

Luncheon Marks J-School Opening

Ten distinguished journalists and educators will speak at a luncheon Saturday in the Student Union marking the formal opening of Eric W. Allen hall, new home of Oregon's school of journalism.

Among those who will address an expected crowd of 300 are:

Charles D. Byrne, chancellor of the state system of higher education; O. Meredith Wilson, president of the University; Lucien Arant, publisher of the Baker Democrat-Herald and president of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers association, and Du Lund, of Moore and Lund Advertising agency and president of the Oregon Advertising club.

Also speaking will be George Turnbull, former dean and professor emeritus of journalism, now associate editor of the Albany Democrat-Herald; Goodwin Thacher, professor emeritus of English and long-time member of the journalism faculty; Joe Gardner, editor of the Emerald; Robert C. Hall, associate professor emeritus of journalism; and Eric Allen Jr., city editor of the Medford Mail-Tribune and the 1953-54 recipient of the Allen Memorial journalism fellowship.

Sigma Delta Chi, Alpha Delta Sigma, and Theta Sigma Phi,

Lunch Reservation Deadline Nearing

The deadline for reserving a plate at the luncheon officially opening Eric W. Allen hall is 5 p.m. tonight. Only 45 places are left of the original 450.

Many events are planned including guided tours through the new building and speeches by prominent men in and out of the field of journalism. The luncheon will be at 12:30, Saturday and will cost $1.50 a plate.

Dean Gordon Sabine urges all journalism majors and anyone else interested to attend. "This is expected to be the largest formal opening that any building on the campus has received,"

MILL RACE

Group Agrees to Lift Stream to Past Level

By Chuck Andrus
 Emerald Reporter

The possibility of the restoration of the mill race was discussed at a meeting of the mill race committee of the city council Tuesday night.

The meeting was one of a series to decide once and for all what is to be the fate of the stream, according to Jim Light, student representative at the meeting. Light is chairman of

Oregana Open House Tonight, Says Editor

The Oregana will sponsor an open house tonight in the Student Union for all students interested in working on the 1955 yearbook, according to Oregana Editor Bob Southwell.

The affair will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the third floor Oregana offices with the upper staff on hand to greet all potential members. Refreshments will be served.

Editor Southwell stated that no journalism experience is necessary to work on the publication.

professional journalism fraternities, will hold reunions at the Eugene Hotel Friday, at 6 p.m. in conjunction with the dedication of the new building.

Tours of the new hall, which is named for its first dean, will be conducted throughout the day by journalism seniors.

Berkeley Bus Available, If...

At least one chartered bus will be available for students wishing to go to the University of California football game at Berkeley this weekend provided sufficient student interest is shown.

Students planning to make the trip should contact either Jerry Beall at the ATO house or the ASUO office by 5 p.m. today.

Twenty-nine students must make commitments by 5 p.m. if a bus is to be chartered.

Castell Talks Friday Night

Professor Aubrey Castell, head of the Philosophy department, will usher in the Friday night Browsing Room lectures with his discussion on "What Price Armchair Psychology."

"I would like to have a small audience," said Mr. Castell, "so that the atmosphere is informal, something like that of a fireside discussion."

Castell will speak on the question of the relation between "armchair psychology and psychology proper," and will also suggest some problems that belong in armchair psychology, and "to whom they are important."

Castell is a graduate of the University of Toronto where he secured his B.A. and M.A. and of the University of Chicago where he received his Ph.D.

the Mill Race committee of the ASUO Senate.

A plan to raise the level of the stream to its former height was agreed upon. This would be accomplished by the construction of an adequate dam at the stream's outlet.

The object of the plan would be eventually to provide recreational facilities along the stream for swimming, picnicking, canoeing, fishing, and horse-back riding.

In the past the millrace has played a big part in campus activities. Probably there is not a student at the University today who remembers the water carnival as the high point of "Junior Weekend," but in the 1930's "Canoe Fete" and "Junior Weekend" were the same thing. Each campus organization entered a decorated canoe in the parade contest. Trophies and prizes were awarded to winning entries.

Also ducking in the mill race provided an effective means of disciplining unruly fraternity pledges.

The city council's mill race committee is due to meet again in two weeks.

Senate Picks Jenson As Assembly Director

By Jackie Wardell
 Emerald Associate Editor

John Jenson, senior in speech, was named student director of the Oregon exchange assembly as the ASUO senate postponed until later the actual question of what kind, if any, of a screening committee should be set up for that assembly.

Jenson won the position over Mark Tapscott, also a speech senior.

The Senate also appointed Don Rotenberg senior class president and Betti Fackler and Dick Beckman, both juniors, as co-chairmen of Homecoming. Rotenberg's opponents were Gloria Lee and Len Calvert, senior class vice-president. Joanne Gerber and Martin Brandenfels, also petitioning as co-chairmen, were the other candidates for the Homecoming post.

Censorship Comes Up

The question of "censorship" of the exchange assembly, an issue arising after last year's assembly received unfavorable comment and subsequent banishment from the Portland high schools, came up during interviews of both Jenson and Tapscott.

Jenson, after promising there would be "no vulgarity if I direct the show," suggested a system of review of the show by a "select audience" after it was "put together."

He would present the show to a group selected by the Senate asking for written comments from these people. The Senate would then go over the comments with the director.

Favors Reviewal

Tapscott explained he favored some form of review of the show to relieve the director of the responsibility and to make the show more acceptable to the Portland schools.

When asked if he had understood he could have the director's position without competition Tapscott replied that he had understood no petitions were necessary. ASUO President Bob Summers explained he had not been aware others were interested in the job. Opening of petitions was not announced until Monday.

Light Heads Committee

Summers later in the meeting appointed Jim Light, AGS senator-at-large, to head a committee to investigate the proposed student entertainment board.

Hollis Ransom, UIS, Bud Hink-

son, AGS, Marcia Cook, AGS, and Len Calvert, UIS, were also named to the committee. Even the proposal to appoint a committee was met with some argument, especially from UIS members of the senate. "Censorship" was an issue in last spring's ASUO election.

Elections Set

In other business the senate set Nov. 10 as the date of the freshmen and graduate elections after a recommendation by Hollis Ransom.

Si Ellingson, Student Union director, was approved as permanent rally board director and Donna Shafer was approved as

Two Miss; Four Late for Meeting

Attendance: 18 (3 vacancies)

Time: 3 hours, 20 minutes

a member of the student-faculty University assembly committee. Miss Shafer's appointment is subject to the approval of University President O. Meredith Wilson.

Germaine La Marche, UIS, was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate an "outstanding senator" award to be presented annually. Mal Scott, UIS, and Gary West, AGS, complete the committee.

Summers also named Dorothy Kopp, Ann Blackwell and Bob Maier, all AGS, to a committee to investigate an essay contest to be possibly sponsored by the senate.

Morris Introduced

Victor P. Morris, dean of the business school, was introduced as the new faculty member of the senate. He replaces E. G. Ebbighausen, associate professor of physics, whose term expired.

Stan Blinkhorn, OSC student body president, will be present at the next senate meeting Oct. 14, Summers said. At that meeting two more senate vacancies will be filled.

YWCA Begins Drive For Members Today

Today marks the beginning of the 1954-55 membership drive for the YWCA which will continue until October 13th.

YWCA Junior advisors will present skits in the dorms this evening and will be accompanied this evening and will be accompanied by Mary Wilson, Camille Wold, and Carol Cross, senior officers, who will explain the program. The meetings will be held from 10 to 10:30 at Hendricks hall and Susan Campbell and 10:30 at Carson hall.

Freshmen women are urged to join the "Y" new diversified program. The "Y" sponsors the Kiddie Carnival, Heart Hop, International Fun Fest, and Frosh Commissions.

These Commissions are public affairs, religion and worship, service, and international affairs.

Freshman may also participate in other segments of the "Y" program. This program is the result of a year's planning and is designed to offer items of interest to both freshman and upperclassmen.

Broadcasts Begin Oct. 11 on KWAX

KWAX will be on the air again Oct. 11, at 6 p.m. The station will operate on 91.1 megacycles and will be heard throughout the Eugene urban area.

A variety of programs will be carried including: popular and classical music on record, campus talent of students and faculty members, dramatic productions, informative programs, and special events broadcasts.

KWAX is a member of the NAEB Tape Network which supplies dramatic, musical and informative programs throughout the world. The station also receives tapes from the British Broadcasting Company. Mr. Victor Heyden, instructor in speech, is the faculty advisor for KWAX.

Women's Tea For Thursday

The YWCA, Women's Recreation Association, and Associated Women students are sponsoring a joint tea for freshmen this Thursday at 3:30 to 5 p.m. on the second floor of Gerlinger Hall. Dress is campus clothes.

Duckling counselors are asked to pick up their ducklings and bring them to the tea. Ducklings without counselors are urged to come with friends.

Speeches will be given for each organization by Mary Wilson, Jane Bergstrom, and Sally Stadelman. Each organization will have a table so freshmen will have an opportunity to join the organization and sign up for activities.

McKay Talks On Thursday

Douglas McKay, former governor of Oregon now serving as Secretary of the Interior, will speak at a University assembly Thursday at 1 p.m., in the Student Union ballroom.

Members of the University Assembly committee say that McKay will probably speak on public power, although no definite topic has been announced.

McKay, who resigned the governorship in 1952 to join President Eisenhower's cabinet, is in Oregon in connection with congressional elections. He will speak at the Eugene hotel prior to the University engagement.

Contrary to a prior announcement, McKay will not be confined to non-political topics, according to Robert D. Horn, professor of English and chairman of the University Assembly committee.

Classes normally held Thursday at 1 p.m. will be postponed until the same hour Tuesday, Oct. 12, so that students may attend the assembly, Horn announced Monday.

Browsing Room Opens On Shakespeare Topic

Don Hunter, head of the University library's audio-visual department, will open the fall term browsing room series with a tape recording taken at the Ashland Shakespearean Festival. The lecture will begin at 7:30 this evening in the browsing room.

The program that Hunter recorded was adapted from a script played for Queen Elizabeth, September 12, 1598 at the Mitcham House while the Queen was traveling from Greenwich Palace to Nonsuch.

The music, according to Hunter, is original Elizabethan music.

Hunter will also discuss some of the technical aspects of recording at the Shakespearean Festival.

Homecoming Head Calls for Chairmen

Sixteen chairmanships for Homecoming committees must be filled by next week stressed Dick Beckman and Betti Fackler following their election as Homecoming co-chairmen Tuesday night.

"Petitions must be turned in to the petition box on the third floor of the Student Union by Tuesday, Oct. 12," explained Miss Fackler, who added that "students of all classes are eligible and encouraged to petition."

"Students are also encouraged to start thinking of a theme for Homecoming, which is just five weeks off," emphasized Beckman. Additional information on the theme contest will be announced soon, he added.

Committee chairmanships open by petition are as follows: Dance, finance, noise parade, promotion, publicity, luncheon barbeque, game entertainment, traditions, bonfire rally, queen selection, variety show, hospitality, bonfire building, theme selection, sign contest and committee banquet.

A general secretary position is also open by petition, the co-chairmen added.
