

Review to Honor ROTC Seniors

A total of 145 army and air force ROTC graduating seniors and 47 award-winning cadets will be honored at the annual graduation review Thursday, June 3, at 1 p.m. Most of these graduates will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the army and air force reserves on June 12 and 13, pending final examinations.

Awards will be given to outstanding cadets in the four ROTC classes by the national military establishment, the Eugene Merchants association, and personnel of the University ROTC department.

The review, held on the drill field east of McArthur court, will include all military students at the University.

Awards will be made, and then the corps of cadets of the army and air force will parade before the graduates, University and ROTC officials, and other guests. The review is open to the public and friends of the graduates have been encouraged to attend.

The following graduates have not applied for air national guard commissions but are able to enlist as airmen third class for a two year enlistment, after which time they will be given reserve commissions. If they don't take the option, they can be drafted. They are Scott Chandler, James Hershner, Robert Holloway, Malcolm Montague, Alan Oppliger and Jack Thornton.

Summer Camps Told by AFROTC

A total of 61 juniors and seniors in the advanced AFROTC program at the University of Oregon will attend summer camp this summer. The camps will be held at four different locations, including McChord Air Force Base, Tacoma, Wash.; Larson AFB, Moses Lake, Wash.; Fairchild AFB, Spokane, Wash., and March AFB in California.

Attendance at the various camps will be as follows: 35 at McChord, 12 at Larson, 11 at Fairchild, and three at March.

Every AFROTC cadet must attend summer camp at an air force base as one of the requirements for graduation from the program and eligibility for a commission as a second lieutenant when he completes the AFROTC program. Summer camp is usually attended between the cadet's junior and senior years in the program, but some seniors attend if they have not participated as juniors.
