

Halberg High Scorer On Final Point List

Jump-shot expert Ed Halberg, was the leading basketball scorer for the Oregon Ducks this season in both Northern Division play and over the whole year's action.

Halberg poured in 181 points in N. D. games for an average of 11.3 markers per game. Max Anderson with 173 and Barney Holland with 172 points trailed the Duck leader. For the total season Halberg racked up 335 points for an average of 12.3 per tussle. Holland was second in this department with 308 counters, an average of 11.4, and Anderson was third with 304, an average of 11.3.

New Percentage Marks

Besides leading the team in pointmaking, Halberg was heaped with more honors when it was found that he had set two new records for Oregon with his deadly shooting eye. By virtue of his 120 field goals in 262 tries at the basket, Halberg compiled a shooting percentage of .458 for the Ducks' 27 games and thus broke the old record of .420 set by Roger Wiley in 1949.

Halberg's basket percentage for Northern Division play was .438 on 63 foals on 144 shots at the hoop. This gave big Ed another new Webfoot mark. The old record was held by Ken Wegner who compiled a .404 average during the 1952-53 season.

Guard Howard Page ended the season with the best free throw record with a seasonal average of .765. Page connected on 26 of 34 foul tosses. In the Ducks' 16 Northern Division games Page was even more deadly, hitting 21 of 26, or a percentage of .808. Second place in this department went to reserve guard Bob Hawes who hit from the charity stripe on 32 of 42 attempts for a percentage of .762.

Leading rebounder of the squad was Anderson with 147 in the Northern Division and 254 for the whole season. Halberg was second with 238 grabs.

Wegner Hatched-Man

The dubious honor of making the most personal fouls during the schedule went to Captain Wegner who was whistled down for 95 infractions. Halberg with 92 and Anderson with 90 were not far behind.

As a team the Ducks rolled in 1,725 points during their 27 game slate to their opponents' 1,710. This gave the Oregons an average of 66.1 tallies per game to their foes' 65.1.

An interesting sidelight on the team's scoring average was that in its sixteen league games the Ducks marked up a total of 982 points while the Webfoot opponents managed to toss in 981. This leaves Bill Borchers' team with an average per game of 61.4 and gives the teams who played against the Ducks an exactly equal average of 61.4.

Delts Zoom Past Phi Delts To Take Over Bowling Lead

Delta Tau Delta, after trailing Phi Delta Theta through most of the league schedule in the Wednesday night bowling league, came back strong last week to score four straight wins and take the lead away from the Phi Delts.

The Delts now have a won-loss mark of 18 and six and are two full games in front of the Phi Delts who have won sixteen and lost eight and Pi Kappa Alpha who has a similar record.

PI KA's Threaten

Pi Kappa Alpha, which got off to a very poor start at the beginning of the league schedule, seems to be the biggest threat to the Delts as the teams move into the final week of action. Champ Husted with a neat average of 178 per game is leading the PIKA's and the league in scoring.

In the Wednesday evening circuit Hale Kane is still holding on to a narrow lead over Delta Upsilon. Hale Kane has an 18 and five mark while the DU's are a close second with 17 and seven.

Sorenson Tops Averages

Sam Sorenson of sixth place Phi Kappa Sigma has the best per game average in the league with a 169.

Theta Chi continued to lead the Thursday night league through last week with 20 wins and four losses. Campbell Club with 17 and seven and Alpha Tau Omega with 16 and eight are the only teams that are a threat for the league title.

Bruce Koppe of the Theta Chi's is the leading individual scorer for the circuit with an average of 170 per game.

Matmen Travel For Final Meet

The University of Oregon wrestling team will compete in their last meet of the regular season this afternoon, Wednesday, when they travel to Portland to tangle with the strong Portland State Vikings.

The Ducks were badly beaten by the Viks at McArthur Court two weeks ago and will be out to make a better showing on this occasion.

Coach Bill Hammer announced that he will take a full squad on the trip in hopes that he will be able to give everyone possible a chance to wrestle in the season finale.
