To The Victor

Congratulations, Bob."

We've disagreed with you in the past and perhaps we will again in the future. But we'd just like to say you do have the potential capacity and the approach to student government which could give you an outstanding administration.

We feel confident that you will accept the responsibility of representing Oregon students.

Remember the campaign speeches and platforms next fall, Bob. We hope to see your plan of utilizing the ASUO cabinet become an action. And we think your idea for bringing the senate and the campus closer together through a public relations chairman is excellent.

You have demonstrated faith in student government, Bob. We think it can be justified.

Congratulations and good luck.

An Uninvited Guest

Having a house dance this weekend?

Then you'd better check with the Eugene fire department. There's a city ordinance in Eugene which specifies that all decorations for this type of event must be fireproofed and approved by the fire department or the event could be cancelled.

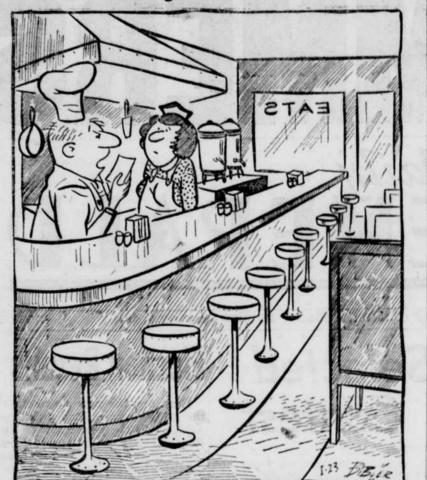

It's a simple measure, however. Just call the fire department, 5-6231, and they'll send somebody around to see if that crepe paper ceiling is a decoration or a death trap.

A couple of gentlemen from the fire department stopped in to see us the other day to inform us that these precautions had paper to be used as an instrument been neglected at recent dances.

And we'd like to remind those houses which will be having house dances during the remainder of the term of the importance of such preventive measures.

It's important because fire is nothing to play with or take chances on. And a lack of such preventive measures has been responsible for such holocausts as the Coconut Grove fire. Inflamable decorations added to the death total and destruction.

House dances are party times. And there's always added dan- The code under which student edi-

A professor at the University of Indiana has invented a new honor system, at least temporarily.

He placed classroom desks in a horseshoe arrangement around the room, about three feet apart. Then he left, telling the students they were on their honor. And they were, for if anyone tried to look at another student's paper, everyone else would see him.

They demanded a free choice of examination terms and a chance to repeat exams. Their demands were accomplished after a meeting with faculty members, and the boycott was ended.

ger from added carelessness where fire is concerned. So don't take unnecessary chances. Fire could be a guest at your dance this weekend.

This is the recipe for treating decorations which the fire department gave us:

1. Paper - mix one part water glass with two parts water and cover both sides of the paper. Then let dry before hanging up.

2. Light cloth — mix 7 ounces of Borax, 3 ounces of Boric acid and two quarts of hot water. Dip the cloth and let it dry.

3. Heavy cloth — mix 9 ounces of Borax, 4 ounces of Boric acid and two quarts hot water. Dip the cloth and let it dry.

If you're doing any painting, paint after the treatment is applied to the material. And don't use these concoctions on varnished floors.

Dances are for fun, not for fires. So, make sure your house decorations are safe. An ounce of prevention . . . or FIRE could be YOUR guest Saturday night.
