Our Choice--Hollis Ransom

We are supporting Hollis Ransom for ASUO president. Three weeks ago, we were supporting Bob Summers, AGS candidate. But three weeks of campaigning has changed a lot of things around campus—including our minds.

Here's why we offer our support to Ransom, UIS presidential candidate:

1. He has led his party during the past few weeks. He hasn't been led by cliques within the group as Summers has on several issues, including the all campus primary. Summers didn't have any definite opinion. He went along with AGS. Ransom has opinions—well thought out, intelligent opinions which he has offered to his party and to the voters.

2. Ransom has made a conscious effort to measure the areas of student government Oregon is interested in. Here we cite the poll UIS took among Independent students recently, compiling a record of student interests and desires around which to frame their platform. Ransom initiated the poll. And we think that's real live student government.

3. Ransom is alert and interested in what is going on at this University. He has been here only two years and there are a lot of things he hasn't learned about Oregon. But he's willing to spend time ferreting out every minute detail of any problem until he does understand. And he's learned an amazing amount even in the past three weeks.

4. He takes campus politics seriously. The only danger we see here is that he will take student government too seriously. But a conscientious senate should be a safeguard against that. And we think the issues presented in the UIS platform indicate that he is aware of the areas in which student government should be most active.

There are points in both platforms with which we disagree. But we cannot snub leadership, responsibility and an awareness of public interest when it is presented to us all rolled up into one ASUO presidential candidate.

Admittedly, if Summers had said more or said less during this campaign, we might have continued to go along with him. But whenever he says anything, we're never sure just what he means or if he has said anything underneath the smooth flow of his words. And if he hadn't got stuck out on a limb on the all-campus primary with several of the party "big wheels," we would have more faith in his leadership potential.

We tried to support Summers but it just wasn't in the cards. Ransom has won this campaign hands down and we hope he wins the same way in Wednesday's election.

The ASUO presidency is the only continuing part of student government. It takes a lot of responsibility. It'll be hard to learn Holly, but we're backing you all the way.

"Not Third Party" Arata Group Says

The group sponsoring Tom Arata as candidate for senator-at-large in the elections Wednesday is not the "nucleus of a third party," as reported in Friday's Emerald, according to Arata.

The group of students who signed the group's platform, Arata said, is composed of students interested in supporting an individual candidacy in this year's elections.

Student Cited After Accident

Neil Tardio, fifth year student in architecture and allied arts, was cited by the Eugene police Sunday morning for failure to leave his name and address at the scene of an accident.

The citation followed a collision of Tardio's car and a car driven by Charles Gregg Lininger, freshman in liberal arts, between 14th and 15th avenues on Kincaid street at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Tardio is scheduled to appear in Eugene Municipal court Friday morning. Bail for the offense is $200.

Damage to Tardio's car, a 1947 Plymouth, was estimated at $200. The other car's damages were estimated at $35 by the investigating officer.
