Oregon Sets Nine Records

Nine new Oregon records were established and one more was tied by George Shaw and Dick James during the 1954 football season, according to figures just released.

Shaw set four single-season and four three-year career records with his passing. He passed for 1358 yards this year and 2676 in three years to beat Norm Van Brocklin's records of 1155 in 1948 and 2194 in 1946-48.

Shaw also had 1536 total offense for the season and 3106 for three years to beat Van Brocklin's records of 1113 in 1948 and 2043 for three years.

In addition, he attempted 196 passes this year and 461 in three years to beat the records of 189 and 361 set by Hal Dunham in 1951 and 1950-52, respectively. Shaw also completed 91 passes this season and 211 in three years to beat Dunham's marks of 82 and 158.

James scored 66 points this year to tie the scoring record set by Johnny Kitzmiller in 1928, and scored 60 in conference play to top Kitzmiller's record of 53 set the same year.

The whole Webfoot team also got in the act by tying one team record. The Ducks passed for 67 first downs, tying the mark set by the 1951 team.

Bruins Dominate Opponent Team

UCLA's undefeated Bruins dominated the 1954 Oregon all-opponent football team, placing four men on the first team.

The Webfoots selected Bruin

Tackle Jack Ellena, Guards Jim Salsbury and Hardiman Cureton and Fullback Bob Davenport to the team. Both Ellena and Salsbury have been named to several All-America teams.

Larson Selected

Three California Bears, headed by All-American Paul Larson at quarterback, were also selected. The other two were Center Matt Hazeltine and End Jim Hanifan.

Two members of the Rose Bowl-bound USC Trojans were named. Jon Arnett, who wrecked the Ducks when the two teams met, got one halfback spot and Ed Feuch was named tackle. Rounding out the first team were End John Stewart of Stanford and Halfback Wilbur Gary of Idaho.

Second Team Listed

Players from seven schools made up the second team, which was composed of Ends Bob Long, UCLA, and Leon Clarke, USC; Tackles Ron Aschbacher, Oregon State, and Win Wedge, Stanford; Guards Tom Lauderback, San Jose State, and Vaughan Hitchcock, Washington State; Center John Peterson, UCLA, and Backs Bob Cox, Washington, Primo Villanueva, UCLA; Lindon Crow, USC, and Bill Tarr, Stanford.

Cagers Top Alums During Scrimmage

Oregon's fast-improving basketball squad opened their final week of practice yesterday as the club crushed an alumni team in a scrimmage, 77-38.

Last Wednesday Bill Borchers' crew beat the same group by only nine points in another scrimmage but the Ducks showed much improvement in yesterday's play as they utilized their fast break to run away with the contest.

Big Jim Loscutoff again was outstanding for the Duck team as he poured in 23 points and was the big factor in Oregon's domination of the backboards.

The Ducks have only three more days to get ready for their first game this Friday when they tangle with Santa Clara's Broncos in the second half of a double-header at McArthur court. Oregon State and California will meet in the first game of the twin bill.

IT'S A FACT! College smokers prefer Luckies to all other brands—and by a wide margin—according to the latest, greatest coast-to-coast college survey. The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Now for the Doodle above, titled: Inept smoke ring blown by ept smoker. He's ept, of course, because he smokes Luckies. Be ept yourself and enjoy the better-tasting cigarette... Lucky Strike.
