Luther House

Sunday evening following a supper to be held at 5:30, Rev. Ramsey of Portland will speak on Lutheran welfare work. Marlene Bronson and Roger Danielson are in charge of the supper.

Wednesday, following the noon luncheon, Pastor Ingward Olsen of Bethesda Lutheran church, will lead a discussion of Luther's Small Catechism. A contest for getting new members to the Wednesday noon luncheons is now in progress. As of last Wednesday, Roger Danielson's team is leading Carol Beeche's. The losing team at the end of the term is to furnish the eats for the spring outing.

Bible study groups have gotten off to a good start, but students are still urged to check at the house and come to their assigned groups.

Lutherans are reminded to keep the weekend of May 6 to 8 open for the coast retreat.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship

Members of the inter-varsity Christian fellowship are completing plans to attend the annual state-wide retreat from April 30 to May 2 at Silver Creek falls. Other Oregon schools to be represented there are Oregon State college, Portland State college, Lewis and Clark college and Oregon College of Education. Principal speaker for the weekend will be Melvin J. Frisen, west coast secretary of the IVCF and director of Campus-by-the-Sea at Catalina, Calif. Total cost for the conference is $4. Persons planning to attend should contact Lois McGowan at 4-0054, for transportation.

Missionary emphasis month will be highlighted at the next regular meeting of IVCF, to be held Tuesday in the Student Union. A comprehensive report of world missionary conditions will be discussed. Special music and a coffee hour will conclude the program.

New officers for IVCF are Richard Koe, president; Shirley Knox, vice-president; Judith Pedersen, secretary; and Harvey Richmond, treasurer. Miss Olive A. Slocum, associate professor of nursing education, is chapter adviser.

Christian House

Christian house is celebrating the fifth anniversary of its opening on the University of Oregon campus, with a big birthday party and open house Sunday afternoon from 2 till 5. Jean Miller is chairman of the festivities. She is assisted by Pat Hartley, in charge of program; Janice Milton, decorations; Maxine Molkie and Joan Wilson, refreshments; Doug Calef, tours of the house; and Bob Randall, exhibits. Sherman Holmes, senior in law, who was first president of the house when it opened in April, 1949, has prepared a folder for distribution to all guests. Guests are invited to come and leave as they wish, according to the executive council. The welcoming committee includes Lyle Spears, president; Victor P. Morris, chairman of the board of directors; Mrs. Clarence Elliot, house director; and Libby Briscoe, student council member.

The Sunday morning program will begin as usual with the doughnut hour at 9:15, followed by Bible study led by Victor Morris. The evening fellowship hour will not be held because the birthday festivities will still be going on.

The executive council will meet at 6:30 p.m., where plans will be made for conducting the entire Sunday evening church service at First Christian church on May 2. JoAnne Flanders is chairman for this event.

Canterbury Club

Canterbury club will not meet this Sunday because of the diocesan convention at St. Paul's church in Salem. Episcopal students are asked to remember that here will be the usual Celebration of the Holy Communion Wednesday morning at 7 a.m. in Gerlinger hall.

On Thursday at 4 p.m. at the College Side there will be a discussion concerning church practices and doctrines. All interested students are cordially invited by the group to attend.

Westminster Foundation

Tonight at 8 p.m. an informal get-together will be held with all those wishing to attend the All-campus Vodvil show leaving for McArthur court at 9:45 p.m. Refreshments will be served at the foundation after the show.

Saturday at 1 p.m. there will be a work party to clean up the yard at West M.

There will be a coffee hour at 9 a.m. Sunday, followed by the Bible class studying Christian doctrine. Loris Larson will lead the study of the third article of the Statement of the Reformed Faith, "Of the Creation." The 6 p.m. vesper service will be led by Randy Middleton, and will include a meditation given by Rev. Thom Hunter, "What Comes After Easter?" A social hour with refreshments will follow.

Wednesday's 12:30 p.m. chapel service will be led by Bob Dean. At the evening fellowship supper at 5:30, the guest speaker will be Paul Newton Poling, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Salem. He will speak on "The Responsibility of the Church in Political World Struggle."

Wesley Foundation

The spring conference of the Oregon Methodist Student movement will be held at Camp Magruder this weekend. Those attending the conference will leave in cars Friday afternoon. Glen Olds, chaplain of Denver University chapter, is the platform speaker. Due to the conference, the Koinonia Klass will not meet this Sunday. At 6 p.m. Sunday evening there will be a light supper and program.

A potluck supper will be held Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. Chapel service, now being held on Thursdays, will be at 12 a.m.

Beginning May 2 Wesley foundation will start a series of Sunday programs on the lives of the apostles. These student-led programs will be concerned on the lives of the Apostles after the crucifixion of Christ.
