Speakers Ready For WUS Fireside Talks

World University Service house representatives should pick up fireside speaker selection slips in the YMCA office, Student Union 319, today before 5 p. m., according to Lloydene Hurt, WUC firesides chairman.

The selection slips, which include a list of foreign students who will be available as fireside speakers, are to be turned in at the YMCA office Monday at 4 p. m., Miss Hurt said.

Queen Candidates Names Due Today

Deadline for submitting names of candidates for Junior Weekend queen is 5 p. m. today. Names may be turned in to Pat Beard at Gamma Phi Beta.

Queen candidates must be junior women with a minimum 2.00 accumulative GPA and a 2.00 GPA winter term.

Eliminations in the queen selection contest will be held Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Summer Field Trip Has Six Openings

Six openings for the annual archeology field trip have been announced by L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department.

The group will leave June 24 for a six-week stay at a camp east of the Dalles. Those going will receive University credit for summer school.

Anyone interested should see Cressman at 202 Condon. Applicants should have had an anthropology course. The trip is limited to men only.

Today's Staff

Make-up Editors: Paul Keefe and Kitty Fraser.
Night Staff: Valera Vierra.

Deadline Set For Song Titles

Deadline for turning in song titles for the All-Campus Sing is next Thursday, Ann Gerlinger, chairman, told a meeting Thursday of all house song leaders.

"In case of duplicate titles being turned in," she said, "the house submitting the title first will be allowed to use it." They may be turned in to her at Kappa Alpha Theta any time between now and the deadline.

Rules for Contest Listed

Rules for the sing were distributed at the meeting, and they include:

1. No professional musician or faculty instructor may direct, nor may a graduate student be director.
2. At least 16 voices must be in the groups, and no more than 30 from one organization may participate, including the song leader.
3. No fraternity, sorority or hall song may be used.
4. No musical accompaniment or special musical effects are permitted, including any type of musical instrument.
5. Any house not participating in the preliminaries may not participate in the final judging.
6. Dress should be standardized within the group, and no special costumes may be made which cost over $1.25. A financial statement must be submitted at a later date.
7. All song leaders must submit their song titles by April 15.

8. The same song that is used at the eliminations must be sung in the final sing.

9. A 2.00 GPA is not necessary for those participating.

10. Freshman women except Eugene women living at home, may not sing with their sororities.

11. Freshman men may sing with fraternities if their dormitory is not participating in the sing.

Six Minute Limit

Each group will be allowed six minutes for their entire performance, including coming to and leaving the stage. Groups are to bring three copies of their music to eliminations.

Women's eliminations will be held May 5, and men's eliminations will be held May 6. Announcements of finalists will be made May 7, Miss Gerlinger said.

Final Practice Allowed

Judges for the final night have already been selected, she said, but have not yet been named for the eliminations. Practice periods at the location of the sing may be arranged for on May 12 and 13.

Location of the sing has not as yet been determined, but will be announced as soon as weekend officials have selected the location, Miss Gerlinger added.

Finalists may make tape recordings of their songs, using University equipment, for use in further practice sessions some time between May 7 and May 15, the date of the sing.

UO Coeds Invited to Compete For Press Photo Honors

Some University of Oregon coed may become Miss Oregon Press Photographer of 1954.

The woman who can walk off with the title will also win a beautiful 80-diamond Croton wrist watch, a two foot high gold trophy and an all expense trip to Atlantic City in June to compete in the Miss National Press Photographer pageant.

The search for the winner, which will end at the Press Photographers ball at the Multnomah hotel May 1, is being sponsored by the Oregon Press Photographers association. One of ten finalists, chosen from photographs will be selected at the dance by a panel of judges which will include Governor Paul Patterson and a group of Oregon's leading press photographers.

Any girl who is single and between the age of 18, to 25 may enter. All she has to do is send two photographs of herself, one an unretouched closeup of her face, the other a full length shot in a bathing suit, to the Oregon Press Photographers association, Box 1633, Portland.

Entry blanks are available at the Emerald quonset.

Onthank Requests Info on Seniors

Karl W. Onthank, director of graduate placement, reminds all graduating seniors of the importance in getting their credentials into his office.

Many calls are received concerning students about whom they have no information. Credentials should be submitted immediately, while the professors are still available to contact.

Senior men going into service should take advantage of opportunities offered by job recruiters who come to the campus. Many employers are willing to make arrangements now for a place to be open when the men return from their time of service, Onthank said. Jobs are plentiful now, but in two years the outlook is questionable and helpful contacts should be made now, he added.

Panhel Announces Exec Appointments

Appointments to the Panhellenic Executive council were announced at the general Panhellenic meeting Thursday evening by President Carol Wenner.

They include Pat Case, second vice-president; Joanne Hardt, standards chairman; Sally Ryan, relations chairman; Lloydene Hurt, scholarship chairman; Lenore Carlson, social and activities chairman, and Camille O'Toole, publicity chairman.
