You've seen this Label many times

For more than 60 years manufacturers have placed this label in garments to show that the cloth has been treated with "Cravenette" water repellents to shed showers.

This label is found, by the millions, in new raincoats for men, women and children; in new jackets, snow suits, felt hats, uniforms and other items of apparel.

"Cravenette" is the trade marked name of the water repellents — known the world over as the first and finest — applied to any good cloth to make it water repellent. It identifies a process not a fabric.

In our own plant, using genuine "Cravenette" repellents:

- (1) — We can restore original repellency, impaired by age and wear and unavoidably lost in drycleaning.
- (2) — We can add repellency to garments not originally water repellent.

In both cases your garments will shed showers like new.

Send or bring us today, your raincoat, topcoat, jacket or other rainwear for this world famous "Cravenette" water repellent service —
