'Venus' Tickets Selling Out Fast

Tickets for the next University theater production, "One Touch of Venus," are selling rapidly, according to Dick Hiatt, box office manager. One night, the first Saturday, is completely sold out.

The show opens this Friday and plays April 24, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30 and May 1.

Under the direction of Frederick J. Hunter, instructor of speech, "One Touch of Venus" is a modern musical comedy. Heading the large cast is Larry Swanson, senior in music, who two years ago played the Devil in "The Devil and Daniel Webster."

Playing the title role of Venus will be Verla Thompson, sophomore in speech, who makes her

University theater debut in this production.

Also holding featured roles are Audrey Mistretta, junior in music, seen this season in "The Man," last year in "Brigadoon," and in 1952 as the old maid in "The Old Maid and the Thief." Paul McMullen, graduate in speech, who has had roles in "Anything Goes" and "Girl Crazy" at Whitman college, also has a featured role.

Dance numbers have been staged by two University students, Barbara Johnson, sophomore in art, and John Jensen, junior in speech. The "Can-Can" dance which ends the first act was directed by Miss Johnson and both the "Forty Minutes for Lunch" and "Venus in Ozone Heights" ballets were choreographed by Jensen.

Futuristic settings designed by Hunter and executed by Howard L. Ramey, technical director of the theater, provide a colorful background for the comedy.

OSC to Give Show Today at Assembly

The Oregon State college exchange assembly, "College Capers," or "It Is Happening to You," will be presented today at 1 p.m. in the Student Union ballroom, according to Gloria Lee, chairman of exchange assemblies.

The show will be the same one which was presented at the Portland high schools, Lewis and Clark college and Willamette university, "except for one joke," Miss Lee said.

The OSC choir will be featured on the 50-minute program. After the assembly the cast of the Oregon exchange assembly will be hosts at a coffee hour at 2 p.m. for the OSC cast.

"A band like Kenton," vocalists and dances will be included on the program. Eddie Thomas is chairman of the OSC group.

Oregana Post Interviews Set

Four petitioners for the top two Oregana posts will be interviewed by the publications board at its meeting Wednesday evening, according to R. C. Williams, secretary of the board.

Candidates for editor are Bob Southwell, junior in business, and Paul Keefe, junior in business. Two men have filed petitions for the position of business manager. They are Alan Oppliger, senior in business, and Bob McCracken, sophomore in liberal arts.

Bob Ford, senior in journalism, is the current editor of the yearbook. Jim Light, junior in business, is the business manager.

Women's Groups Qualify Monday For Vodvil Show

Five women's living organizations qualified Monday night for the all-campus Vodvil show. Eliminations for men's groups will be held tonight beginning at 7 p.m., according to Edna Humiston, Vodvil chairman.

Women's houses and the acts they will perform at the annual Vodvil are Alpha Chi Omega, "Magic on the Moors"; Alpha Delta Pi, "Ugly Faces"; Alpha Xi Delta, "ROTC 17"; Delta Gamma, "Old Faces of '54," and Kappa Alpha Theta, "Moulin Red."

Men's living organizations, their themes and tryout times tonight are Alpha Tau Omega, "From here to Fraternity," 7 p.m.; Phi Sigma Kappa, "From Here to Fraternity," 7:15; Campbell club, "The Whistler," 7:30; Phi Delta Theta, "The Sledge," 7:45; Beta Theta Pi, "Beta Barbershop," 8 p.m.; Sigma Nu, "The Clem Filler Story," 8:15, and Sigma Phi Epsilon, "Odd Faces of '54," 8:30.

Tryouts for master-of-ceremonies will be held at 8:45 p.m. tonight. Petitioners for the job include Chuck Wingard, Dale Carroll, Jerry Froebe and Scott Lehner.

Women's living organizations which were eliminated Monday night are Alpha Phi, "Junior Weekend Queen Selection"; Delta Delta Delta, "Off the Record," and Chi Omega, "American in Paris."

Tickets for the Vodvil will be on sale Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in living organizations, the Student Union and the co-op. Price for the tax exempt tickets is 50 cents for college students. High school students will be admitted to the show free as a part of the Duck Preview program on campus this weekend.

Women to Wash Cars for WUS

Car owners may have their cars washed today between 1 and 4 p.m. at any of 10 women's living organizations. Charge will be $1 per car.

Money raised through the car wash will go to World University Service fund drive being held on campus this week.

Both faculty members and students may have their cars washed by the women during the car wash today, according to Claudia Zorn, WUS car wash chairman.

Organizations participating in the WUS fund raising project are Alpha Omicron Pi at Alpha Delta Pi; Alpha Gamma Delta at Delta Gamma; Kappa Alpha Theta at Chi Omega; Pi Beta Phi at Sigma Kappa; Carson hall; Alpha Xi Delta at Zeta Tau Alpha; Gamma Phi Beta at Alpha Phi; Hendricks hall; University house at Delta Delta Delta, and Rebec house at Ann Judson house.

Hostess Voting Data Released

Voting for the World University Service hostess will take place Wednesday and Thursday along with Junior Weekend Queen voting, according to Sharon Snyder and Jean Fay, WUS hostess co-chairmen.

In order to vote in the WUS selection, a student must present a Vodvil ticket at the voting booth. Tickets are on sale at both the Co-op and the Student Union.

The eight foreign student candidates for WUS hostess are Ana Dlugatch, Argentina; Namiko Ikeda, Japan; Miyeko Ohno, Japan; Judith Pederson, Denmark; Demetria Piyante, the Philippines; Omneyo Souelem, Egypt; Agnes Weitz, Germany, and Gertrude Wirgler, Austria.

The selection of a hostess, who will preside at the annual Vodvil show, is a new feature of the WUS fund drive this year. It is hoped that this feature will promote "international feeling at the Vodvil show," according to Ted Gob, WUS general chairman.

Foreign Students to Speak About WUS

Foreign students will speak at World University Service-sponsored firesides in living organizations today and Wednesday.

Speakers who will tell of the work of the WUS in their countries are Demetria Bujante, the Philippines; Ana Dlugatch, Argentina; Franz Hlawati, Austria; Natividad Malolos, the Philippines; Beatrice Onoda, Japan; Mitsugu Sakihara, Okinawa; Tuure Salomaa, Finland; Paul ten Hove, The Netherlands; Agnes Weitz, Germany, and Gertrude Wirgler, Austria.

ALL OUT FOR PREVIEW

Departments Plan Exhibits

by Anne Ritchey
Emerald Reporter

Each department of the University, as its part in the exhibits of Duck Preview this weekend, will present typical scenes of its everyday work to the high-school visitors.

The speech department will feature a complete display of the set and lighting for "One Touch of Venus," which opens at the theatre Friday night. Visitors will be able to examine the set and also to see the complete backstage set-up of the theater.

The speech department's television equipment, which has been shrouded in comparative mystery since its inauguration this year, will be open for inspection during the weekend.

TV Exhibit Planned

E. A. Kretsinger, assistant professor of speech, has planned for visitors to the department to see themselves on television, through the closed-circuit set-up.

In the law school, mock courtroom scenes will be arranged for the visitors, in which the visitors themselves will take the parts of jurors and other participants in the courtroom.

High school students will be able to go through the stacks in the library and will have an opportunity to see the micro-film equipment in use.

Senior boys will visit the physical education school, inspect the facilities and see demonstrations of sports and gymnastics.

Ceramics, Weaving

Exhibits of student work will be displayed in the art and architecture school, and the visitors will be able to see University students at work in the ceramics and weaving departments.

The science department will produce a simulated geyser for the students, and will also feature an intake furnace in operation. A chemistry exhibit will also be presented, as well as a demonstration in optics.

The seniors may begin registering for the weekend at noon Friday. Registration will continue through 10 p.m. that day. Saturday morning, registration will be held from 9 a.m. until noon.

Friday afternoon at 4 an auction will be held, under the sponsorship of World University Service. General chairman of the auction is Jack Lally, sophomore in business. Members of Skull and Dagger, Kwama, the Homecoming court, Sweetheart of Sigma Chi finalists, King of Hearts and Joe College finalists and faculty members and administration officials will be auctioned off.

Saturday morning at 10 a.m. the orientation assembly will be held in the Student Union ballroom. Tom Wrightson, ASUO president, will act as master-of-ceremonies for the half-hour assembly.

Speakers during the program will be University President O. Meredith Wilson; Janet Wick, AWS president; Barney Holland, basketball player, and Joan Hutchon, Danforth graduate.

Educational exhibits will follow the assembly. Campus tours led by members of Kwama will precede lunch in the living organizations at 1 p.m.

Athletes Share Program

Beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday, three events will be held which visitors and University students may attend. These include the Amphibian water show, a track meet and a baseball game with the Salem Senators.

Exchange dinners for which living organizations will be paired, will be held at 5:30 p.m. Saturday. Following dinner the semi-formal dance, for which dressy cottons are in order, will be held. The dance will begin at 9 p.m. and last until midnight, according to Phyllis Pearson, dance chairman.

Transportation for the visitors will be furnished by members of Alpha Phi Omega, men's service honorary. This will include meeting the high school seniors at trains and buses.

Reed Editor to Talk Here on Russian Trip

Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Barney was one of seven American college editors invited by the Soviet government to visit Russia. The group spent three weeks in the Soviet Union and traveled over 5,000 miles.

Barney will show films that he took during the trip. The young editor was allowed to take pictures freely and to talk with hundreds of Russian citizens.

The group spent five days in Moscow and the rest of their time touring Russia. They visited Baku, Tiflis, Kharkov, Odessa and Kiev.

The editors visited collective farms and watched ballet. Barney was able to talk with students, workers and government officials. He spent New Year's eve at a youth party in the Kremlin.

Barney's talk is being sponsored jointly by the University Press club, the International Relations club and Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary. The meeting is open to the public.

Barney, 27, was born in Eugene. He attended the University for two years, then entered the army. He has been at Reed for two years and is a political science major.
