Voting Booths Open All Day

Polls opened at 8 a. m. today for voting in the general elections, and will remain open until 6 p. m. Booths are located in front of Commonwealth, in front of John Straub hall, in Carson lobby, in front of the library and at the Co-op and Student Union. Copies of the ASUO ballot will be given to everyone voting. The ballot will include names of candidates for ASUO president and senators-at-large.

Don't Waste Votes

"Vote number one for your favorite senator-at-large candidate so he'll be sure and get it" — so the campaign literature reads. But this is not correct — if a number one vote is given to a senator-at-large candidate, it is completely useless in the electing of ASUO president. And it doesn't help the senator get elected! The same holds true in the class-officer races. A number one vote given to anyone but a presidential candidate is useless, since in counting the ballots a number two vote is just as effective in electing the senators and representatives.

In addition, students will receive copies of the ballot for their class, on which they will vote for class president and representative. The Co-op board election, in which one one-year member and three two-year members will be elected, will be held with the AS-

Eugene Gleemen To Give Concert

Theodore Kratt, dean of the school of music, will direct the Eugene Gleemen in a special Mother's Day concert at the Eugene high school auditorium, 3 p. m. Sunday.

This 27-year old singing organization, composed of 75 business and professional men, has been selected to represent Eugene and the state of Oregon at the Rotary International convention in Seattle. More than 10,000 Rotarians representing over 8,000 clubs in all parts of the world are expected to hear the Gleemen, who will sing immediately preceding an address by Secretary of State Dulles. Students are invited to attend and to bring guests to this special Mother's Day concert. The program will include songs especially appropriate for the occasion.

Foreign Language Reading Exams Set

Reading examinations in foreign languages for advanced degrees will be held May 10 to 14, announces David M. Dougherty, head of the department of foreign languages. Students interested in taking the examinations should contact the secretary of the department this week.

UO election. Co-op membership cards will be required in order to vote for board members.

The election committee is composed of Kitty Fraser, Ben Schmidt, Doug Basham, Sally Hayden, Norm Webb and Don Crawford. The committee is in charge of the polling places and also will count votes.

Votes will be counted in the SU immediately after polls close, with Waldo Schumacher, professor of political science, acting as adviser on preferential counting.

All votes, including those for the ASUO amendment, will be counted at this time, according to Bob Funk, ASUO vice-president, who is in charge of elections.

Two observers from each party may be in attendance at the time of counting, Funk said. No other students will be admitted.

Members of the Co-op board will count their own votes, Funk said, and results of the ASUO, class and Co-op board elections will all be announced in Thursday's Emerald.

ROY CLYDE McCALL, University speech department head, was named president of Modesto college, Modesto, Calif., Monday evening. He will assume his new job Sept. 1.

What's Mystie? Now on Sale

Today's the day to find out what the "Mystie" is. Mysties go on sale today in booths throughout the campus.

Booths will be located at the library, the Co-op, Commonwealth, Friendly, Carson, Hendricks, John Straub, and the Student Union. The booths will open at 9 a. m. and will be open all day. Freshmen women representing Phi Theta Upsilon, will man the booths.

"Mysties" will sell for 10 cents with no limit on the number sold to a customer. All living organizations have been invited to purchase "Mysties" to serve for dessert Wednesday or Thursday. Deliveries of the "Mysties" will be made directly to the organization by freshmen women.

Rifle Team Ends Regular Matches

University of Oregon's AFROTC rifle team has completed its regular schedule and has only six more "postal" matches this year, according to M-Sgt. J. D. Perry, adviser.

In regular competitive matches, the Army and Air Force teams of the University joined together to form a University team which competed in the Willamette Valley league. Although official results and final standings have not been sent to him, Sgt. Perry believes that the Oregon team ended up sixth in a league of ten teams.

However, as a separate group, the AFROTC squad has six more "postal" meets with other AFROTC rifle squads on other campuses. In a "postal" meet, each team conducts a regular match by itself, and then mails the results to the other school, Perry said.

Oregon has participated in 60 of these so far, and has a better than 75 per cent winning mark. Other matches are scheduled with Washington State college, College of Puget Sound, University of Washington, Brigham Young university and Utah State Agricultural college.

The top five men on the Air Force team are Mike McKenzie and John Gabrielson, juniors; Dick Buffington, sophomore, and Basil Scalabrin and Ralph Graves, freshmen.

Next Officers Chosen Today

The next ASUO president will be chosen in elections held today on campus. Seeking the number one position are Hollis Ransom, candidate of United Independent Students, and Bob Summers, Associated Greek Students candidate.

Ransom is a senior in political science, while Summers is a junior in pre-law. Under the preferential voting system, the winner will become president and the defeated candidate will become ASUO vice-president.

Running for senior class president are Bob Glass, AGS, and Len Calvert, UIS. Dorothy Kopp, AGS, and Lorin Larson, UIS are candidates for senior class representative.

Junior class officer candidates for president are: Bud Hinkson, AGS, and Gordon Rice, UIS; and for representative, Russ Cowell, UIS, and Mary Sweeney, AGS. Contenders for sophomore class president are Darrel Brittsan, AGS, and Malcolm Scott, UIS. Running for sophomore class representative are Marcia Cook, AGS, and Harriet Hornbeck, UIS.

Board Picks Sandine For Emerald Business Manager

Joe Gardner, junior in journalism, was named Emerald editor for the first half of next year by the Student Publications board Tuesday night. He will take over as editor in September.

Jean Sandine, a sophomore in liberal arts, was selected as business manager of the paper.

Three Other Petitioners

Other petitioners for the post of editor were Jerry Harrell and Dick Lewis, both juniors in journalism. Marcia Dutcher, junior in journalism, was the only other petitioner for business manager.

Gardner worked as news editor of the Emerald this year. A transfer from Portland university in 1953, Gardner worked as assistant news editor, makeup editor, copydesk editor and reporter on the Emerald his sophomore year.

Publicity Chairmanships

Besides his work on the Emerald, Gardner has served as publicity chairman for the 1952 Sophomore Whiskerino and Duck Preview and the 1953 Homecoming. He is a member of Druids, junior men's honorary; Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honorary, and Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalistic fraternity.

Miss Sandine is now office manager for the Emerald. She has also worked as an advertising salesman for the paper.

Sandine In Kwama

In addition to her work on the Emerald she is a member of Kwama, and treasurer of Alpha Delta Pi. She also is chairman of the international affairs commission of the YWCA.

Gardner succeeds Elsie Schiller, senior in journalism, as editor. Miss Sandine takes over the position now held by Dick Carter, also a senior in journalism.

Free Ping-pong For YMCA Members

Men who are currently members of the YMCA can play ping-pong for free in the Student Union recreation area, Forest Easton, YM Center, has announced.

Under arrangements made with Louis Bellissimo, SU recreation manager, the YMCA will pay for the ping-pong games at the end of each month. Members must present their YM membership cards at the recreation desk in order to enjoy the privilege of free play, Easton said.

Greek Letters Lecture Topic

The technique of studying Greek inscriptions will be examined and explained at tonight's browsing room lecture at 7:30.

Benjamin Dean Meritt, professor of classics at the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, N. J., will speak on "New Sources for Ancient History." He will illustrate the lecture with colored slides. David M. Dougherty, head of the University foreign language department will lead the discussion after the lecture.

Before showing the slides of Greek and other ancient inscriptions, Meritt will explain the methods used in studying and resurrecting such inscriptions. According to Meritt, the Greeks inscribed all their important events on stone, providing almost a complete history of their civilization for today's scholars.

The colored slides shown by Meritt will illustrate well-known events in ancient history, and illustrate the technique of putting the inscriptions together to form a complete story. An example of such an inscription is the Treaty between Athens and Carthage inscribed on stone in 407 B. C.

One of his slides has never before been seen by an audience. It shows a stone with two languages inscribed on it and has just been discovered within the last month. The inscription is in early Athenian Greek and Carian, an early Asia minor language.

Meritt and his wife have been on campus since Tuesday. This is their first trip west and Meritt has combined sight seeing with a lecture tour of the Pacific coast, including British Columbia.

"I'm glad of the opportunity to come west and see this beautiful country," Meritt said. "I like to talk to people and I am really enjoying the tour."

All-Campus Sing Tryouts Tonight

Eliminations for the All-Campus Sing will be held today for women's groups and Thursday for men's groups in the Student Union ballroom. Chairman Ann Gerlinger has announced.

Singing groups should be at the ballroom at least 10 minutes ahead of their scheduled appearance, Miss Gerlinger said. Three copies of their music must be submitted to the judges at that time.

Tonight's schedule by organization selection, and time is as follows:

Thursday groups will be: Alpha Tau Omega, "The Pirates' Song," 6:35; Beta Theta Pi, "In the Still (Please turn to page four)

French Paintings Displayed at Libe

An exhibit of 19th century French paintings in American museums is now on display in the circulation lobby of the library.

The exhibit, entitled "Romanticism and Realism," includes reproductions of paintings and drawings by David, Delacroix, Ingres, Daumier, Corot, Courbet and other artists. The display, sponsored by the Franco-American Audio-Visual Distribution Center of New York, will remain in the library through May 14.
