

Prominent Educator Speaks on Recreation

Jay B. Nash, prominent educator in the field of recreation, speaks tonight at 8 p.m. in the Student Union ballroom.

"Can America Be Trusted with Leisure?" is his topic for the address.

Nash is dean of Brigham Young university's college of recreation, physical education, health and athletics, and has been both a teacher and superintendent of recreation.

He was graduated from Oberlin college and has studied at the University of California and Columbia university. He received a doctor of philosophy degree from committees for the armed services during World War II.

In 1952 Nash conducted the first world seminar on physical education, health, recreation and youth work, held at Helsinki.

Nash has received fellowships in the New York Academy of Public Education, American Academy of Physical Education, and the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

He has received citations from the Royal Hungarian College of physical fitness and recreation

Physical Education, Panzer college, the Sports Club of Iran, Bradley university and the American Recreation society.

The Association of Health and Physical Education Teachers of New York City in 1953 presented him with a statuette of Hebe, an award for outstanding leaders in that city.

During 1953-54 he served as a Fulbright professor in India. He specialized in teacher training for potential India educators and was an adviser to the Indian government.

Author-Actress Gives Readings

Margaret Webster, noted author, actress and lecturer, will present "Readings From Shakespeare" at 1 p.m. today in the Student Union ballroom.

Miss Webster is one of the outstanding figures in the contemporary American theater. In addition to acting and lecturing on Shakespeare, she has directed some 18 Shakespearean productions.

"I learned 'To be or not to be' as soon as I could read 'The cat sat on the mat,'" Miss Webster says. "I saw my first play when I was five and made my first professional appearance when I was 12."

Debuts in "Hamlet"

After her debut in John Barrymore's production of "Hamlet," she directed or acted in numerous Broadway productions including "Family Portrait," "The Devil's Disciple," and "Therese and Saint Joan." She was co-founder, actress and director for the American Repertory theater and has recently earned the distinction of being the first woman

JAY B. NASH
Founder of PE Academy

New York university, and an honorary degree of master of science from Springfield college.

For two years Nash was director of physical education for the state of California, and he was a professor of physical education at New York university.

Nash is a past president of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and was chairman of the department of school health and physical education for the National Education association.

He has been national chairman of physical education for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and is a member of the joint health committee of the American Education association and American Medical association.

A founder, secretary and president of the American Academy of Physical Education, Nash has served also as president of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He is also a member of the International Scientific association for Physical Education.

Nash has written some 15 books in the fields of physical education, health and recreation. The latest of these is "The Philosophy of Recreation and Leisure," published in 1953.

He was chairman of President Roosevelt's committee on community service problems during the mid-1930's, and served on the

International Authority To Deliver 3 Lectures

George Sarton, an internationally-known authority on history and philosophy of science and a member of the Harvard faculty, will be on campus next week to deliver three lectures.

Sarton, who is appearing here under the sponsorship of the Failing distinguished lecture series, will give his first talk, "Euclid," Monday at 8 p.m.

He will discuss "Mediaeval Science," with special reference to the Arabic writings next Tuesday and "Leonardo Di Vinci" the following evening.

Oregon Daily EMERALD

56th Year of Publication

VOL. LVI UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1954 NO. 47

AWS Asks Aid In Assembling Christmas Boxes

Campus living organizations were contacted by AWS Monday asking them to assemble Christmas boxes for needy Eugene families.

Nonperishable food, clothing, toys, books and other suitable gifts may be used to fill the boxes. They should be delivered to the Pi Beta Phi house before 1 p.m. Saturday.

The boxes will be on display at the annual AWS Christmas tea which will be held at the Pi Beta Phi house from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday for all women on campus. Special invitations have been extended to women faculty members and wives of faculty members.

Assisting Margaret Tyler, general chairman of the tea, are Jean Fay, invitations; JoAnn Godfrey, entertainment; Jean McPherson, refreshments; Billie Bartle and Molly Gross, collections; Evelyn Nelson, decorations; Bobbye Harris, publicity, and Sharon Snyder, promotion.

Pat Peterson Scores Two Firsts in Debate

The University debate team won two first places at the Western Speech association tournament held in Tucson, Ariz., last week.

Pat Peterson, sophomore in liberal arts, won first place in the junior women's extemporaneous debate and first in impromptu speaking. For her successes Miss Peterson received four trophies, two for herself and two for the University.

Miss Peterson and Donna DeVries, sophomore in liberal arts, carried an undefeated record into the final eliminations in the debate team competition, but then lost in their first final round match.

Don Micklewait, senior in liberal arts, and Dave Cass, freshman in liberal arts, ended up with a record of two wins and

Eugene Artists Exhibit Works at Fairgrounds

Art majors and other students interested in art have been invited to attend the Eugene area artist exhibit to be held Friday.

The show will be at the Lane county fairgrounds from 7 to 9 p.m. Refreshments will be served. All paintings and sculpture displayed at the exhibit are for sale.

Noted School Architect Keynotes Building Meeting

One of the country's outstanding school architects, Lawrence Perkins, will be the keynote speaker for the Oregon School Building conference scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

He will speak Friday morning on "Trends in School Design in the United States."

To Conduct Discussions

Perkins, who is to arrive Wednesday, will conduct a series of discussions with seniors and fifth year architecture students on advanced school design.

He will also conduct seminars with those attending the building conference during the mornings. Perkins will meet with architecture students during the afternoons of his visit.

Illustrated in Life

Co-author of "Schools," Perkins has lectured to more than 75 graduate and undergraduate classes throughout the country. He is senior partner of Perkins and Will, one of the first independently organized firms of architects to be retained by the Chicago board of education to carry through the programming, designing and construction of a prototype 12-grade school.

His most recent example of public school architecture, the "Heatcote" or banjo-type design, was illustrated in a recent edition of Life magazine.

A graduate of Cornell university, Perkins is a member and former chairman of the committee on school buildings for the American Institute of Architects. He is also a fellow of the organization.

Beau Brummell Entries Are Narrowed to Six

Candidates in the campus Beau Brummell contest, sponsored by Gamma Alpha Chi, were narrowed to six last night by representatives from three Eugene men's clothing stores.

Those still in the running are:

Dick Campbell, Campbell club; Sid Woodbury, Alpha Tau Omega; Art Weber, Sigma Chi; Dick Coleman, Phi Delta Theta; Bob Baker, Phi Kappa Psi, and Stan Savage, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Voting to determine the Oregon Beau Brummell, the best-dressed man at the University, will start Thursday noon in the Co-op and continue through 3 p.m. Friday.

Voters must clip the Heilig theater ad for Beau Brummell, which will run Wednesday through Friday, from the Emerald and present it at the polling place.

The winner of the contest will be announced at "Friday at Four" this week in the fishbowl. He will be presented with a Beau Brummell statuette by Jack Baldock, manager of the Heilig theater.

The campus Beau Brummell will receive gifts from Eugene businessmen.

GOP May Have Vote Recounted

PORTLAND-(AP)-The Republicans have opened an investigation of the close election in which Democrat Richard L. Neuberger unseated Republican Senator Guy Cordon of Oregon, the state Republican chairman said Monday.

They are looking for irregularities that might lead to a demand for a recount, said Ed Boehnke, head of the Oregon Republicans.

Boehnke said the Republican national committee sent Stanley Beattie, Detroit attorney and special counsel for the party, to Oregon to conduct the investigation. He arrived Saturday, but has not yet had time to reach any conclusions, Boehnke said.

Neuberger's election gave the Democrats 48 and the Republicans 47 seats in the senate. With independent Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon promising to vote with the Democrats, that gives control of the next senate to the Democrats.

If a recount could overturn the result, it would throw the senate into a tie vote. That would allow Vice-President Nixon, presiding officer in the senate, to cast a tie-breaking vote that would allow the Republicans to organize the next senate.

The official canvass of votes gave Neuberger 285,775 to Cordon's 283,313, a margin of 2462 for Neuberger. He was the first Democrat elected to the senate from Oregon in 40 years.

Christmas Seals To Be Sold by YW

Campus sale of Christmas seals will be held in the Co-op Thursday and Friday, according to Jo Zehnder, chairman of the YWCA service commission.

The Y commission is in charge of the sales through a special arrangement with the Lane County Tuberculosis association.

Seals will sell for one cent each, and may be bought in any quantity. Boxes for contributions to the seal fund will be located in several places on campus to augment the sale.

Proceeds from the sale and contributions will be used for the care of persons in sanitoriums and others who have tuberculosis, according to Dorothy Allen and Alice Kihn, co-chairmen of the sale.

Intelligence Agent Offers Interviews

A representative of the Central Intelligence agency will interview students today and Wednesday for work with that agency.

Graduates and prospective graduates in languages, economics and other social sciences are particularly desired by the agency. The agency is also looking for students who combine a knowledge of a foreign language with a scientific background.

Positions are also open for women with secretarial ability combined with the other field named. Work may be in Washington, D.C., in other areas of the United States, or abroad.

Appointments to see the representative, Tom Culshane, may be made at the graduate placement office in Emerald hall.