less than three minutes remaining, guard Barney Holland put the Ducks ahead to stay with a neat jump shot from the key. One minute later Howard Page pushed home two free tosses on a foul by the Beavers' Jay Dean and with only 58 seconds remaining Holland connected on one of two charity attempts.

This flurry of points by the Webfoots put the game on ice at 63-58. Two last second free throws by Wade Halbrook were only incidental to the final outcome of the tussle.

Wegner Saves Game

Before this final Duck drive it was anybody's guess who would come out on top in this 'Civil War' contest between the two bitter rivals from the state of Oregen. Captain Kenny Wegner saved his Oregon teammates from the depths of defeat with only three seconds remaining in the fourth canto when he pitched in a 25-foot jump shot through the hoop from in front of the key. Wegner's last gasp goal tied up the ball game at 51-51 and made necessary the extra period play. Oregon took command in the first overtime session and looked to have the game in the bag with a 56-54 lead with less than a minute left to play. But Halbrook squelched this with 3 seconds to go as he rebounded his own missed free throw.

Halbrook's tip-in tied the count at 56-all and set the stage for the dramatic second overtime period.

Close All the Way

The game was close all the way with neither team being able to take a commanding lead. Oregon State grabbed the initial advantage and ran up a 7-1 lead early in the fracas and was ahead 11-7 at the end of the first quarter.

The Orangemen continued to add to their lead early in the second stanza and at one time they pushed their lead to seven points, 19-9. This was the biggest margin that either team possessed during the entire game and seemed to serve as a signal for the Oregons to put on a rally. Paced by Holland, Wegner, and Ed Halberg, the Ducks scored 10 straight points in a little over two minutes of action and, as a result, pushed into a 19-16 lead.

Oregon stayed in front until Jay Dean put the Beavers back to the fore, 25-24, with six seconds left in the first half. With only one second remaining until the intermission Tex Whiteman cashed in on a foul toss to give his team a 26-24 halftime lead.

The teams see-sawed back and forth in the third period with first one getting the advantage and then the other. At the conclusion of the third ten minute session the visitors from Corvallis were leading by a 41-38 score.
