

AAUW Offers Awards To University Women

Fellowships for university women are again being offered by the Oregon division of the American Association of University Women.

Requirements for eligibility for the award are: (1) the woman must be a resident of Oregon and a graduate of a standard college approved by the AAUW, (2) she must have at least one year of graduate work or its equivalent in practical work along her chosen line of study.

The holder of a fellowship must have good health, excellent character, ability and initiative. It is desired that candidates show evidence of creative ability and submit definite plans for research.

A committee of five appointed by the AAUW president, with the approval of her executive board makes the awards. The committee includes a woman member of the faculty of each Oregon college accredited by the National AAUW.

The fellowship award is made in the sum of $1500 which is raised by means of a per capita tax levied upon each AAUW member in Oregon.

All AAUW members are urged by Golda Wickham, dean of women, to turn in names of candidates who might qualify for awards to the State Chairman, Eleanor Stephens, Oregon State Library, Salem, Oregon.

Drive Sponsors Diabetes Checks For UO Students

Free tests for diabetes will be given this week in conjunction with National Diabetes week, Dr. F. N. Miller, director of the health service, has announced.

Each fall for the past six years, the American Diabetes association has sponsored a National Diabetes Detection drive. This year the drive will be held Nov. 14 to 20.

The tests will be given at the University infirmary. Dr. Miller said there will be no delay when taking the test and he hoped more people would take advantage of this opportunity than have in previous years.

It is estimated that there are over one million undetected cases of diabetes in the United States, Dr. Miller stated.

Amateur TV Program Yields Research Fund

The Lane county chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation plans to carry on an extensive research program at the University in the near future.

The foundation hopes to set up research programs to help discover the causes, means of better treatment and ways of aiding sufferers of the disease.

The research program has been made possible by $10,000 in donations which were contributed to the foundation after a three-hour television show Sunday night over KVAL.

The show was put on by more than 150 amateur performers.
