

CIVIL WAR

Game Rally Set Tonight

Preparations for the 58th "Civil War" between Oregon and Oregon State begin today with a pre-game rally at the Student Union. Theme of the rally is "The South Shall Rise Again."

The theme has reference to the fact that Oregon has not defeated Oregon State since 1948, according to Sam Vahey, rally board publicity chairman.

Saturday morning Oregon students will form a car parade in

Time has been allowed for students who plan to attend the Eugene-University Civic Music association concert after the rally, Vahey said.

"Beaver Tricks—Make it Six" is the theme of Homecoming at Oregon State. OSC homecoming ceremonies will begin tonight with the traditional bonfire. A beef barbecue for alumni will precede the football game.

Middleton to Play

Oregon's Roger Middleton and his 13-piece band will play for the Homecoming dance, to which Oregon students have been invited by the OSC Homecoming committee.

This will be the first Oregon-OSC game to be played in the new Parker stadium, completed last year. Last year Oregon State won at Hayward field, 7-0.

River Boats Yet!

A river boat will transport five Oregon students to the Oregon-OSC football game at Corvallis Saturday. The adventurous Ducks planned to leave Eugene for Corvallis at noon today via the Willamette river.

They hoped to arrive at the crew house in Corvallis sometime around noon Saturday. The five sailors are: Gary Davis, Joe Kirkwood, Gory Jackson, Ben Lloyd and Vance Taylor.

the Fiji parking lot for the trip to Parker stadium in Corvallis. The rally board has requested that students who leave for the game early join the car parade at the south city limits of Corvallis on Highway 99.

Yell Revived

The rally board announced Thursday that plans have been made to revive the "B.O." yell, used four or five years ago in the Oregon-Oregon State game.

Campus living organizations have been asked to paint signs for the rally. Sally Stadelman, rally board chairman, said the signs should be of the type used at political rallies. House social chairmen will be responsible for signs for living organizations.

Vahey announced that the Oregon State homecoming queen will be featured with a skit during the rally. The rally is scheduled for 6:45 p.m. at the Student Union.

Democrats Asserting No Ultimatum to Morse

PORTLAND-(AP)—The Democratic party of Oregon is not issuing any ultimatum to try to force Sen. Wayne Morse into the party, the state Democratic chairman asserted here Wednesday.

The chairman, Howard Morgan, described as "unfortunate" a statement Tuesday by Monroe Sweetland, the Democrats' national committeeman for Oregon. One Portland political writer said Sweetland's statement was a "quasi-ultimatum" to Morse to register as a Democrat.

"The attitude of the Democratic party in Oregon toward Sen. Morse has been well understood by him for more than a year. As state chairman I have talked with him several times on the subject, and so has National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

Nothing has been added to our conversation by the unfortunate and widely publicized statement, described by the press as a quasi-ultimatum, which was made Tuesday," Morgan said.

Morse had said previously he planned to run in 1956 as an independent, but possibly might register as a Democrat to join others campaigning against Republican "reactionaries."

Sweetland commented that the Democrats would welcome Morse, but added that if Morse ran as an independent he could not expect the Democrats to help him by putting up a weak Democratic candidate.

Morgan said he was pleased with Morse's statement that he might join a group of Democrats who are "fighting the Republican machine."

"As head of my party and as one of the group to which Senator Morse referred, I am positive that no reasonable member of that group could have been thoughtless enough to confront Morse with anything which might be described as an ultimatum," Morgan said.

Meanwhile a Portland newspaper telephoned Morse in Washington, D.C., seeking amplification of his intentions, and quoted the senator as saying that if in the end he decides not to run as an independent he will run as an "independent Democrat."

500 OSC Tickets Remain on Sale

About 500 student tickets are still available for the Oregon-Oregon State football game, according to the Athletic ticket office.

All seats in the student section are reserved, and athletic department officials have requested students who plan to sit together at the game to purchase their tickets together.

There are also about 75 other reserved seats available at $4 each. Price for the student tickets is $2 each. Students will have to present both their student body and athletic cards as well as tickets at the gate, the athletic department reported.

Academies Reject Subject of Debate

The U.S. Military academy is attempting to impose "militaristic thought control upon universities," according to Herman Cohen, district chairman of the National Debate tournament and assistant professor of speech.

The cadets have refused to debate the topic, "Resolved: That the United States Should Extend Diplomatic Recognition to the Communist Government of China." They have suggested that farm price supports be discussed as an alternate topic.

Too Controversial

The Naval academy also said that they "will not debate an established public policy." The Navy, according to Cohen, said

Oregana Wants Candid Shots

University students now may turn in candid pictures to the Oregana for possible publication in the yearbook.

The photos may be turned in to Nancy Lidbeck, member of the photography committee, at the Oregana office any day from 4 until 5 p.m.

Pictures should be clear, with the name and address of the owner written on a slip of paper and attached to the snap.

Not Ordinary

Photos may be of any campus activities not ordinarily seen in yearbooks. Snaps of games, parties, picnics or any other social events will be accepted for consideration.

Students will receive no money for their snaps, and the Oregana will not return the photos to them, unless the pictures are called for. Negatives need not be turned in.

Oregana pictures of Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Nu will be taken today.

Dark Suits Requested

Men will wear white shirts, dark ties and dark blue suits. Pin-striped suits will not be acceptable.

John Shaffer, Oregana photography editor, has stressed that students wishing makeup pictures to be scheduled must appear at the Oregana office between 4 and 5 p.m. today through Wednesday. No pictures will be rescheduled after that day.

Philadelphia house and Pi Kappa Alpha pictures are scheduled to be taken Monday. Pi Kappa Phi and Sederstrom hall will have their pictures taken Tuesday.

Operatic Star Sings Tonight

Astrid Varnay, famed Metropolitan Opera star, will give a concert tonight at 8 p.m. in McArthur court.

This concert will be presented as part of the Eugene-University Civic Music association concert series. Admission for the concert is by season ticket or by presentation of a University student body card.

Miss Varnay's Eugene concert is one of a series of performances which will take her throughout the United States. Her tour began in the early part of November and she will not return to her home in New York until Dec. 12.

German Songs

The program for the evening will include a group of German songs which Miss Varnay will do in English.

She told the Emerald that her reason for singing these songs in English is for the benefit of an English audience.

The soprano will also do a group of Italian songs in Italian, and a series of French numbers in French.

Her operatic selections for the concert will include an aria by Richard Strauss, and an aria from Verdi's "Don Carlo."

No Wagner Arias

Miss Varnay, who is a well-known Wagnerian singer, will not sing any arias of Wagner in her concert.

She said, however, that she plans to use Wagnerian arias for encores.

Miss Varnay will continue singing concerts until around the first of the year, when she will make her first appearance with the Metropolitan Opera in the Opera "Tannhauser."

"This opera will be broadcast over the Metropolitan Opera of the Air," Miss Varnay said.

Husband Accompanies Her

Appearing with Miss Varnay as her accompanist will be her husband, Herman Weigert, who is equally well known in the world of music.

He has been closely associated with many of the foremost operatic figures in the past three decades. Weigert has served as coach and assistant conductor for the Met for several years.

It was Weigert who readied the great Kirsten Flagstad, Miss Varnay's predecessor, in the Bruennhilde and Isolde roles, for her Metropolitan successes.

Miss Varnay arrived in Eugene Wednesday and has been resting for her performance at the Osburn hotel.

IFC Examines Pledge Fees

Only a small part of the $5 fee charged each pledge is used by the Inter-fraternity council, Andy Berwick reported to the IFC Thursday night.

Berwick told the group that the committee investigating how the money is spent has not yet found all the facts but that it seems most of the money is used to finance orientation week and the Ore-N-ter.

If this is the case, Berwick said the Ore-N-ter should devote more space to fraternity life since the pledge fee seems to be the only source of revenue for the pamphlet.

Ward Cook reported that the IFC has collected $721.24 for the Sweitzer memorial fund and that there is still some money outstanding.

The IFC decided to urge houses of about the same size be paired for intramural games and to see that there be both an independent and a Greek officiating at games between fraternities and independent living organizations.

The group noted a suggestion made by Mrs. Golda Wickham, associate director of student affairs, that house-hopping at house dances to be held to a minimum.
