.

An added feature of the carnival will be the selection of the most original and best constructed booth. Judging will take place at 10 p. m. and will be based on 25 per cent construction and 75 per cent originality. Each house participating in the winning booth receives a $5 requisition for phonograph records.

Booth construction will begin at noon today and must be completed by 8 p. m., according to Carol DeVilbiss, booth chairman. No construction can be started before noon, as classes are held in the gym all morning. Construction material must be fire-proof, Miss DeVilbiss emphasized. All booths must be torn down after the carnival tonight.

All carnival chairmen and house booth chairmen will be admitted free by checking with the ticket sellers who will have lists of those people, Miss Wingard said.

BOB SOGGE, barker for the WRA carnival, demonstrates how he is going to strum up business for the Carousel tonight to Kay Partch and Sylvia Wingard, general co-chairmen, and barker Jerry Froebe.

Tuesday Deadline Set on Petitions

Petitions for Junior Weekend committee chairmanships are due Tuesday in the ASUO petition box, according to Jim Light, weekend chairman.

Reports from last year's chairmen of each of the events are available in Donna Buse's office on the third floor of the Student Union, he said, and interested petitioners may read them.

Special petitions for the weekend posts are available in the ASUO petition box, and chairmanships open are for the all-campus luncheon, clean-up, terrace dance, all-campus sing, float parade, junior prom, queen's contest and coronation, sunlight serenade, traditions, promotion, publicity and radio publicity.

Any student who wants to petition for more than one chairmanship may do so, he said, and they should indicate their order of preference for the different events.

Springfield Invites Foreign Students

All foreign students enrolled this term are invited to "Foreign Student Friendship day" activities in Springfield, Sunday.

Sponsored by the Springfield Council of United Church Women, the project has been planned to express appreciation for program work done in the community by foreign students and to further acquaintance and understanding.

Transportation will be available from the Student Union at 10:30 a. m. for those wishing to attend church, and at 1 p. m. for later guests. Students planning to attend are asked to send replies to Mrs. Evert Snyder, Route 1, Box 102B, Springfield, or to phone 6-2850.

Stravinsky Conducts Concert In McArthur Court Tuesday

Igor Stravinsky, noted composer and conductor, will appear at McArthur court Tuesday at 8 p. m. in a concert with the Portland Symphony orchestra. He will conduct the orchestra in a program made up exclusively of his own compositions.

Stravinsky and the Portland Symphony orchestra are appearing here under the auspices of the Eugene - University Civic Music association. Admission for students is free upon presentation of student body cards.

Born in Russia in 1882, Stravinsky was originally sent to the University of St. Petersburg to study law. At the age of 19, he turned to music and later studied composition and instrumentation with Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakoff.

His early compositions including "Symphony in E Flat," "Le Faune et la Bergere," "Fantastic Scherzo," and "Fireworks" brought Stravinsky to the attention of Sergei Diaghilev.

Then organizing his Ballet Russe in Paris, Diaghilev commissioned the young composer to write a ballet on the subject of the Russian fairy tale "The Firebird." This composition, "L'Oiseau de Feu," was followed by two other ballets "Petrouchka" and "Le Sacre du Printemps."

Blast NOT 'O'

The blast which shook the Eugene area at 4:40 a. m. this morning was not a blast of the Oregon "O," according to Eugene police. At press time the police department had not found out what caused the blast.

Ducks Slate Hoop Tussle

The chips will be on the table Friday night at McArthur Court when Oregon's Ducks make their final bid for the Northern Division basketball championship against their cross-state rivals, the Oregon State Beavers in an 8:00 p. m. encounter.

When Bill Borchers' Webfoots and Slats Gill's rangy Orangemen line up for the opening tip-off there will be more than just the two school's prestige at stake. This will be by far the most important tussle of the season for both fives and victory will mean a trip to California and a playoff with the Southern Division winner for the Pacific Coast Conference championship.

Senate Ponders Election Changes

Two proposed constitutional amendments which would change the system for electing the graduate member of the ASUO senate and freshman class officers were tabled by the ASUO senate at its Thursday night meeting.

A proposal which would have separate ballots for the election of president and vice-president and representatives of the freshman class was carried over until the next meeting for lack of a quorum. Under the proposal, the president and vice-president would be elected first, and representatives elected on a separate list.

Under the current system, four presidential candidates are usually selected, and the freshmen class offices are dominated by men. With the proposed split ballot, women running for election to the representative would have an equal chance with the men for election to the representative positions, according to Donald DuShane, director of student affairs.

The constitutional revision committee recommended that the graduate member of the senate be chosen by the senate rather than elected.

It was felt by the committee that there is not enough interest among graduate students in elections. Some high calibre candidates, who would not have the time to run, would be more willing to petition for the position on a selection basis, Senator Hollis Ransom said.

Don Bonime, sophomore in liberal arts, and Jerry Farrow, sophomore in business, were appointed co-chairmen of Duck Preview.

The senate passed a motion by ASUO Vice - President Bob Funk that the campus primary election be held April 14, and the general election May 5.

At the present time the Beavers are on top of the league with a record more than a week ago that the Ducks are two games behind with an eight and six mark. One win for OSC will bring the crown to the Gillmen. For Oregon it will take two consecutive upset triumphs to bring the Ducks even with the Beavers and necessitate a playoff for the title.

Ticket manager, Ted Bouck, announced more than a week ago that the game was completely sold out and as a result there would be no general admission seats on sale the night of the game. A capacity crowd of over 8,000 will be in the stands when the Orangemen make their final Eugene invasion of the season.

Teams Split

The Beavers and Ducks have already played two games this year, and if they are any indication of what is to happen this weekend, fans can expect almost anything to happen. OSC won the first contest from the Webfoots at Gill Coliseum by a 52-41 count, but, on the following night at Eugene, Oregon came back strong and tallied a close win over their taller opponents, 42-40.

In their final workout before the all-important finale the Ducks worked mainly on sharpening their

IFC Hears Housing Plan

The Inter-fraternity council heard Dick Bruce, graduate representative of the ASUO Senate, discuss the senate's plan for a central housing committee Thursday evening. Bruce said that the committee would be mainly an educational and information service for visiting students.

The committee would have representatives from Panhellenic, IFC and the ASUO senate, Bruce said. Bob Pollock, Sigma Chi, was named to the committee by IFC.

Ray Hawk, associate director of student affairs, brought up the need for a new fraternity booklet. A committee was named to rewrite the booklet.

Hawk explained that the fraternities were not expected to supply any housing for high school students during the state basketball tournament. He said that the Eugene Active club would supply the fraternities with a phone number which they could call to find housing for high school students.

Spring Registration Will Begin Monday

With basically the same plan as last term, spring term pre-registration will take place Monday, according to Clifford L. Constance, registrar.

Adviser-advisee meetings will be held at 8 p. m. in rooms listed in the spring term schedule. The schedule will be available at 8 a. m. Monday at the registrar's office in Emerald hall.

Each student is encouraged to fill out the blank study program on the back of his time schedule before taking it to the meetings, Constance said. The student's copy, signed by his adviser, must be kept for use on registration day, March 29.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS League officers for this year are, left to right, Steve Nye, president; Virginia Todd, vice-president; Allen Banta, historian, and Betty Herrman, secretary-treasurer. The conference, which is attended by students from all over the state, opened Thursday and will continue through Saturday.
