

Concordia Choir To Sing Saturday

The Concordia choir from Concordia college, Moorhead, Minn., will present a choral program Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in the Eugene high school auditorium.

Tickets for the concert, which is sponsored locally by the Lutheran Student association on campus, are $1. They may be obtained from any Lutheran student or at Luther house, 1376 Alder.

Sings A Cappella

Singing a cappella, the choir under the direction of Paul J. Christiansen, head of the music department at Concordia college, will present musical selections ranging from 16th century classics down through the Bach era to the contemporary masters.

Several works by the director's father, well-known choral composer F. Melius Christiansen, will be sung.

National Acclaim

The 65-voice choral group has won international as well as national acclaim. The choir toured Norway in 1949, winning much praise from musicians and laymen alike. At one time they were asked to give a command performance for the crown prince and princess of Norway.

Nationally the choir has received much praise from music critics of well-known newspapers. When the singing group was in Portland in 1951, Hilmar Grondahl of the Portland Oregonian wrote, "It is choral singing of the kind the Concordia choir did Friday night that makes men say there is no music so glorious as that of a fine a cappella choir."

N. Y. Times Praise

In 1953 the New York Times said, "The Concordia choir gave the impression of remarkable virtuosity. In the blend of tone, in attacks, and releases, in range from fortissimo to an almost inaudible softness, in rhythmic and dynamic transitions, in fact, in all matters technical, it is a crack choir."

Director Christiansen is a composer of choral and orchestral works in his own right. A graduate of the Eastman school of music and St. Olaf college, he has studied at Oberlin conservatory. Since 1937 he has been head of the Concordia college music department and choir director.

He is well known for his annual choral school conducted each summer in Minnesota and as a guest conductor at music festivals and choral workshops.

The Concordia choir is presently on a tour of the West Coast and Canada.

This month's Art Museum of the month is a standing statue of Sho-Kwannon, a Japanese Buddhist figure created by anonymous sculptors of the 14th century.

Presented to the University of Oregon in 1936 by the Society for International Cultural Relations of Japan, the statue is of carved Hinoki wood, and its overall height is 33 1/2 inches. The height of the figure itself is 20 1/2 inches, and the lotus pedestal is 9 1/2 inches. The statue is said to have come from a temple near Kyoto, Japan.

U. S. Says Red China Is "Flouting U. N."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Thursday night deplored Red China's rejection of a bid to United Nations cease-fire talks as a "further flouting" of the UN.

A State Department spokesman, Press Officer Henry Suydam, announced that the United States will consult with other members of the UN Security Council about a council meeting to consider the Red Chinese turn-down.

Suydam made this statement: "We have seen so far only unofficial reports of Chou En-Lai's reply to the secretary general of the United Nations in response to the invitation extended to the Chinese Communists.

"All those who sincerely work for peace regret this abrupt rejection of an invitation to come to the Security Council to consider the cessation of hostilities along the offshore islands. They regret also this further flouting of the United Nations which is so similar to previous Chinese Communist actions in Korea and at Geneva.

"It is for the Security Council, which is constantly striving for peace, to consider this rejection and we shall be consulting with other members toward a further meeting."
