Clean-up Opens Weekend Fun

Junior Weekend will officially begin this afternoon when freshmen from all living organizations scurry to set the University "spic-n-span" during the All-Campus clean-up.

House representatives were notified Wednesday of the sections which they are to clean up. Houses may pick up their maps and instructions at Zeta Tau Alpha, according to Jeannette Kimball and Lynn Bodding, cleanup co-chairmen.

Dormitory cleanup crews must include only the independent freshmen.

Judges for the cleanup are Dr. R. D. Horn, professor of English, Virginia Kempston, women's counselor, and Tom Wrightson, ASUO president. Prizes for the contest will consist of a garbage can for each house in the winning pair.

Winners of the all-campus cleanup will be awarded the prizes at the Terrace dance at the Student Union after the cleanup.

'Traditional Review' Theme Of Prom; Tickets on Sale

"Traditional Review" is the theme of this year's Junior Prom, scheduled from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Friday in the Student Union ballroom. The theme was selected to emphasize traditions on the Oregon campus. Women will have 2 a. m. closing hours, according to the Student Affairs committee.

The price of prom tickets per couple this year is $2.50. Tickets are now on sale at the Student Union and the Co-op and will be sold through Friday.

The queen of Junior Weekend will be crowned during intermission at the prom. Following this will be the Queen's dance. Presentations of the Koyl cup and the Gerlinger cup will also be made during intermission, in addition to Druids tapping.

The orchestra of Ernie Fields will provide the music for the prom. Field's band is nationally known, especially in the East and South. Recording for Gotham, Fields specializes in pop and blues. A graduate of Tuskegee institute, Fields was the first orchestra leader to have what is commonly known as a "package deal" orchestra and complete floor show.

House Sing Ticket Sales Close Friday

Tickets for the All-campus sing will be on sale in living organizations until Friday, Chairman Ann Gerlinger has announced. At that time all money and remaining tickets must be turned in to Sheila Fitzpatrick or Kathy Olson at Gamma Phi Beta.

Priced at 85 cents, the tickets are also being sold at the Co-op and the Student Union main desk, and will be available at McArthur court Saturday night.

Miss Gerlinger reminds all finalists to submit three copies of their music and their financial statements to her today. Participation passes are also available today for the 16 singing groups.

Thursday at Four Set for Seal Scrub

Two traditional Junior Weekend events, the freshman painting of the "O" on Skinner's Butte, and the freshman cleaning of the Oregon Seal in front of the Student Union, are scheduled for Thursday at 4 p. m.

The Order of the "O" will be in charge of carrying out the two functions. The organization also is handling punishment of traditions violators.

The physical plant reports that Fenton pool will be filled Friday so that girls will be dunked there. Male violators will be taken to the millrace.

Sun Serenade Ends Weekend

Last event of Junior Weekend, the sunlight serenade will be held Sunday at 3 p. m. in the open amphitheater behind the music school.

Featuring the winning women's and men's living organizations in the All-campus sing, the afternoon program will also include musical numbers by the University Singers male quartet and selections by Pat Viles and Donna Trebbe.

Everyone is invited to attend the serenade, which is planned to follow Sunday dinner in the living organizations for the visiting mothers, according to Phyllis Pearson, co-chairman. No tickets are needed.

In case of rain, the music school auditorium will be used for the program.

'Cleanup Cutups' Today at 4

"Cleanup Cutups," theme of the Terrace dance, will be held on the Terrace of the Student Union from 4 to 6 p. m. this afternoon. It will follow the all-campus cleanup.

All living organizations are serving dinner at 6 p. m. tonight to allow the dance to extend longer.

The dance is a no-date affair, according to terrace dance co-chairmen Sylvia Wingard and Joanne Hardt. Dress may be either campus clothes or "come as you are." Music will be provided by the Four Shades of Rhythm.

During the intermission at 5 p. m., Jim Light, president of the junior class and general chairman of Junior Weekend, will present the royal court. Ben Schmidt will award the Alpha Phi Omega award to the outstanding underclassman.

Free refreshments will be served at the dance. If it should rain, the dance will be held in the fishbowl of the SU.

ASUO Senators Postpone Meeting

The ASUO senate will not meet tonight, according to ASUO President Tom Wrightson. The next meeting will be May 20.

The new senate will be installed at the annual ASUO banquet next Tuesday and will take over Thursday, Wrightson said.

Breakfast Tickets End Sale Today

Today noon is the deadline for purchasing tickets for the annual Mothers' breakfast, one of the major events of Mothers' Week which will be held at 8:30 a. m. Saturday in the Student Union.

The combination breakfast-business meeting is an "mothers-only" affair, and students are not to attend. Tickets are on sale at the SU and the Co-op for $1.25 each.

Editor of Twain Estate To Appear in Lectures

Henry Nash Smith, professor of English at the University of California and literary editor of the Mark Twain estate will be on campus today and Friday.

Smith will speak to history faculty and other invited guests at a noon luncheon meeting today. He will discuss "The Idea of American Studies."

Students will have the opportunity to hear Smith twice on Friday. "Mark Twain's Role in 19th Century American Society," will be considered at 9 a. m. in 133 Commonwealth. Then at 11 a. m. in 231 Commonwealth Smith will speak on "Progressivism and Anti-Progressivism in 20th Century American Literature."

Smith is also a national officer on the American Studies association.

Crane to Close Lecture Series

Ronald S. Crane, distinguished service professor emeritus of the University of Chicago, will deliver the last in a series of lectures on the Oregon campus tonight at 8 p. m.

Crane has been visiting the campus this spring as a guest lecturer. Tonight's lecture will be the third in a series on "Literature and the history of Ideas."

The lecture will be in the Dads' Lounge of the Student Union. The public is invited.

Old Campus Is Luncheon Site

"Get your tickets for your mothers and yourselves now if you plan to attend the luncheon this Saturday," Marcia Hodgson and Corky Horton, co-chairmen for the event, have stressed. Sales are going rapidly but tickets may still be on sale at the ticket booth on the Old Campus Saturday until noon if there are any left.

The luncheon will begin approximately at 11:45 a. m. with the entrance of the Junior Weekend royal court to follow. A lunch of hotdogs and potato salad will be served picnic style on the Old Campus. In the event of rain, the picnic will be held in McArthur court.
