Sprinklers and Fenton Pool Signs of Spring on Campus

Sprinklers strategically placed to water the sidewalks and an overflowing Fenton Pool were sure signs of springs on campus this week.

The sprinklers were out in full force Tuesday and have continued to plague students on their way to and from classes.

Fenton Pool has also been filled to overflowing since the beginning of the week. However, the physical plant said it had not filled the pool and did not know who had. Physical plant officials fill Fenton Pool only when requested to do so for special occasions, such as Junior Weekend.

A slight green cast to the water in the pool puzzled both students and the physical plant. Louie Jensen, building custodian superintendent, said the green tinge might be caused by paint on the bottom of the pool.

Religious Council To Install Officers

Newly-elected officers of the University Religious council will be installed at a dinner Wednesday, at 5:30 p.m. in St. Mary's Episcopal church.

STANDARD OIL
OF CALIFORNIA

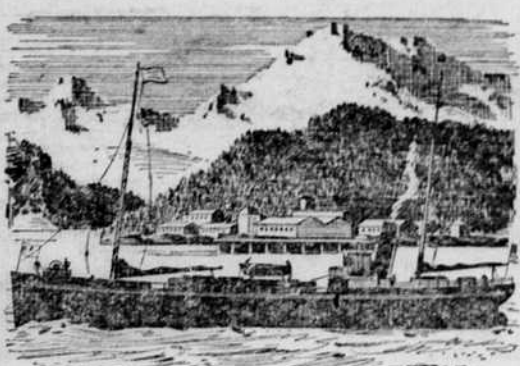

From the West's first successful oil wells of 1879, Standard's drilling operations have stretched all over the world—even in ocean depths 4 miles off shore—to get the oil which you and our friends in other free nations need more and more.

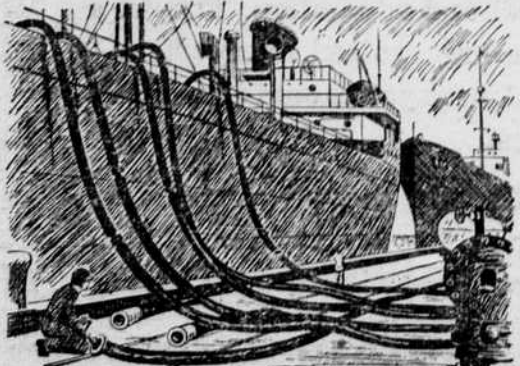

Gasoline was a waste product in Standard's first refinery of 1879, but it's king today. We've developed fuels that made better engines possible, used research tools like the chassis dynamometer (below) to bring you today's top gasolines.

Before horses gave way to horsepower, Standard's wagons of the '80's brought only kerosene, harness oil and axle grease to Western farms. Now our insecticides, weed-killers, fertilizers help increase crop yields and add to your food supply.

First steel tanker in the Pacific, Standard's SS George Loomis back in 1888 began helping us put oil where you need it. Today 26 tankers, 3,748 miles of pipe line, thousands of tank trucks serve your oil needs everywhere in the West, Alaska, Hawaii.

World's first gas station was opened by Standard in 1907 at Seattle, Washington. Since then, we've pioneered the car care you enjoy now—windshield cleaning, tire, battery, lubrication, even "Chevronmatic" credit cards to save you time.
