

Marilyn Stratford, Mark Tapscott Lead Casting for UT Christmas Production

Marilyn Stratford, junior in history, and Mark Tapscott, senior in speech, have been cast as leads in the forthcoming production of "Hannele."

Horace W. Robinson, associate professor of speech, will direct the play. "Hannele" was written by Gearhart Hauptmann and will begin a five performance run Dec. 3 on the main stage of the University theater.

Miss Stratford has been cast in the title role. She was last seen as Betty Farris in "The Crucible."

Tapscott makes his University theater debut in the double role of Gottwald, the schoolmaster, and "The Stranger." Tapscott was with the local Cascade players this summer. He played the title role in "Mr. Roberts," the architect in "The Moon Is Blue" and was featured in "Anything Goes" and "Club Intime."

Joan De Lap Pearce, winner of the best supporting actress award for her role in "All the King's Men," has been cast as Sister Martha. Mrs. Pearce appeared last year in "Richard II" and as Tituba in "The Crucible."

The four inmates of the almshouse, where Hannele is taken by Gottwald after he finds her in the storm, will be played by Helen Adams, graduate in speech; Donna Barrick, sophomore in speech; Winston Rust, senior in speech, and Ron Morgan, senior in speech.

Morgan, Miss Barrick and Mrs. Adams make their University theater debuts in "Hannele." Rust, seen last year in "Richard II" and "The Crucible," spent last summer with the Cascade players. He had roles in "Anything Goes," "Mister Roberts," "Club Intime," and "Sing Ho for a Prince."

John Jensen, senior in speech, winner of the best supporting actor award, will play Mattern, Hannele's father. Jensen has spent the last two summers with the SPA theater in Saratoga Springs, New York, and became a member of Actor's Equity last summer.

Mary Whittaker, junior in speech, will play the Deaconess in "Hannele." Miss Whitaker was last seen by campus audiences in "One Touch of Venus" last spring.

Mistretta, Hudson Angels
The singing angels will be played by Audrey Mistretta, senior in music, and Aileen Hudson, graduate in music. Miss Mistretta has been in "Brigadoon," "The Man," "The Old Maid and the Thief," "One Touch of Venus," and was with the Cascade players last summer.

Other cast members include Tom Colvin, Danny Peters, freshman in art; Pat McCormick, junior in speech; Carol Emmons and Joyce Niedringhaus, both freshmen in liberal arts; Cathy Newman, sophomore in liberal arts, and Melva Lester, junior in speech.

Educators to Attend Building Meeting

Plans are underway for the second annual school building conference to be held on campus Dec. 2, 3 and 4, according to M. C. Romney, associate professor of education, who is chairman of the planning committee.

The conference is being held for the benefit of Oregon school superintendents and school board members. Also in attendance will be architects, engineers and general contractors from Oregon and Washington.

Featured speakers at the conference will be Lawrence Perkins, an architect from Chicago, Ill., and Charles Gibson, supervisor of school planning in California. Gibson is a past president of the national council on schoolhouse construction.

Another participant in the program will be Donald Edmundson, Portland architect.

Paul B. Jacobson, dean of the school of education, will preside at the opening sessions of the conference. Scheduled to give welcoming speeches are O. Meredith Wilson, president of the University, and Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction.

William C. Jones, dean of administration, will speak on the topic, "Democracy in Action," at the Friday noon luncheon. Wallace Ruff, assistant professor of landscape architecture, and Eldon L. Johnson, dean of the graduate school, will also speak at the luncheon.

Johnson will lead a panel discussion, "Site Planning and Utilization." Also acting as panel leaders will be Sidney Little, dean of the school of architecture, and Donald E. Tope, professor of education.

The conference is being sponsored by the Oregon district superintendent's association, the state school board association, the state department of education and the University schools of architecture and education.

Navy Flight Training Tests to be Scheduled

Written and physical examinations for navy flight training will be given at the naval reserve training center Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

Any man who has two years of college, or who will complete two years of college work by the end of the current school year, is eligible to take the examinations. Those who take the tests will not be obligated to enroll in the program. Successful participants may enter navy flight training anytime before reaching their 25th birthday.

Persons failing to make a passing grade may retake the test after one year.

The written tests will begin at 6:30 Tuesday, with the physical exams to be given at 8:30 Wednesday for any men who wish to enroll in the program within 30 days. All other successful participants will be given the physical examination at the time they make application to enter navy flight training.

Navy flight training consists of a 15 week pre-flight course, eight months of basic flight training and approximately five months of advanced training.

Graduating naval cadets are given their choice of commission as either ensign in the naval reserve or as second lieutenant in the marine corps reserve.

After flight training naval and marine pilots serve 30 months on active duty with the operating forces.

Flight training pay is $109 per month. After receiving their wings and commission, naval and marine aviators are paid $438 monthly including pay and allowances.

All naval aviation cadets report to Pensacola, Fla., for flight training.

"We have found," Lt. Cmdr. W. J. Hampton from the Seattle Naval Air Station said, "that many students cannot take time from their studies to make the trip to Seattle for the tests, so we are bringing the entire examining team here."

Senate Race Costs Listed

PORTLAND-(AP)—Senator Guy Cordon spent $4 for every $3 spent by Democrat Richard L. Neuberger with the total of the two reaching nearly a quarter-million dollars in their recent campaign for the senate, The Oregonian has estimated.

The newspaper said the estimate was based on a study of campaign expenses reported to the state registrar of elections at Salem.

Duplications in the reports make it impossible to determine the exact amount of campaign spending.

Individuals report on the contributions they make to campaign committees, and the committees also report those sums when expended.

The Oregonian estimated the Cordon total at $138,000 and the Neuberger total at $103,000. Cordon spent $73,190 for advertising and Neuberger $40,000, the newspaper said.

The Cordon committee reported expenses of $120,290 with another $12,181 still owed. The Neuberger committee reported contributions of $84,004 and expenses of $63,236.
