A Day for Thinking

On this day, 36 years ago, the world celebrated the end of the war to end all wars. Armistice Day, 1918, was a day of joy and festivity for the people of a disheartened world.

Armistice Day, 1954, should be a day of serious thought. The First World War did not end all wars. On the contrary, in the nearly two score years since the end of that war, a second and greater conflict has ravaged the earth; minor wars have been fought in almost every corner of the globe; a greater feeling of tension and mistrust exists today than perhaps ever before in the history of mankind.

No war of consequence is being fought today. The war of the battlefields has ended. And yet, the war against the other enemies of man still rage. The misery, hunger and homelessness that followed in the wake of the wars of this century remain. Refugees and war orphans by the hundreds of thousands live on as mute testimony to the terror and fear of war.

On this Armistice Day (or as it is now called, Veterans' Day) we well might think of these homeless and starving legions, the pathetic aftermath of the world conflicts. Their future is a rather frightening and awe-inspiring challenge to the rich and comfortable of our great nation.

Homecoming Violators To Receive Punishment

Violators of Homecoming traditions are asked to report to the Oregon Seal in front of the Student Union at 3 p.m. Friday, according to Doug Clement, Order of the 'O' president.

Enforcement of the Homecoming traditions began Monday and will continue through Saturday.

All offenders will be punished Friday. Men are to wear old clothes and women should wear pedal pushers. Men will be hacked, but the punishment for women offenders is still undecided.

Sign Themes Due Today at 5 p.m.

Living organizations must turn in Homecoming sign themes to Cynthia Vincent at Kappa Alpha Theta or Barkey Herman at Chi Psi before 5 p.m. today in order to qualify their signs for contest awards, according to Miss Vincent.

Signs must be finished by 5 p.m. Friday and judging will begin at 5:30 p.m. All signs will follow the general Homecoming theme, "Sh-Boom, Hello, Hello Again."

Each sign will be judged on the following points:

1. Adherence to the central theme. (Stress should be placed on "Hello, Hello Again" and not on the words of the song, "Sh-Boom." However, the song may be used as background music.)
2. Effort.
3. Originality, lighting, moving parts and music.
4. Impressiveness.

Rotating trophies for first, second and third places in both men's and women's divisions will be awarded at the variety show Friday night.

Winners of the women's division trophies last year were Delta Delta Delta, first; Sigma Kappa, second, and Chi Omega, third. In the men's division, winners were Delta Tau Delta, first; Campbell Club, second, and Sigma Chi, third.

Campus Leaders Journey to OSC

Ray Hawk, associate director of student affairs, and four Oregon student leaders will meet with Oregon State officials and student leaders in Corvallis today to discuss inter-campus vandalism raids and to co-ordinate student activities in conjunction with the Oregon-Oregon State college football game.

The Oregon group will consist of Bob Summers, ASUO president; Joe Gardner, editor of the Emerald; Doug Clement, president of the Order of the 'O'; Tom Gaines, yell king, and Hawk.

Oregana to Schedule Picture Appointments

Students who have not yet had pictures taken for this year's Oregana and wish to do so are to drop into the Oregana offices on the third floor of the Student Union today between 4 and 5 p.m. to meet with a representative of the photography staff.

Appointments for Oregana pictures will be made for graduating seniors not affiliated with any living organization, students who live in campus organizations but who did not keep or make appointments for some valid reason, and any students not connected with a living organization, who wish to be included in the yearbook.
