

Student Entries Urged For Library Contests

Students interested in adding to their personal libraries are urged to enter at least one of the contests sponsored this term by the University library, according to Miss Bernice Rise, Student Union browsing room librarian.

First of the contests is the annual student personal library contest sponsored by the library, the Co-op, the House librarians, Mrs. Henry Tromp and the Association of Patrons and Friends of the University of Oregon Library.

Students may enter no more than 50 volumes from their own libraries in each of the following categories: Undergraduates general library, undergraduates specialized library, graduates general library, and graduates specialized library. Required textbooks may be included.

Entry blanks must be turned in by 12 noon, May 14, to Miss Rise. Books to be entered must be displayed in the reserve book reading room of the library by 12 noon May 15.

Titles to be Judged

Judging will be based on the selection of titles as they reflect the broadening interests of the students, rather than on the total number or the monetary value of the books. Five judges for each category, appointed by Carl W. Hintz, University librarian, will judge entries at 2 p.m., May 15.

First, second and third prizes in each category are $25, $15, and $10 in books, respectively. Prizes are to be awarded at the annual banquet of the association May 22. All prize winners will be guests of the association at the banquet. Winners may select their books at the co-op any time after the contest.

The Peter Pauper press essay contest is the second contest for which the prizes are books. This contest is sponsored by the library. Any undergraduate student is eligible to compete. Only one essay may be submitted by a student and the word limit is 2000 words.

Subjects Announced

Essays may be written on a subject of the student's choice or on one of the following suggested topics: "Great Editions of Great Books," "The Nature of a Classic," "The Collecting of Student's Library," "What Classics Mean to Me," or "Reading for Leisure Moments." All essays must be submitted to Hintz at the University library or to Miss Rise in the browsing room by May 1.

Ten classics, selected by the winning student from the Peter Pauper press collector's editions will go to the first place winner. Five Peter Pauper Press classics will be awarded for second place. Awards will be made at the All-Campus Sing during Junior Week-end.

Judging of the essays will be done by Hintz and two University faculty members. Consideration will be given by the judges to the experience and class year of each contestant.

Further information and entry blanks may be obtained from Miss Rise in the browsing room.

Insurance, Sales Interviews Slated

Job placement interviews scheduled for the week of April 12 to 16 include two insurance interviews and one for sales.

Tom Hyland of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. will be here Monday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. New York Life Insurance Co. will be represented Thursday by William Barton.

Also on Thursday, W. G. Roberson of the Upjohn Co. will recruit salesmen, preferably with some knowledge of chemistry or biology.

Mind, Body Inseparable, Says Ohio PE Professor

"Mind and body do not exist separately," Delbert Oberteuffer, professor of physical education at Ohio State university, said last night in the Student Union ballroom. He spoke on the topic "The Conservation of Human Resources."

Speaking before the annual convention of the Northwest District of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, Oberteuffer deplored what he termed "the snobbery of the hierarchy of intellectual education."

Untold millions, Oberteuffer said, are living below par today because they don't know how to organize their lives for efficient use. Although Western man has made great strides through science and medicine toward conserving human energy, much of the world's human resources are still being wasted. Education can do much to bridge the gap between science and the people, he said.

High School Speakers Open Annual Tourney

The annual tournament of the Oregon High School State Speech league is being held on campus today and tomorrow, K. E. Montgomery, associate professor of speech in charge of the meet, has announced.

Representing 37 different schools throughout the state, 152 high school students, all first and second place winners in their respective events at district contests, will compete for state honors.

Ten events are scheduled, with debate the only one with A and B divisions for large and small schools. This year's national high school debate topic is "Resolved: That the President of the United States Be Elected by Direct Vote of the People."

Events Listed

Other events include oratory, poetry, panel discussion, humorous reading, after dinner speaking, serious reading, extemp, with the topic, "American Prejudice — Social, Economic, and Political," impromptu on "What is American Foreign Policy?" and radio speaking concerning "Oregon Pioneers."

Friday night's banquet at the Student Union will feature a welcome by the University by Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business. Pat Viles, sophomore in pre-med, will entertain the group. Announcement of the finalists selected from the two rounds of each event held Friday will conclude the evening.

Banquet Planned

Roy McCall, head of the speech department, is toastmaster for the banquet Saturday night. Finals in afterdinner speaking will be held at this time, with all winners to receive their trophies at the end of the program. The complete banquet will be taped and broadcast Wednesday over station KO-AC, from 6:15 to 7:15 p. m.

Judges for all events are the combined speech school faculties from the University of Oregon and Oregon State College. The tournament is held on alternate years at both schools.

University Singers Plan Concert Here

The only campus appearance of the University Singers this year will be Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Student Union ballroom.

A mixed chorus of 45 voices, the University Singers have previously given concerts at Reedsport, Coos Bay, Hillsboro, Molalla, Astoria and several other Oregon cities. This will be the final concert of the year.

Director of the group is Clyde Keutzer, visiting professor of music. Larry Swanson, senior in education, is president of the Singers; Joyce Sinner, senior in music, is accompanist. Tour manager is Douglas Stobie, senior in music.

Creative Arts Petitions Due

Petitions for the Student Union creative arts workshop program committees are due at 5 p.m. today, according to Valerie Cowsls, general chairman. Positions are for chairmen and staffing of the committees. The petitions may be turned in to Miss Cowsls at Kappa Kappa Gamma, or to the ASUO petition box on the third floor of the SU.

The groups will sponsor talent searches in fields of original creative work on campus, including music, dance, drama and literature for the program, scheduled for May 21.

Election of Officers Held by Honorary

New officers of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary, were elected at a meeting Thursday evening. They are as follows: Chuck Greenley, president; Emerson Harvey, vice-president; Bob Arndt, treasurer, and Lauren Loveland, secretary.

Next meeting of the group will be May 6. The group plans a stag
