Talkathon Champ Speaks to Students

Senator Wayne L. Morse will address a University assembly Thursday, Oct. 28. Morse has not announced his topic but is expected to speak on issues in Oregon's senatorial campaign.

Morse has been campaigning for State Senator Richard L. Neuberger, Democratic candidate for United States senator.

He was elected U.S. senator in 1946 following his resignation as dean of Oregon law school in 1944. He was re-elected in 1950 on the Republican ticket but resigned from that party during the 1952 elections to become an independent.

Senator Morse graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1923, received his master of arts degree from the same institution a year later, and got his bachelor of laws degree from the University of Minnesota in 1928. He received a teaching fellowship to Columbia university in 1928-29 where he earned his doctor of laws degree in 1932.

In 1929-30 Morse began teaching at Oregon as an assistant professor. The next year he was made associate professor of law, and in 1931 he became professor of law and dean of the law school.

Before his election to the senate, where he has become all-time talking champion by his 22 hour, 26 minute debate on tide-land oil rights, he served as arbitrator for the U.S. Department of labor, was a member of the Oregon State Crime committee, and was on several state and federal government commissions.

Singing Sergeants To Appear Here

The United States Air Force band and the Singing Sergeants will appear Oct. 26 in McArthur court at 8 p.m.

Organized in June 1942, the band has 100 members. Some members of the band formerly played for the Philadelphia orchestra, the Tommy Dorsey dance band, the Arthur Pryor concert band and other orchestras. They can play anything from opera to be-bop, or from symphony to swing.

In addition to numerous performances in the United States, the Air Force band has also played in Canada, England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, France, Belgium, Germany, Austria, The Netherlands and Denmark.

Conductor of the band is Col. George S. Howard. Lt. Robert L. Landers is director of the Singing Sergeants.

The program is being sponsored by the athletic department and the music school.

Postcard Says Puddles Found

Puddles III, Oregon's kidnapped mascot, has been found. That is the word from a two cent postcard which rally board adviser Si Ellingson received Monday morning.

The anonymous card reads: FOUND:—IF INTERESTED—

OREGON'S "PUDDLES" — CAN BE LOCATED AT THE BROOKMEAD FARMS, NORTH COOS RIVER, COOS BAY, OREGON.

The card was postmarked Coos Bay, Oregon; Oct. 9, 3:30 p.m.

It was addressed to: UNIVERSITY OF OREGON PEP SQUAD EUGENE OREGON

The mascot was kidnapped from the garage of the Multnomah hotel in Portland, the day following the Stanford-Oregon game. The Monday postcard is the first word that the rally squad has received concerning the duck's whereabouts.

An Oregon student from Coos Bay told the Emerald Monday afternoon that Brookmead Farms was the home of a Dr. Dix. He added that a Stanford sophomore from Coos Bay lived close to the Brookmead Farms.

Elmer Davis To Visit UO

Distinguished author and journalist Elmer Davis will speak on campus Nov. 18 as a part of the year-long dedication of Eric W. Allen hall. Gordon A. Sabine, dean of the school of journalism, announced Davis' appearance Saturday at the luncheon honoring the formal opening of the new building.

Davis has served on the staffs of the New York Times, the Columbia Broadcasting system, and the American Broadcasting system. During World War II he was director of the Office of War Information.

He is also the author of the best-selling book, "But We Were Born Free."

Other speakers who will come to the campus during the year in conjunction with the dedication program for the new home of the school of journalism include Thomas d'Arcy Brophy, New York advertising man; Palmer Hoyt, a graduate of the University of Oregon and now editor and publisher of the Denver Post, and Don Belding, Los Angeles advertising man.

Alpha Gam's Take First in Contest

A total of $447.30 which was collected at the annual Bunion Derby will go to the AWS scholarship fund.

The women's organizations collecting the most money per capita was Alpha Gamma Delta. Alpha Xi Delta placed second and Delta Zeta third. Records donated by Graves Music company will be presented to the first place winners in both the women's and men's organizations.

The rotating trophy will go to Delta Tau Delta and Lambda Chi Alpha who tied for first place with the largest percentage of men participating in the Derby. Yeomen was second and Sigma Chi third. Due to an error in tallying, yesterday's Emerald reported Delta Tau Delta as first place winners with Lambda Chi second and Yeomen third.

UF Campaign Ends Wednesday; Goal of $1000 As Yet Unattained

The United Appeal ends Wednesday, and as of late Monday, the quota of $1000 had not been met. If each person contributes 55 cents or more, the goal will be attained, according to Janet Gustafson, general student chairman of the campaign.

A permanent plaque and a miniature duck will be awarded to the men's and women's organizations which contribute the highest amount per capita. Two living organizations, Chi Omega and Kappa Kappa Gamma, have reported 100 per cent participation already.

Collections are being handled by members of Kwama and Skull and Dagger, sophomore women's and men's service honoraries. Kwama members in charge of contributions in the various women's living organizations are:

Oregana Schedules Photos For Carson, Zeta Tau Alpha

Pictures of Carson and Zeta Tau Alpha for the 1955 Oregana are scheduled to be taken today, according to Oregana Photography Editor John Shaffer.

Sigma Chi Calls For Candidates

Candidates for the title of Sweetheart of Sigma Chi are to be selected this week from the sorority pledge classes and from each floor in the dormitories.

One freshman woman will be selected to represent each group in the contest. Names of the nominees are to be turned in to Andy Nasburg, junior in business, at Sigma Chi before noon Friday.

Members of the fraternity will entertain the candidates for the first time at lunch next Tuesday. Five finalists will be named, with the winner ruling over the traditional Sweetheart ball.

White blouses and dark blue blazers will be the appropriate attire for the women. Blazers are provided by Kennell-Ellis, Oregana photographers.

Pictures will be taken from 9 a.m. on throughout the day. Oregana representatives will continue to visit each living organization at the evening meal the day before pictures are to be taken. They will remind the women of their appointments and answer any questions concerning the method of picture-taking and attire.

Shaffer again stressed the necessity of proper dress for the pictures. "It is especially important that the houses follow the specified clothing to be worn, so that the pictures will be neat and unified," said Shaffer.

Pictures of Highland House and Pi Beta Phi will be taken tomorrow, with University House and Carson, second floor, scheduled for Thursday.
