

Speed Burner

DOUG CLEMENT, Oregon half-miler, made a good showing in last Saturday's Vancouver relays and hopes to continue his speedy running against Oregon State next Saturday when the Ducks tangle with the Beavers in a dual meet. Clement is a junior from Vancouver, BC.

Legal Eagles, ATO Win Softball Tilts

High scores predominated in the I M softball action Monday, with the Legal Eagles beating Chi Psi by a 15-7 count, and Alpha Tau Omega going wild to pound the Phi Delta Theta nine by a 19-4 score.

The Legal Eagles got their big innings in the second and the seventh, in which they scored six runs each. Chi Psi's largest inning was the fourth when they garnered three runs off the Law School pitchers. The game was tied going into the sixth inning, and while Chi Psi scored one run in that inning, the Legal Eagles scored two. In the final inning, the Eagles went wild and scored six runs on a flurry of hits, that cinched the game for them.

ATO had three big innings in the second, third, and fourth in their trouncing of the Phi Deltas. In these innings, they scored three, seven and six runs in that order. They ended up the bottom of the seventh with another three runs. The Phi Deltas runs were more scattered, with two coming in the third, one in the fourth, and one in the sixth.

Oregon Captures First of Series

By Associated Press

The University of Oregon Ducks drove across one run in the top of the ninth inning to squeeze by the University of Washington, 4-3 in a Northern Division baseball game at Seattle Monday.

The Huskies grabbed a one to nothing lead at the end of three innings, only to see their lead melt away during a two run rally by the Webfoots in the fourth inning.

With the score tied at three runs apiece, Johnny Keler started off Oregon's half of the ninth inning with a blooper to short center field for a single. Washington's pitcher Don Hill got the next two batters out, but Dick Schlosstein tagged a double to bring in Keller with the tie-breaking run.

Oregon retired the Huskies in the bottom of the ninth without allowing any runs, to win the game. The second game of the series will be played in Seattle this afternoon.

Ducks Face Huskies In Crucial ND Series

Oregon's Ducks, with terrific pressure on them in every game now, take on the Washington Huskies in an important two game series this Monday and Tuesday afternoons. Don Kirsch's Webfoots go into the set with a seven won and three lost record and are trailing first place Oregon State by one full game.

The Beavers, who completed their Inland Empire invasion last weekend, have a nine and three mark and have only four games with Oregon remaining on their slate.

Oregon remained close on the heels of OSC over the past weekend by splitting a series with tough Washington State. The Ducks won the first encounter 5-4 behind the fine pitching of Bill Garner and Bill Blodgett but dropped the second 5-3.

Kirsch feels that the Ducks should win at least one game from the Huskies if they are to stay in the running for the league title. If Washington should happen to win both games it would give them the second place spot and just about eliminate the Webfoots from contention.

On the other hand, if the Ducks can split with the Washingtonians or take both contests they will stick close behind the rival Beavers and will go into the final four games with OSC with a very good chance of winning their second straight ND championship.

Kirsch will probably use his top two pitchers against the Huskies with Norm Forbes and Trent Huls each getting a starting assignment. Blodgett, who has been doing some excellent relief chucking for the Ducks on the trip will stand ready to come in for either Forbes or Huls in case they get in serious trouble. In the second WSC game Blodgett came in in the fifth frame and proceeded to pitch five innings of runless ball, giving up only one hit.

In addition to the above named pitchers Kirsch will more than likely use the following starting

Northern Division
	W	L	Pct.
OSC	9	3	.750
OREGON	7	3	.700
Washington	6	4	.600
Washington State	5	7	.417
Idaho	1	11	.083

line-up in the Washington games: Neal Marlett, catcher; Dick Schlosstein, first base; Jim Johnson, second base; John Keller, shortstop; Pete Williams, third base; Jerry Ross, left field; George Shaw, center field; and either Bob Wagner or Forbes in right field.

Forbes has been the pleasant surprise of the trip so far. In addition to his pitching feats he has come through with some timely hitting that has earned him an outfield starting berth on days when he is not being used on the mound.

Last Call for Hawaii

A program of study PLUS vacation, done up neatly in one package with a Honolulu postmark, is being arranged for next summer through Mrs. Antionette Faaborg, sorority house mother of Alpha Xi Delta.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Faaborg, University of Oregon co-eds will board a Northwest Orient Airlines DC-6B tourist flight at Portland on June 22, en route to classes at the University of Hawaii.

"Enrollment in the classes is mandatory for the college-age group," Mrs. Faaborg reports. "While the vacation atmosphere of Hawaii will be all about members of the tour group, they at the same time will spend hours in serious study—and get full credit for their vacation-school." The group will be in the Islands seven weeks.

Next summer's tour will be the sixth such arranged by Howard Tours. Last Year, 311 girls from 56 different campuses in 27 states took advantage of the tour.

"When the girls return to the Mainland, they will feel they really have lived in Hawaii, rather than just visited the Islands. A great number of beach activities, other social programs and special vacation plans dedicated to complete sightseeing give the tour a much more complete program than can be arranged for the usual tour covering a shorter period of time."

While at the University of Hawaii, the group will reside in dormitories on the campus or in delightful apartment hotels at famous Waikiki. Girls joining the tour must register through Mrs. Faaborg.

Duck Cindermen Take Second in Relay Meet

The University of Oregon track and field team rolled up a total of 114 points last Saturday afternoon to take second place in the sixth annual Vancouver relays at Vancouver, B. C.

The Ducks put on a gallant fight for the first place cup but were unable to outdistance the host Vancouver Olympic Club which totaled 126 points for the day.

One of the highlights of the meet was the appearance of Bob Richards, the 1952 Olympic pole vault champion, who competed for the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Richards took first in the pole vault with a leap of 14 foot, three inches and by virtue of places in several other events amassed a total of 54 points during the afternoon for high individual honors.

Good Showing
Bill Bowerman's Webfoots made a very good showing in many events and set two new records for the meet. Bruce Springbett raced to the win in the invitational 100-yard dash in the record beating time of 9.8 seconds. Later on Springbett came back to anchor the Ducks' 440-yard relay team which came home the winner in 43 seconds flat for another new mark.

Bill Dellinger, the Ducks' promising sophomore miler, pulled an upset in his specialty when he nipped Bill Parnell, former WSC track star, at the tape. Dellinger's time was a very good 4:23.4.

Another good performance for the Webfoots was by Doug Clement who brought himself from far behind to win the Ducks a second place finish in the mile relay.

Sorsby Wins

Other Oregon winners during the meet were Bill Sorsby who took the 120-yard high hurdles in the time of 15.5 seconds, Doyle Higdon who won the javelin throw with a toss of 181 foot, four inches and Bob Faucett who took the high jump with a bar-clearing effort of six foot, two inches.

The Oregon Frosh, competing in the affair along with the varsity warriors, put forth some outstanding efforts in the meet. Martin Pedigo was especially effective, winning the broad jump event with a jump of 23 feet.

The Webfoot cindermen go back into action next Saturday afternoon at Corvallis when they take on the Oregon State Beavers in their annual dual meet. If the Ducks can defeat the Beavers, they will win the ND dual meet championship. At the present time the Ducks are leading the league with a three and none mark and Washington is second with two and one.

Bowerman Discloses Cinder Time Change

Track intramural director, Bill Bowerman, announced that the rest of the IM track meets this spring will be underway at 4:45 p. m. rather than their 5:05 starting time which has been in effect thus far.

Bowerman said that the reason for the change was the conflict with dinner hours at the different houses.
