Washington	0	0	0	0	0
Oregon State	0	0	0	0	0
Wash. St.	0	1	0	0	39
Idaho	0	1	0	0	41

Games last weekend:
Oregon 41 Idaho 0
USC 39 Washington State 0
UCLA 67 San Diego Navy 0
Stanford 13 College of Pacific 12
Washington 7 Utah*6
Oklahoma 27 California 13

UO Professors Elected to Offices

Two University of Oregon faculty members were elected to executive positions of the Western Economics association at the group's annual conference.

C. Ward Macy, head of the department of economics, was elected vice-president. Wesley C. Ballaine, professor of business administration, was elected to the executive committee.

Gault Lynn of the Federal Reserve bank of San Francisco was selected president of the organization.

The group met on the University campus shortly before the beginning of fall term.

and pitcher Carl Thomas, who ruined Oregon with his pitching and hitting, was one of two third team pitchers.

A number of Pacific Coast baseball players and players who participated in the NCAA playoffs last March have been signed by professional ball clubs. Ernie Pastornicky, star pitcher for Seattle university last year; Daniel Brown, a catcher-outfielder for Michigan State in the playoffs; Marty Stiles, UCLA's ace pitcher, and Bob Leader, a right-hander who pitched Rollins college into contention for the NCAA crown last year, have all been signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Tom Yewic, Michigan State catcher and Rose Bowl quarterback last year, and Jack Risch, another MSC star, have both been signed by the Detroit Tigers. The Cincinnati Reds signed Johnny Oldham, a San Jose State southpaw who once fanned 24 out of 27 batters in a game. Orland (Bud) Meacham, a star pitcher for the Fresno State freshmen last spring signed with the Red Sox, as did Gussie Suhr, Jr., a Santa Clara first baseman, with the Yankees.

Goodrich signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Ralph Morris, a catcher-outfielder for the University of Washington Frosh last spring, accepted a St. Louis Cardinal contract. Two other players who were in the NCAA playoffs also accepted contracts from major league clubs. Max Bunyard, a catcher-outfielder from Oklahoma A&M signed with the White Sox, and Ronald Owen, a pitcher from Lafayette college, agreed to terms with the Dodgers.

Oregon Slates
Miami in 1958

University of Oregon's football team will do a lot of traveling when the 1958 grid season rolls around, as a result of games arranged during the summer by Athletic Director Leo Harris.

The Ducks will travel to the University of Miami, in Florida, for a game the last week of September. The next weekend they will again hit the road, this time for a battle with the Oklahoma Sooners, perennial football titlists, in Norman, Oklahoma.

Counselors Urged To Meet Freshmen

YWCA Director Eileen Lindblad issued a reminder for Duckling counselors to take the freshman women assigned to them out for a coke sometime this week, or to arrange for some other type of meeting.

Under Panhellenic rules, Duckling counselors who are sorority members should arrange with a counselor from another house and her Duckling to meet together.
