

Flying Ducks Return Home

The "Dream Trip" is over for the University of Oregon basketball team and its coach, and although at times it seemed more like a nightmare than a dream, none of the 11 men involved would turn down a chance to go back under the same conditions.

The ball club arrived in Portland from Japan Sept. 9 to end a 21-game basketball tour of Korea, Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong, Thailand, Singapore and the Philippines, during which they won 18 of 21 games.

Coach Bill Borchert took nine players, including Max Anderson, Ray Bell, Kent Dorwin, Bob Hawes, Barney Holland, Gary McManus, Howard (Lefty) Page, Jerry Ross and Ken Wegner, on the month-long trip. University Business Manager J. Orville Lindstrom accompanied the team and acted as a combined financial manager and scorekeeper.

Ducks Open in Seoul

The Ducks opened their schedule in Seoul, Korea, Aug. 6, four days after leaving Portland. They won the opener against Chosen Christian university 54-42 in a blazing summer sun. Bell paced the Ducks with 10 points as 5000 people jammed a tiny outdoor high school court.

Oregon added two more victories in the next two days by defeating an all-star Korean college team 49-38 as Ross dumped in 10 points, and whipping a Korean Marine corps team 54-42 as Wegner scored 13. The Marines, reputedly Korea's best team, trailed all the way.

From Korea, the Webfoots moved on to Taipei, Formosa, where they beat the Chinese National All-Stars 47-46 after refusing to settle for a 42-42 tie at the end of regulation play. Wegner and Hawes dropped in 10 points apiece in a game played on a nice court with glass backboards and a nice roof—but no walls.

Manila was the next stop, and the Ducks lost their first game as the Philippines' Republic Supermarket team came from behind in the second half to win 57-48.

Webfoots Get Revenge

Oregon got back on the right track in this hotbed of Asian basketball the following night, however, as the squad slid by the YCO Redshirts, Philippine national champions, 59-52. Page led the Duck scoring with 23 points, a single game record for the trip. From Manila, the wandering Webfoots flew into Hong Kong where they defeated the Hong Kong All-Stars 75-62, and then continued on their way.

Bangkok, the next stop, is a city the team will never forget, Oregon won the first game in that city as they beat the Bangkok "Five Tigers" 74-54. Ross potted 13 points to lead the Ducks.

The second game started quietly enough, but with eight minutes gone in the first quarter a drenching monsoon rain struck the outdoor cement court. The referees called a 28 minute halt, but finally decided to go on with the game when the rain showed no signs of stopping.

The torrent slowed to a drizzle between halves but regained full force in the third quarter. Seven minutes into the second half the storm caused a short circuit in the court's generator, blowing out the lights temporarily.

In spite of the elements, the aptly named Webfoots managed to fashion a 54-41 win over the Bangkok team.

From Bangkok the team moved on to Singapore for four games with Singapore and visiting Hong Kong teams. Oregon swept all four as they beat the Chinese newspaper Nanyang Siang Pau team, Singapore league champs, 68-53; whipped an all-star Singapore team 81-58; defeated the visiting Amoy canned team from Hong Kong 74-62, and wound up by trouncing an all-Malaya team 88-61.

The Ducks lost their second game of the trip after going back to Manila. The Philippine National basketball team won 40-33 in spite of a 10-point effort by Hawes. Oregon came back the next night to even up the series by beating the same team 65-64 as Holland scored 14.

Filipinos Win

The Philippine team, which won the Asian Games title last year, won the rubber game of the series the following night 47-37.

From Manila, the Ducks went back to Formosa for a single game, coming from behind in the second half to beat the Nationalist All-Stars 54-49. Bob Hawes dropped in 16 points to pace the winners.

The tour wound up in Japan with the Ducks winning four straight games to run their record to 18 wins and 3 losses. Oregon put on a late rally to beat Rikkyo university 67-60 in the opening game, and Max Anderson scored 13 points as they whipped a team of Japanese all-stars 73-64 in the second game after trailing by 12 points at halftime.

A Far-East Air Force all-star team fell before the Ducks 79-64 in the third game. The Ducks wound up the tour by defeating Rikkyo university again, this time by a score of 59-43 as Anderson scored 13 points.

Stanford Opportunists Win Over Webfoots in Portland

Stanford's Indians, taking advantage of every break, scored two touchdowns in the first period and then hung on to beat Oregon 18-13 Saturday night in Portland's Multnomah stadium.

A near-capacity crowd of 30,214 saw Halfback Gordon Young pounce on an Oregon fumble on the Oregon 16 yard line on the first scrimmage play of the ball game to set up the first Stanford touchdown.

Juggling Act Scores

After two juggling plays Quarterback John Brodie fired a pass to Young on the Oregon seven. Young juggled the ball on the six, caught it one-handed and raced into the end zone for the score. Bill Tarr's conversion attempt was wide.

The second Indian touchdown was set up by a fluke pass play starting on the Stanford 34 yard line. Brodie faded back and threw a pass that both Dick James and George Shaw deflected up into the air. Stanford End John Stewart, running with the defenders, caught the ball and ran to the Oregon 16.

Brodie Tallies Second

Six plays later, Brodie carried the ball over right guard for two yards and the touchdown. Dorsey Atkinson's conversion attempt also was wide, making the score 12-0 for the Indians.

Oregon began to roll in the second quarter but could score only once. Midway in the period Dick James returned a Stanford punt 26 yards to the Stanford 27. Halfback Walt Gaffney made six on a pitchout, and Fullback Dean Van Leuven roared off tackle for 11 yards and a first down on the Stanford 10.

Van Leuven picked up three yards to the seven, but Gaffney lost five on a pitchout. With the ball on the 12, Shaw passed to End Hal Reeve in the end zone for six points. Shaw's kick was blocked by Stewart and the score stood at 12-6 at the half.

Stanford scored again in the third quarter when Brodie elected to gamble on fourth down and on its own 29, and with Keller either passing or running on 10 of 11 plays, moved to the Stanford three. James went over the middle for the final three yards, and Dick Pavlat's kick was good, making the score 18-13.
