Medical Specialist On Campus Friday

A representative of the Women's Medical Specialist corps will be on campus Friday to interview women interested in professional training offered by the Army Medical service in dietetics, physical therapy and occupational therapy.

Appointments to see Maj. Genevieve S. Beard may be made at the graduate placement office in Emerald hall.

For women interested in dietetics, a 12-month internship is available to graduates in food and nutrition or institution management.

Pre-requisites for the 12-month physical therapy course include courses in the biological and physical sciences.

A minimum of 15 hours in psychology, science or sociology and an interest in arts and crafts are required for the 18-month course in occupational therapy.

Students selected for the professional training program are commissioned as second lieutenants in the Women's Medical Specialist corps before they begin their course. They receive officer's pay and allowances during the training period.

Army ROTC Men To Hear Weaver

Second Lt. John Weaver, who graduated from the University last June, will speak to senior Army ROTC students today. Lt. Weaver will discuss what an ROTC graduate can expect when called to active duty.

Lt. Weaver is now assigned to the 82nd Airborne division at Fort Bragg, N.C. He received his basic infantry officer's training at Fort Benning, Ga., where he graduated eleventh in a class of 184.

Beau Brummell, one of the most engaging and controversial figures of England's flamboyant Regency period, left his mark on the fashions, morals and court intrigues of his day.

It was Beau Brummell who inaugurated the change in men's fashions from knee breeches to the chimney-pipe trousers.

M-G-M brings to life the story of this famed Englishman in its movie "Beau Brummell," starting next week at the Heilig Theater.

The Campus Beau Brummell, a man of your choice, will be elected by you on Thursday. Watch for ballots in this paper.

The Beau Brummell oscar will be awarded "Friday at 4" in the Fishbowl. See you there.
