

Oregon Plays Seattle In First Tourney Tilt

When the curtain raises Friday on the Western Regional NCAA baseball tournament, the Oregon Ducks, Northern Division titlist, will take to Howe field against the strong Seattle university Chieftans in the first contest of the meet. The Webfoots and Chieftans will play at 12:30 p. m. In the second tourney game Southern California will play Fresno State. This tilt will immediately follow the opener.

Drawings for berths in the tournament were made Monday with Ralph Coleman, OSC diamond mentor, doing the drawing.

In attempting to down the Seattle nine of Al Brightman, Don Kirsch's Ducks will have no easy time. The Chiefs have an impressive record of 23 wins and five losses for the season. They are an independent entry in the tourney along with Fresno State.

Ducks Hold Win

In comparing the two teams it is interesting to note that in an early season game, Oregon downed Seattle by a 5-4 score. Bob Wagner's first inning home run with the bases loaded gave the Oregons an early lead which they refused to give up.

The chiefs are expected to be much tougher this time. Their star pitcher, John Pasternicky, has been improving constantly all season long and is considered to be one of the top chuckers in the country at the present time as far as college pitchers go. Pasternicky will no doubt be on the mound for the Oregon game.

Although the Ducks' season record stands at 16 and eight as compared with Seattle's impressive mark, it should be considered that the Webfoots have been playing much tougher competition in most of their outings. The two teams are considered to be about a toss-up by followers of the diamond sport.

USC Favored

In the second game on the tourney opening day schedule power-laden Southern Cal will be favored to take the Fresno State nine, but by only a slight margin. Fresno is playing in its third NCAA tournament and in its previous two appearances it has made itself well known. This season Fresno has a won-loss record of 23 and seven and is the winner of the strong California Baseball association pennant.

USC, winner of both the Southern Division championship and the California Intercollegiate Baseball association title will enter the meet with 22 wins and eight losses to its credit. The Tropans have played many top class profession-

ND Tennis Title Taken by U. W.

Washington's Huskies won the Northern Division tennis championship for the fifteenth straight year last weekend when they outscored the field in the annual league meet on the University of Oregon courts.

The Huskies won the title with a total of 14 points to second place Oregon State's 10. Oregon trailed with six points while Washington State and Idaho had one each.

Bill Quillian, Washington's brilliant player who is ranked sixth nationally, won the singles title for the third straight year. Quillian defeated Oregon's Ron Lowell in the semi-finals and came back to down teammate Doyle Perkins in the finals.

Quillian and Perkins teamed up to win the doubles' championship, also. The Husky team defeated Pete Carter and Ed Dey of Oregon State in the finals.

The Ducks' best doubles combination of Lowell and Dick Hamilton lost out to Carter and Dey in the semi-finals.

al teams and actually hold victories over the Chicago Cubs and the Portland Beavers among their recorded wins. The Trojans replaced the Stanford Indians as SD champion. Last year the Indians defeated the Ducks in two straight games in the Pacific Coast conference playoffs.

Athletic News Bureau director, Art Litchman, announced Monday that Oregon students will have to pay admission to see the NCAA games. The reason for this is that the games are not regularly scheduled contests and the NCAA will not accept any free student admissions.

Admission Prices

Tickets for the Friday games will be $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for students. This admission price will cover both the games. On Saturday, when the games start at 9:30 a. m. and continue through the afternoon with two more tilts, admission price will be two dollars for adults and 75 cents for students. This price will cover the whole day's slate. Sign out passes will be given to people who go home from the games for lunch which will admit them again upon their return.

On Monday the games will get underway at 12:30 p. m. again with the top two teams playing off for the title in the double-elimination affair. Ducks Spring Practice Ends With Scrimmage

As the final touch to their four week practice session, the Oregon gridders finished off the spring practice with a full length scrimmage, last Saturday morning.

Coach Len Casanova's boys put on a pretty impressive show for the spectators at Hayward field. The squad was divided into two equal teams, one wearing white jerseys, and the other donning green jerseys.

The green team started on the offensive on their own thirty yard line, but on the first play, Lloyd Powell fumbled the ball, and John Woyatt, a white halfback recovered, giving white the ball on the green 30. On a series of runs by Tom Crabtree, Dean Van Leuven, and quarterback Don Hoyt, the white team moved the ball down to the green four yard line. On the next play, Dean Van Leuven took the ball and ran over for the first score of the game. Tom Crabtree ran the conversion for the 7-0 score.

The green squad then took possession on their own thirty and opened up. On a series of runs and passes, freshman quarterback Les Plumb moved his team down to the white ten, where they were when the first quarter gun sounded.

At the other end of the field, Lloyd Powell took the ball from the ten to the four yard line, for a first down. Jasper McGee then plunged over for the only score for the green. Powell was stopped on the conversion attempt.
