

President-Elect Wilson Arrives Here Thursday

O. Meredith Wilson, president-elect of the University of Oregon, will arrive in Eugene this week.

The ex-Ford Foundation executive, appointed to the University presidency Oct. 27 by the State Board of Higher Education, will arrive at the Eugene airport at 10:25 a. m. Thursday on a United Airlines flight from Portland, according to Les Anderson, administrative assistant.

No official welcome for Wilson had been planned as of Sunday afternoon, although a group from the University administration and the local press will be at the airport for Wilson's arrival, Anderson said.

Student Welcome Planned

A student welcome for the new president was still in the planning stage Sunday, according to Rally Board Chairman Sally Stadelman. A request to have classes called off between 10:30 and 11:00 a. m. Thursday had not been granted.

Practice Grenade Causes Explosion

The explosion which awakened many persons in the campus area Friday morning at 4:35 was caused by a "practice grenade" exploded on the Sigma Phi Epsilon front porch, according to Alan Oppliger, Sig Ep house president.

Eugene police, who are investigating the explosion, have not yet determined by whom or for what reason the grenade was exploded. Police are continuing their investigation.

The grenade casing was identified by ROTC personnel as being that of a Navy M-115 practice grenade, Oppliger stated Sunday evening.

"Slight damage to the house's porch brickwork and a broken porch light fixture" were the only damage reported by Oppliger to police.

Ray Hawk, associate director of student affairs, stated Friday afternoon that he had no evidence of any connection between the explosion and Friday night's game with Oregon State college.

UO Red Cross Drive Gets Started Today

The annual Red Cross fund drive begins on campus today, with $750 as the all-campus goal and 25 cents as the minimum goal for individual donations.

Collections in each living organization are being handled by special representatives, who met last week with Robert F. Jackson, manager of the Lane County Red Cross chapter, to receive their instructions.

The drive will end Friday evening with a fishbowl mixer in the SU sponsored by the Red Cross board. It will be a no-date affair, according to Carol Huggins, vice-president of the board and chairman of the drive.

The mixer will be free, she said, but a collection for the fund will be taken. Recognition for outstanding living organizations' donations will also be made at that time.

O. MEREDITH WILSON Arrives this week but Anderson expected Acting President Victor P. Morris to take action on the proposal Monday.

According to Miss Stadelman, the proposed rally would be held Thursday morning in the Student Union if classes were called off, or Thursday noon, if classes were not

Panel to Tell How 'World Views US'

"How the Rest of the World Sees the United States" will be discussed by the University of Oregon radio forum over KOAC at 8:30 this evening. Moderator for the discussion will be Charles P. Schleicher, professor of political science.

Participating on the panel will be Linden A. Mander of the department of political science at the University of Washington, and Robert Blum, president of the committee for free Asia.

Faculty Member Named Chairman of Committee

Jennelle Moorhead, associate professor of health education, was recently appointed national chairman of the mental health committee of the American School Health association by H. F. Kilander, New York University, president of the association.

called off. The rally board is planning no welcome at the airport, although individual students may want to drive out there to greet Wilson, she said.

Entertained at Luncheon

Arriving with Wilson will be his wife and their six children. The Wilson family will move into the official president's residence at 2315 McMorrin st.

Wilson will be entertained at a faculty luncheon in the SU March 13, Anderson said. His first official address to the student body will be given at an assembly March 30 in the SU ballroom. Wilson will also speak to the Portland Alumni Institute at the Multnomah hotel in Portland April 3.

The new University president will take over his official duties March 15.

Sophomore Women Invited To YW Skip

All sophomore women are invited to take part in the YW Sophomore Skip, March 5 and 6, at Kitson Springs, according to Janice Fortner, publicity chairman.

A fee of $4 will be charged for the weekend jaunt. Transportation will be by private car leaving Gerlinger hall at 4 p. m. Friday and returning Saturday afternoon.

Girls should take their own bedding. Food will be furnished. Speakers for the affair have not been announced.

Culture of Mayas Is Tuesday Topic

The sacred city of the Mayas, where scripture reached its peak of development, will be the subject of Tuesday's 1 p. m. lecture assembly in the Student Union ballroom.

Alberto Ruz, a member of the staff of the National Institute of Anthropology and History, of the National Museum of Mexico City, will illustrate his lecture on "Palaeque and Its Royal Tomb" with colored slides.

The royal tomb, the first discovered under a pyramid in the new world, was unearthed by Ruz two years ago. Articles on the tomb have since been featured in Life magazine and several British publications.

Is Noted Mayan Expert

Ruz, who is sponsored by the assembly and lectures committee and by the Failing Distinguished Lecture fund, is an authority on Mayan civilization. Tuesday's lecture will be his first in the Pacific Northwest. A second lecture, on "The History, Culture and Art of the Maya" will be presented by Ruz at 8 p. m. Thursday.

A noted archaeologist, Ruz is in charge of national monuments of Yucatan. He is a member of the Mexican society of anthropologists. Ruz has a background with an international flavor, a Cuban by birth, he was born in France and has since become a naturalized citizen of Mexico.

With Greek Consulate

Ruz was with the consulate of Greece in Havana from 1929 to 1932. He was head of the department of municipal affairs, ministry of interior, in Havana during 1933.

L. S. Cressman, head of the department of anthropology, will introduce Ruz.

Honor Students Invited To SU Coffee Hour

A coffee hour for all University Sophomore Honors students will be held at 4 p. m. today in the Dads lounge of the Student Union under the sponsorship of the Sophomore Honors society classes.

J. V. Berreman, professor of sociology, and R. A. Littman, associate professor of psychology, will address the group. Ten cents will be charged for coffee.

Stravinsky to Conduct Concert of Own Works

Igor Stravinsky, appearing as guest conductor with the Portland Symphony orchestra in McArthur court Tuesday, made his first US appearances in 1925.

Traveling to this country from France, he made a concert tour, conducting his own works and performing as soloist in his "Piano Concerto" with the New York Philharmonic Symphony and other major orchestras.

Returning to France, he continued composing, producing such works as the opera-oratorio "Oedipus Rex"; "Symphony of Psalms," written for the fiftieth anniversary

The registration plan instituted last fall for winter term will be repeated this week for spring term, Clifford L. Constance, registrar, has announced. Adviser-advisee meetings, the first step in the new procedure, will be held at 8 tonight.

Spring term class schedules may be picked up today at the registrar's office in Emerald hall. The schedules include a blank form for the student's spring term program. Rooms where the advisers will meet their advisees this evening are also listed.

This form is to be signed by the adviser and kept by the advisee until the first day of registration, March 29. The program will then be checked against the official registration card. If the study programs are identical, it will not be necessary to obtain the adviser's signature on the cards. Section changes will be allowed.

$1 Per Day Late Fee

Under the new registration program, a late fee of $1 per day is assessed if the first three steps of registration are not completed on the first day of registration. The remaining three steps may be completed through April 3 without payment of a late fee, if the first three steps have been completed on time.

Steps in the registration procedure include:

1. Obtain class schedule book in Emerald hall. Build study program at adviser-advisee meeting this evening. If there is not enough time this evening, individual appointments with advisers may be scheduled during the next two weeks. The signature of the adviser must appear on the tentative program.

2. Obtain registration material in the Dad's lounge of the Student Union March 29. The material will be in the registrar's office after that date.

3. Copy study program onto the proper cards. Obtain adviser's signature if a change is made from the tentative program.

4. Enroll in courses with the department and school offices.

5. Check with the office of student affairs clerk in the SU ballroom March 29 or at the student affairs office in Emerald hall after March 29.

6. Check study program and obtain fee assessment from the clerks in the registrar's office in the SU March 29 or at Emerald hall after that date.

7. Pay fees at the cashier's office in Emerald hall. This step must be completed by noon, April 3 to avoid assessment of a late payment fee.

Vets Must Clear

Veterans on P. L. 16 or 346 must clear with the registrar's office between steps three and five in order to charge any costs against the Veteran's administration. All other veterans are to complete registration the same as non-veterans and check with the office at a later date.

Only step A is to be completed this term, Constance emphasized. The other six steps may be completed during the first week of spring term.

The change, which had been desired for several years, was made possible last term by the decreased enrollment. A desire to facilitate the advising program and to increase attendance during the first week of the term have been listed as the reasons for the change.
