

DAY AT THE ZOO

had no corner on the horrible pun market).

The Wheezers had built a new Coliseum for the game, and the Gucks said how lovely and tried not to notice that the Coliseum was really only a hole dug in the ground with a little rainwater in the bottom. The Gucks lined up along one side, looking small, and the Wheezers lined up along the other, looking like Wheezers, which was no good on a day the wind wasn't right. As the Wheezer team took the field, the Wheezers all chanted:

"Slice 'em in the jugular, kick and slug,

Maim 'em with a broken open sheep-dip jug;

Stomp 'em in the stomach, pump 'em full of lead,

Bang, bang, ayeeeee! aaarrgh! Gucks, you're dead!"

very loudly. Which was enough to make you concede the game, if you were timid.

However, the Gucks were not feeling too terribly timid that year because they had Real George, who at about that time came onto the field with the other Gucks. The Gucks gave a liberal arts type yell, which follows:

"Guckland, Guckland uber alles (Even though your trees aren't tall);

Richard, Richard, por favor

Open up that touchdown door;

Gather ye first downs while ye may—

We want a touchdown s'il vous plait!"

First thing, just out of habit, the Wheezers made a touchdown. But then the inevitable happened; it became obvious that this theory about you can have too much of a good thing applies to tails. The Wheezers spent the entire game trying to carry their tails around the field, while Real George went around making touchdowns and things which help considerably in winning football games.

The Wheezers were at a complete loss. They were so surprised that they couldn't eat their self-congratulatory dinner. The Indians, when they heard about it, seriously considered

Deadline Set Tuesday For Draft Applications

Deadline for submitting applications for the Dec. 9 selective service college qualification test is midnight Tuesday.

Application blanks and information bulletins, with sample questions, may be obtained by students from the nearest local board. Students are to mail applications to Science Research Associates, Chicago, Illinois.

In order to apply for the test, a student must intend to request deferment as a student, taking a full-time course and not have previously taken the test.

The next scheduled test will be April 21, 1955. Students whose academic year ends in January are urged to take the Dec. 9 test so they will have a test score in their cover sheets before the end of the academic year.

At that time their boards reopen and reconsider their cases to determine whether they should be deferred as students.

Present criteria for deferment as an undergraduate student are either a satisfactory score (70) on the selective service college qualification test or specified coming back from Stanford, since things were slow at Stanford. And the Gucks went home slapping each other on the bill and saying toujours gai and go to hell, and mixed several tubsful of Coca Cola on the rocks.

rank in class (upper half of the males in the freshman class, upper two-thirds of the males in the sophomore class, and upper three-fourth of the males in the junior class).

Students accepted for admission to, or in attendance at, a graduate school after July 1, 1951, satisfy the criteria if they ranked among the upper one half of the male members of their senior class or made a score of 75 or better on the test.

Graduate students admitted after Jan. 1, 1955 must have ranked among the upper one fourth of the male members of their senior class or make a score of 80 or better on the qualification test.

Philadelphia, Pi Kappa Pictures Scheduled

Oregon to Choose Best Dressed Male

A present-day "Beau Brummell" will be selected from Oregon's male students in contest which begins today and ends Dec. 3.

Men's living organizations will nominate a "Beau Brummell" candidate at house meetings tonight. The names of contestants are to be turned in to Barbara Wilcox at Sigma Kappa or Evelyn Nelson at Hendricks.

The winner of the contest will receive a dinner, limousine service, a cashmere sweater, a year's theater pass, a leather billfold, and a trophy from MGM. A similar contest at the University of Illinois and the selection of best-dress Portland businessmen has aided in placing a new emphasis on men's attire.

Gamma Men Cheer Ducks From Plane

Oregon spirit hit a peak at Saturday's victory over OSC when four Gamma hall men cheered their team from 1500 feet above Parker stadium in a small airplane.

Pilot Paul Geuy and his three passengers, Hal Williams, Jack Bilben and Bob Koutek rented a plane from McKenzie airfield and circled the OAC playing field. They dropped three rolls of toilet tissue which were enthusiastically applauded by the grounded fans.
