Eugene Optimists Seek Youth Leaders

University men interested in working with the Eugene Optimist club in its youth recreation may do so next term, according to Russ Walker, executive secretary of the YMCA.

The work would start next term and would be primarily centered in the organization's boy's club in the basement of the Armory building. The club would like college men to work with the boys, Walker said. He added that the work may lead to other prospects in youth work in Eugene. Men interested in the work should see him in the YM office, Walker said.

Faculty Senate Vetoes Course Change Proposal

The faculty senate Wednesday defeated a motion to exempt a group of students from the special six-sequence group requirement for majors in the college of liberal arts.

Those affected are students completing requirements for the bachelor of arts or science degree in the professional fields of dentistry, medicine and medical technology after a three-year pre-professional program, according to G. P. Belknap, University editor:

The senate changed the liberal arts requirements from four to six sequences at the Jan. 13 meeting of the group.

Instead of taking one sequence each in three groups had a second in one group, majors in liberal arts will be required to take a total of six. The choice may be made from the science, social science, and arts and letters groups.

Federal Positions Open to Students

C. H. Penland, representative of the National Security Agency, is scheduled to visit the campus Monday and Tuesday to interview qualified students for permanent federal positions.

Language students, mathematicians and engineers are being sought for jobs located in the metropolitan area of Washington, D. C. No civil status is required.

Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. representatives will interview candidates for their sales training program next Thursday.

Further information is available at the graduate placement office, Emerald hall. Appointments for interviews must be made there.

Monday Deadline For SS Applicants

Midnight Monday is the deadline for submitting applications for the April 22 Selective Service College. Qualification test, according to Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service. The test will be the last one to be given this school year.

Eligibility for application for the college qualification test includes (1) intention to request deferment as a student; (2) having been satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction; and (3) not having previously taken the Selective Service College Qualifications test.

Oratorical Contest Slated for Seniors

Any senior wishing to try out for the senior oratorical contest to be held June 11, should contact W. A. Dahlberg, associate professor of speech before spring term.

Six contestants will be chosen to present 15-minute speeches on subjects of their own choice. First prize for the contest will be $150, second and third prizes will be $100 and $50 respectively.

The contest will be held in the auditorium of the school of music.

Surgeon to Talk On Visual Perception

Dr. William K. Livingston, professor of surgery at the University of Oregon medical school, will speak on "Visual Perception" Friday at 7 p. m. in the Science building amphitheater. The lecture is sponsored by the school of architecture and allied arts.

Dr. Livingston is currently head of the surgery department at the medical school and holds the honorary chair of the Kenneth A. J. MacKenzie professorship named in honor of the former head of the school. He has lectured at the University of Washington and the American Aesthetic association.

Sophomore Dessert Scheduled Tonight

The last YWCA sophomore fireside for this year's cabinet will be held tonight at the Chi Omega house, from 6:30 to 7:15, according to Carol Huggins and Donna Buchanan, social chairmen.

Chi Omega sophomores will be hostesses, assisted by the sophomore members of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi. Next year's cabinet, selected in the recent elections, will also attend the fireside. All freshmen and sophomores are invited Miss Buchanan said.
