

No IFC Decision On Intramurals

A forty-minute discussion of intramural pairings and Interfraternity council jurisdiction dominated the IFC meeting Thursday night.

The discussion stemmed from a resolution passed by IFC last spring recommending that houses of the same size be paired in intramural leagues.

One faction felt that the matter should be decided strictly by the 37 intramural managers while the opposing group felt that the athletic representatives were bound to support the IFC recommendation.

A discussion of the pros and cons of pairing houses by size followed. No decision was reached by the group as to whether or not IFC should press for the adoption of its recommendation.

The group also noted a reply to its request that tests not be scheduled immediately after a "big weekend."

President Wilson's reply to the request stated that the recommendation would be followed when it did not interfere with course schedules.

Pete Williams, IFC president, closed the meeting with a request that the group stick together despite the difference of interests of large and small houses.

YMCA Continues Visits to Churches

Everyone on campus is invited to attend the Central Presbyterian church Sunday, under the sponsorship of the campus YMCA.

Students interested are to meet in the Carson hall dining room at 10 a.m. Sunday, where coffee will be served. Transportation to the church will be provided.

This is part of a series of study and visiting of Eugene churches, according to Dick Allen, YMCA secretary. Episcopal, Lutheran and Catholic churches have already been visited, and next term the group will study and go to the Methodist, Christian, Baptist and other churches.

Kiddie Game Sale Started by Kwama

"Blockhead," a game for all ages and several children's games are now being sold by Kwama members, according to Helen Ruth Johnson, Kwama president.

The games can be obtained from any Kwama member for one dollar. Miss Johnson suggests that the games will make excellent Christmas presents for friends and little brothers and sisters.

All money from the games will be used for the Kwama scholarships which will be awarded to freshmen women spring term.

Concert Set For Sunday

A Christmas cantata and two orchestral compositions will be performed in the music school auditorium Sunday at 3 p.m.

The University Singers and orchestra will be combined to perform the cantata "When the Christ Child Came," a composition by Joseph W. Clokey based on a poem by Laura Spencer Porter.

The orchestra, directed by Edmund A. Cykler, will play Concerto Grosso by Handel and Symphony in E flat by Holzbauer.

Soloists for the cantata will include Audrey Mistretta, Mary Lou Teague, Ann Stearns, Raymond Hill, John Mosely and William Veatch.

Soloists with the orchestra will be Bob Groth and Sharon McCabe, violinists and Gene Wisler, cello soloist in the Concerto Grosso.

Quartet Contest Entries Due Now

Organizations interested in competing in the annual campus barbershop quartet contest are urged to turn entrance blanks to Sally Jo Greig or Bob Porter, or leave them in the Student Union box on the third floor of the SU today. Song selections may be turned in on or before Dec. 17.

Entry fee for the Forest Grove competition will be paid to the contest winners by the SU music committee, which is sponsoring the contest.

All campus groups, including faculty and honorary, are invited to enter the competition. Feb. 4 has been designated as the contest date.

Republican Group Plans Convention

Delegates from eleven Oregon colleges and universities will gather here Saturday for the annual convention of the College League of the Oregon Young Republican Federation, to be held in the Student Union.

An extensive agenda is prepared which includes registration, luncheon, plenary session, committee meetings, banquet and general meeting.

Principal speaker will be state senator Mark Hatfield. Parliamentarian for the meeting will be Doug Spencer of Eugene, former chairman of the Oregon Young Republican Federation.

All committee reports and general business will be covered in much the same fashion as at a large political convention. All members and interested Republican students are invited to attend the meeting.

Neuberger Dinner At Springfield

Senator-elect Richard Neuberger will be honored at a banquet at the Springfield Memorial building next Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Tickets are on sale for three dollars a person or two tickets for five dollars.

Neuberger, first Oregon Democrat elected to the U.S. senate since 1914, will make his only major dinner address in western Oregon in Springfield since his election victory and prior to his departure for Washington D.C.

New Members Join SU Board

Three new members attended the Student Union board meeting Wednesday, after the final appointment by President O. Meredith Wilson.

Bob Funk, law school; Jack Socolofsky, liberal arts, and John Shaffer, business administration, are the new members. Funk has been a board member before.

Two positions are still vacant in the graduate and art schools.

The board discussed admitting SU board and directorate members to SU events without admission. Funk said he thought this plan would increase board members' sense of responsibility to attend the events. Assistant Chairman Andy Berwick added it would give members a feeling of prestige and compensation.

The policy matter will be referred to the executive committee for further discussion.

Christmas Tea Set By AWS, Pi Phi's

The AWS cabinet, committee heads and members of Pi Beta Phi will be hostesses at the annual AWS Christmas tea Saturday at the Pi Phi house from 2 to 4 p.m.

Christmas boxes for needy Eugene families, donated by campus living organizations, will be on display. Chairmen should have the boxes at the Pi Phi house before 1 p.m. Saturday.

All women on campus are invited to attend the tea. A special invitation is extended to women faculty members and wives of faculty members.

Mortar Board Meets Here

Delegates from seven colleges and universities in the Northwest will meet here Saturday for the annual convention of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary.

Delegates from Washington State college, the University of Idaho, Whitman college, Montana State college, Montana State university, Oregon State college and Oregon are expected to attend.

The conferences will open Saturday morning with registration from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m., followed by an opening address by Golda P. Wickham, associate director of student affairs.

Discussion groups will be held in the morning for the purpose of exchanging ideas. Following a luncheon, there will be more discussion groups and a tour of the campus.

A YWCA coke hour is planned for late afternoon in Gerlinger hall.

Advisers of the University Mortar Board group are Mrs. O. Meredith Wilson, Josephine Moore, manager of the news bureau, and L. E. Anderson, director of public services.

Chairman Named For Clothing Drive

Mrs. Francis E. Dart has been placed in charge of the YMCA and YWCA clothing collection.

The clothing is being collected from the living organizations and will be sent to the Orient. Mrs. Dart is working under the auspices of American Friends Service committee.

Paul S. Dull, associate professor of political science and history, was originally in charge of the collection, but due to a change in plans, he will not be this year.
