

Recommendation: Ready Remedies for Runners

A reminder that bunions, calluses, bruised toes, and sore feet are in prospect for next Friday night, when men's campus living organizations invade the women's organizations for 10 minute periods of dancing, is presented in this photo. The occasion: the annual Bunion Derby.

Got any sure-fire remedies for bunions, calluses, bruised toes and sore feet? Better have them ready by next Friday for the annual Bunion Derby, sponsored by the Associated Women Students.

Petitions for general chairman and sub-committee chairmen for the annual event are due today in the ASUO box on the third floor of the Student Union. Chairmen are needed for the collection, publicity, prizes, judging and contact committees.

The "get-acquainted" dance will start at 7 p.m. next Friday, as representatives from all campus men's living organizations make a whirlwind tour of the women's living organizations.

A rotating trophy will be awarded the men's group with the largest percentage of its membership taking part in the tour. A trophy will also go to the women's house which records the largest number of visitors during the derby. Last year's winners were Phi Kappa Psi and Kappa Alpha Theta.

A charge of five cents is charged each man at each house, with the money collected going to the AWS scholarship fund. Each men's group is allowed only 10 minutes at each women's house, and all women's groups must be visited during the course of the tour for the men's house to qualify for the prize.

"My Aching Feet" screams this "victim" of the annual Bunion Derby, scheduled for Friday, Oct. 8. The Bunion Derby is sponsored by Associated Women Students, with proceeds going toward the AWS scholarship fund.

Dormitory Counseling Increases in Scope

Since deferred living began on the University campus four years ago, the program for the freshman dormitory counselors has been increasing in educational scope each year, according to Ray Hawk, associate director of student affairs.

This year the 23 counselors began their educational meetings for fall term Sept. 15. The three-day program was designed to instruct each counselor in the proper methods of organizing and running the freshman dormitory organization.

The program, under the direction of the office of student affairs, featured such speakers as O. Meredith Wilson, University president; William C. Jones, dean of administration; Donald DuShane, director of student affairs; Hawk, Bradford Elaine, counselor for men; Mrs. Golda P. Wickham, associate director of student affairs, and Virginia Kempston, counselor for women.

Counselors for this year include Bert Ferris, head resident for Vets dorms and French hall; Cameron Thom, assistant at French hall; Bob Basich and Bob Schooling, Cherney; Jim Light, Hunter; Phil White and H. Paul Keefe, Nestor; Bob Bowser and Ed Beeler, Sederstrom; Ted Schopf, head counselor and Mrs. Katherine DePue, housemother in Straub.

Carson hall counselors are Frances Telles and Mary Salazar, second floor; Mary Constans and Carol Ward, third floor; Galen Mills and Ruth Lear, fourth floor, and Joan Havland and Barbara DSpain, fifth floor.

Mary Cary and Sally McMillan are counselors for Hendricks hall. Diane David and Germaine LaMarche are counselors for Susan Campbell hall.

Homecoming Still Without Chairman

The 1954 Oregon Homecoming celebration is still without a chairman, according to Bob Summers, ASUO president. Petitions are due Tuesday, in time for the first ASUO Senate meeting of the school year.

The homecoming chairman directs all activities of Homecoming weekend, including queen selection, Homecoming Dance, noise parade, sign contest, and bonfire rally.

Washington State college will be Oregon's football opponent in this year's Homecoming game, Nov. 13.

Any student with a 2.0 grade point average is eligible to petition for the chairmanship. Regular ASUO petition forms may be picked up on the third floor of the Student Union. Petitions should be turned in at the ASUO President's office, 304 Student Union.

The senate will select the chairman at its meeting Tuesday.

P. L. Campbell became president of the University in 1902. Combining personal charm and humor with a certain idealism of character, Campbell, after whom Susan Campbell hall is named, gradually won his way in the state until he was far stronger than his institution.

Directed by Art French, who took charge of the bureau last year after several years as photographer. The photo bureau is now housed in a remodeled part of the library furnished especially for the various services performed for the University and other groups.

Included in its five rooms are an office, dark room, a studio, and facilities for photostating records and making colored slides.

Among the functions of the photographic bureau are the taking of student pictures for personal records and also the photography of athletic events and other activities for the Oregonian, and other publications.
