

Freshmen, Graduates to Go to Polls

5 ASUO Senators To Be Elected Today

Freshmen and graduate students will go to the polls today to elect their representatives to the ASUO senate.

Voting booths, located in front of Friendly hall, on Commonwealth square, in front of the library and in the Student Union opened at 8 a.m. and will close at 6 p.m.

Freshmen will elect a president, vice-president and two representatives. Graduate students will choose one representative.

Booth Captains Named

Joy Bellarts, Darlene Crawley, Carl Groth and Roberta Toner are serving as booth captains in today's election. Two attendants will be present at each voting booth to hand out and receive ballots and answer any questions.

All candidates will be listed on a single ballot with the office for which they are running listed after their name. Voters are to number the candidates in order of their choice, with the candidate receiving the most number one votes being elected president.

Voting Suggestions Listed

Number one vote should be given to only one candidate. Freshmen have been advised to give their number one vote to their choice for president, vice-president or first choice for representative their number two vote, and so on down the list according to preference.

Once the two top presidential candidates are determined, the rest of the presidential candidates will be declared defeated. The representatives having the most high preference votes will then be determined and declared elected.

Oregana Plans Include Divider Pages Addition

Five divider pages are being placed at strategic points throughout the 1955 Oregana, according to Dean McMullen, layout editor.

The pages will contain colored art work prepared by Bob Fudge, art editor, and the Oregana art staff.

This is the first time in many years that the Oregana has had dividers in the book.

Queen Selection Continues

Voting for the Homecoming queen will continue today and Thursday at booths in the Student Union and the Co-op.

Booths are open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Students must present registration cards in order to vote.

The queen will be announced and crowned at the variety show Friday night after the Homecoming noise parade and bonfire-rally. She will reign over all Homecoming weekend activities including the Washington State college-Oregon football game and the Homecoming dance Saturday.

Pictures of the five finalists, Ann Erickson, Patty Fagan, Audrey Mistretta, Lois Powell and Mary Jane Rud, are on display in the SU and the Co-op. Brief sketches about Miss Erickson and Miss Fagan follow. Interviews of the three other candidates will appear in Thursday's Emerald.

Ann Erickson

The blonde, green-eyed candidate of freshman men's dorms, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

She is a junior in general social sciences and wants to teach history or social problems in a Eugene area high school after her graduation.

Ann graduated from Eugene high school and lists sewing, reading and swimming as her favorite hobbies. She is a member of the Co-op board and is centennial chairman of the YWCA.

She is also active in Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's scholastic honorary, and is on the YWCA cabinet. Both her parents are Oregon graduates.

Patty Fagan

Pi Beta Phi's blue-eyed Patty is the candidate of Sigma Chi, Chi Psi, Pi Kappa Alpha, Delta Tau Delta and Phi Kappa Psi. She is from Lake Grove and a graduate of Lincoln high school.

During her freshman year, Patty was chosen Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, and she was on the rally squad both her freshman

Button Sales In SU, Co-op

Homecoming buttons are now on sale to students at the Student Union main desk and the Co-op. Price for students is 10 cents.

Members of Kwama, Skull and Dagger, Phi Theta Upsilon and sorority and fraternity pledge classes began selling the 5000 Homecoming buttons in downtown Eugene and Springfield last week. Price for townspeople is 25 cents.

The buttons will remain on sale all week and will be available for alumni and other Homecoming weekend guests at the registration desks Friday and Saturday, at the Saturday luncheon and at the Oregon-Washington State college football game.

Buttons also will be sold in living organizations this week. Members of the promotion committee will give flying speeches in houses and dorms during the dinner hour to promote the button sales.

Money for the button sales is used to finance Homecoming activities, according to Martin Brandenfels, finance chairman.

'Half-Dozen' Band Performs for Fund

Baker's Half Dozen dixieland band will present a performance at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, in the Student Union ballroom.

The Inter-fraternity council, which is sponsoring the performance, will collect donations of 50 cents or more each from members of the audience.

Proceeds will go to the Ken Sweitzer memorial fund.

The band began last winter term. Since that time the group has played at Piluso's and made an appearance with the Delta Rhythm boys.

Lettermen Report Tradition Breakers

Members of the Order of the 'O' are to turn in names of Homecoming tradition violators at a noon meeting today at Phi Delta Theta, according to Doug Clement, president.

Traditions went into effect Monday and will continue to be observed through Saturday.

Violators will be asked to report to the Oregon Seal in front of the Student Union at 3 p.m. Friday for punishment.

A tradition which has been added to the list to be observed by all students this week is the wearing of Homecoming buttons. Buttons are available at the SU and the Co-op. Price is 10 cents.

Patterson Addresses IFC Council Retreat

A surprise visit by Governor Paul Patterson was one of the highlights of the Inter-fraternity council retreat held Saturday and Sunday at Yachats.

Governor Patterson spoke informally to the group Saturday afternoon.

The theme of this year's retreat was co-operation between dormitories and fraternities in the interest of the freshmen. Two meetings were held, one Saturday night and one Sunday morning.

The problems of enforcement of traditions, academic guidance and conduct of freshmen were

Queen Crowning Planned Friday

Varied Entertainment To Include Chorus

Highlight of the Homecoming variety show Friday night at McArthur court will be the announcement and crowning of the Homecoming queen.

The variety show will follow the noise parade and bonfire-rally Friday. The noise parade is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. with the bonfire to follow immediately.

The queen will be crowned before the show begins and the entire production will be given in her honor.

Following the general Homecoming theme, "Sh-Boom, Hello, Hello Again," the variety show will include a dancing and singing chorus, vocal, dance and comedy numbers, a magic act and numbers by "The Upstarts" of Roger Middleton's band and by the "Baker's Half Dozen."

discussed at the Saturday evening meeting. The goal for which the group is striving is co-operation between the dormitories and fraternities for both individual and group problems of freshmen.

Ray Hawk, associate director of student affairs, awarded three trophies to fraternities. Sigma Alpha Mu received the award for the best grade average. Lambda Chi Alpha was awarded the Sigma Chi trophy for the greatest improvement in scholarship and Tau Kappa Epsilon received the award for the pledge class with the best grade average.

Community service projects by fraternities was the subject of the Sunday morning meeting. Such projects as Christmas parties and "Help" week were discussed, along with a general evaluation of the fraternity system.

Thirty men participated in the retreat. Fraternity presidents, head freshmen dormitory counselors, Hawk and Brad Blaine, counselor for men, attended.

Hall to Use Novelists To Illustrate Lecture

James B. Hall, assistant professor of English, will speak on "Some Modern Poets," today at 7:30 in the Student Union browsing room.

He will illustrate the continuance of poetry and the main impulses of poetry through readings from the works of Robert Penn Warren, Karl Shapiro and Robert Lowell.

Library Plans Book Display

A collection of 35 books, representing the best examples of book making produced in the West during 1953, are on display in the University library.

Selections for the 13th annual Western Books exhibition were made by the Rounce and Coffin club of Los Angeles. The display will remain in the library until Nov. 20 and will then continue at a succession of Western cities and universities until July, 1955.

According to Tyrus Harmsen, chairman of the selection board of the Rounce and Coffin club, the exhibit books are considered results of satisfactory design combined with capable craftsmanship and are an indication of the type of printing and publishing done in the western United States.

Pictures Planned For Phi Deltas, Fijis

Oregana pictures of Phi Delta Theta and Phi Gamma Delta will be taken today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

White shirts, dark ties and dark blue suits will be worn by the men. Pin-striped suits will not be acceptable.

Only exceptionally good excuses will merit re-scheduling of pictures, according to John Shaffer, photography editor.

Photos of Yeomen and Omega hall are scheduled for Thursday.

Ebbighausen Plans Astronomy Work

E. G. Ebbighausen, associate professor of physics, is at the Mt. Wilson observatory in California this week doing special work in astronomy.

Ebbighausen will do research on Lambda Tauri, three stars that rotate around each other.

Ebbighausen received permission to use the Mt. Wilson facilities through the director of the Mt. Wilson and Palomar observatories.

He is hoping for clear weather since he has only five scheduled nights for observations.

General Electric Plans Interviews

Doctoral candidates in physics, chemistry, mathematics and biology interested in jobs with General Electric will be interviewed today.

D. W. McClenegan, manager of the education and training section, is looking also for a man in econometrics. Interviewees should make appointments with Mrs. Alice Monjay in the physics department, Ext. 277.

ANN ERICKSON
Plans to Teach History

year and this year. She is a sophomore adviser and a member of the executive cabinet of the YWCA.

Both Patty's mother and her brothers attended the UO which is part of the reason she came here. An elementary education major, she wants to teach in an Oregon grade school, preferably the fourth or fifth grade.

Weaving material for skirts has been a hobby of Patty's for several years, and she likes to swim and watch all kinds of athletic events. She also is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, women's scholastic honorary.
