EMERALD

The Oregon Daily Emerald is published daily five days a week during the school year except examination and vacation periods, by the Student Publications Board of the University of Oregon. Entered as second class matter at the post office, Eugene, Oregon. Subscription rates: $5 per school year; $2 a term.

Opinions expressed on the editorial page are those of the writer and do not pretend to represent the opinions of the ASUO or of the University. Unsigned editorials are written by the editor; initialed editorials by the associate editors.

Senate Trends

The ASUO senate got off to its usual rather slow start Tuesday night, with the interviewing of petitioners and selection of various officers taking up most of its time.

We did notice a few encouraging trends in the student legislative body that could mean a good year for student government at the University of Oregon. The senate members seemed better informed on issues before the group than they have in past years. Almost all the members took an active part in discussion as contrasted to some of the do-nothings who have held senate seats in the past two years.

Business during the more than three hour meeting moved at a fairly fast pace, considering the amount of routine interviewing and selections that had to be done. ASUO President Bob Summers had taken the time to prepare a complete and informative agenda. Each senate member was presented with a copy of the constitution, but it was obvious some of them had never seen the document before. We hope they find time to read it before the next meeting.

Although Summers' own party—AGS—holds a majority on the senate, the group demonstrated that it did not intend to become a rubber stamp body, which will blindly approve anything he sponsors. Nor do we feel Summers wants it that way. In only one instance was voting conducted on a strict party line.

Attendance was better than average, with only two members missing the entire meeting. There was a marked tendency toward tardiness, two of the senators missing over an hour of initial business. Student representatives have a clear and definite responsibility to attend all senate meetings, and to get there on time.

A good year ahead for the senate? We certainly hope so and are willing to put our trust in the group if they continue to show the drive and energy that occasionally burst out in their first meeting.

Spirit on Trial

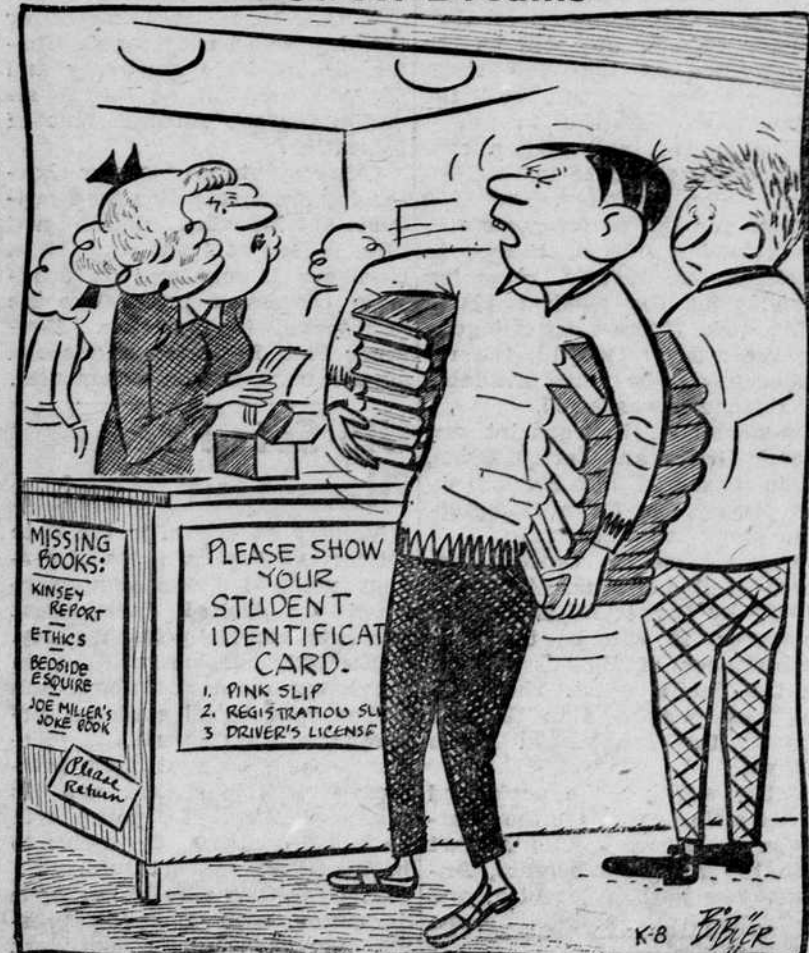

What's happened to Oregon spirit? We've been asked this question by alums, older students and faculty members. The question of the University's new students seems to be: Is there any Oregon spirit?

Students don't attend rallies, they sit on their hands at football games, they don't talk up Oregon. Most of the blame, of course, is placed on a losing team. You can't make students support a losing team, at least not at Oregon.

Or can you? Will Oregon students cheer their squad in defeat as well as victory? Tonight might be a good time to find out.

An elaborate rally has been planned for 7 at the SP depot. Oregon will be on trial. Why not give the team a great send-off for the crucial California game at Berkeley? Let's show them we're still behind them, win or lose.

Portraits Taken By Kennell-Ellis

Kennell-Ellis Studio has been selected to handle the 1955 Oregoniana portrait work.

Photographing started yesterday with Alpha Chi Omega and Alpha Omicron Pi. Alpha Delta Pi and Chi Omega also have pictures scheduled.

Women's portraits will be taken first and the men's will follow. Appropriate attire for the portraits are white blouses and blue blazers for the women and suits for the men. There will be positively no make-up shots. Retakes must be scheduled through Photographer Editor John Shaffer. They will be taken on Saturday's agenda.

Today's schedule will call for Alpha Phi and Gamma Phi Beta to have their pictures taken. Friday it will be Alpha Gamma Delta and Delta Zeta.

One person in each house will be designated by a member of the Oregoniana staff to pick up proofs from Kennell-Ellis three days after his house is taken and to return proofs to Kennell-Ellis after selections.

Two "sign up" sheets for appointments will be placed in each house. The person with the first appointment will take one list to the studio.

Rally Board Bids Due By Tuesday

A call for petitions for the position of special events chairman of the rally board has gone out from the office of Sally Stadelman, rally board chairman.

Applications for the spot are due in the petition box on the third floor of the Student Union by 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 12. Interviews for all applicants will be held, starting at 1 p.m. the same afternoon, on the third floor of the SU.

The position was left vacant during the summer when Maeua Hair, former chairman, transferred to Mills college.

Duties and responsibilities of this position include planning special events for rallies, game entrances, skits, and also acting as a voting member of the rally board.

ROTC Inspected By Army Chief

"I was impressed with the enthusiasm and interest on the part of university authorities, the instructor group and the cadets in the ROTC program," stated W. B. Carlock in his first visit to the Oregon campus. Col. Carlock, a West Point graduate, is the new chief of the Oregon Military district.

Remarking on the policy of admission of junior men to the advanced Army ROTC program, Col. Carlock said that the number accepted for advanced training their junior and senior years will "probably continue to be limited so selectivity may be exercised."

Col. Carlock was appointed Chief of the Oregon Military district last July. Thursday ends an "orientation" tour of the ROTC units at Oregon and Oregon State college which began Monday.

YWCA Explains Frosh Program

This year's YWCA freshmen program is made up of several general areas. The group will inquire into and search the fields of religion and worship through study groups. They will also look into the areas of public, campus and international affairs.

The group's function is to discuss politics, the campus and foreign countries respectively. More than anything else the meetings will be planned around what the freshmen women want to do.

During spring term the freshmen will advance to sophomore standing in the YWCA and can then go to work in the sophomore commission or in the upper class interest groups.

Young Republicans Announce Projects

Pre-election plans including a "Coffee with Cordon" reception were made at the first meeting of the Oregon Young Republican club held Tuesday evening.

The Cordon reception is to be given downtown on Tuesday, Oct. 11. Other coming events which the group is sponsoring or working on include a candidates' fair later in October, a reception for Gov. Patterson on Oct. 18 and a giant pre-election rally.
