

Oregon Slates Busy Schedule

This week will be a very busy one for Oregon athletic teams as revealed by a look at the week's schedule.

Don Kirsch's baseballers will have five games during the week. The Webfoots host Lewis and Clark at Howe field Tuesday afternoon, travel to Corvallis for a tussle with the Oregon State Beavers, Thursday, will be back at home Friday for a game with Portland University, and on Saturday will conclude their busy week's slate with a doubleheader with Willamette starting at 1:30 p. m.

Lowell Back

Bill Bowerman's track and field squad will travel to Portland on Saturday for a four-way meet with Portland University, Lewis and Clark and Oregon State.

Tennis will see its first action on Saturday, also, as the inexperienced Duck netters take on Portland U. in Portland. Ron Lowell is the only Webfoot letterman back for the tennis team. Nevertheless, coach Robert Laurence expects the netters to be tough to beat this season because of some outstanding non-lettermen back from last season.

Krieger Hot

Although they don't have any matches slated for this week, Sid Milligan's golfers will be hard at work all week long in playing 72 holes of qualifying competition to see who gets berths on a four-man team which will travel to Palo Alto, Calif. April 15-17 for the Northern California Intercollegiate Meet. At the present time letter winner Don Krieger is the only Duck to have broken par over the Eugene Country Club course. Krieger has a two under par 70 to his credit for early play.

Another event which many of the athletes are awaiting is the beginning of spring football practice. Sessions are not expected to get underway until late in the month but when they do start, Len Casanova expects to greet some 50 candidates for positions on the team.

Webfoot Track Squad Scores Impressive Relay Triumphs

The University of Oregon track and field team, despite injuries to key men Doug Clement and Bill Dellinger, rolled up twelve first places and tied for another in the Willamette Relays, held in Salem last Saturday afternoon, Apr. 3.

Clement and Dellinger, who had been counted on to aid the Webfoots in several events in the season opener, were sidelined with pulled leg muscles and therefore failed to be of help.

Getting some outstanding performances from some inexperienced Oregon Frosh performers, the Ducks scored more first place wins than any other college in the meet.

Sogge Wins

High stepping Chan Sogge started the day off for Oregon with a win in his heat of the college high hurdles when he skimmed over the barriers in the neat time of 15.7 seconds. This was a very good performance, considering the wet condition of the track.

Another good time was turned in by sprinter Bruce Springbett who raced home the winner in the university invitational 100-yard dash with a clocking of 10 seconds flat.

Letterman Ken Hickenbottom showed that he will be tough to beat in his specialty, the pole vault, this year as he soared 12 feet, 6 and 1/8 inches to win this field event.

Rain Stops Games

The University of Oregon baseball team had both of their weekend games washed out by an unusual amount of rainfall on both Friday and Saturday.

The Ducks were slated to play Portland University on Friday and the Lewis and Clark Pioneers on Saturday.

Don Kirsch's diamondmen will go back into action this Tuesday afternoon, weather permitting, when they play Lewis and Clark at Howe field.

Ken Hunt Named Basketball Boss

Ken Hunt, former University of Oregon basketball star and an all-Northern Division guard his senior year, was named as head basketball coach at North Salem High, Saturday.

Hunt, who was graduated from Oregon two years ago, will teach health and physical education and possibly coach some track besides his basketball duties.

Since his graduation Hunt spent one year as assistant Oregon Frosh court mentor and during the past school year he has been serving as hoop coach at Cottage Grove High school.

Hunt is 24 years of age, is married, and is the father of two children, a daughter and a son. He first became well known in Oregon sport circles as a star basketball player for Marshfield High School of Coos Bay. In 1947 Hunt was named all-state as the Pirates took the casaba championship.

He played for the Oregon Frosh during the 1948 season and was a varsity letterman from 1949-52. Hunt served as team captain during his senior year with the Ducks.

In taking the Salem job Hunt will be the first basketball coach for the school. The current Salem High School will be divided next year into North and South Salem High. Hunt will be coaching at the school which at the present time is Salem High.

Harold Hauk, Salem coach for many past seasons, has stated that he intends to get out of the coaching game after this season. His statement was what left the job open. Coach of South Salem High has not been named as of yet.

Officials Needed

Assistant intramural director, Earl Ferguson, has issued a call for all those fellows who are interested in umpiring I.M. softball games this season.

Ferguson said anyone interested should contact him either at the I.M. office or on the ball fields at any time after 3 o'clock on weekday afternoons.
