VETS' NEWS

Many veterans have asked what effect the President's recent proclamation setting the end of the Korean campaign at Jan. 31, 1955, will have on them as far as schooling is concerned.

Actually the proclamation will have little effect upon those now enrolled in school or in some type of vocational training. It does establish a definite cut-off date for aid to education, under the GI bill.

All schooling or training must be completed by Jan. 31, 1963, or eight years from the date of the veteran's discharge, whichever is the earlier date, in order to be paid for by the government under the present GI bill.

Further inquiries may be addressed to Larry Whitson, Veterans administration contact office, Room 208, 610 Willamette street.

French Students Asked To 'Causerie Francaise'

There will be a "causerie francaise" at "the Side" every Thursday at 4, beginning this week. This will be a good chance to speak and have coffee with other students of French.

First and second year students are particularly encouraged to attend to get more practice in French conversation. Everyone is welcome.

•Stock Market•

NEW YORK AP—The stock market was somewhat lower Tuesday in a cautious and highly selective manner in the late afternoon.

Both gains and losses tended to be moderate, but at times the fall went to around 4 points while gains extended up to around 3 points.

The volume came to an estimated three million shares.

'RED' RECORD

Station Seeks Legion Proof

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The manager of a radio station Tuesday gave American Legion officials until Thursday to prove their statement that some profits from a long-playing record, "The Investigator," go to the Communist Party.

If this is not proved, the station intends to carry out its plans, announced last week, to broadcast the record.

Glen Stadler, manager of station KRGA, said Legion officials told him they would submit proof last week, but did not do so. He said he would wait until noon Thursday, then decide whether or not to broadcast the 45-minute-long record.

"Preposterous"

The author and the companies producing and distributing the record call the charge preposterous.

The record is of a play, originally broadcast by the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., and later put into record form. It tells of an "investigator" killed in a plane crash, who goes to Heaven. There he soon gets investigations started, and wants to eject Sociates, Thomas Jefferson and others as subversive.

Sounds Like McCarthy

The voice of the investigator has a remarkable resemblance to that of Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Meanwhile, the sale of the record was increasing in this area. Mrs. Bertha Gribble, distributor of the record for Oregon and Washington, said about 500 had been sold in the two weeks the record has been available here. Several Portland stores sold out Monday, and more records were ordered. Mrs. Gribble said that was "remarkable" for a novelty record.

Some Like It

Stadler said his station had received a number of telephone calls from listeners, about equally divided between those who want the record played, and those who do not.

Stadler said his decision will depend on proof that profits from the record go to help Communists, and not on whether it is considered unfavorable to Sen. McCarthy. He said that if he decides to play the record, the broadcast time will be 4:45 p.m. Thursday.

Will Sue

Walter Colquitt, president of Radio Rarities, Inc., the firm producing the record, said in New York City he would file suit if the Legion came out with any statement about profits going to the Communist Party.

Legion officials protested to Stadler last week, when he announced his intent to play the record. Stadler held back to give them time to submit proof of their charge that profits go to Communists, and broadcast would boost sale of the record.

"Subversive"

Stadler said one of the Legion officials, Jack Larson of Springfield, state vice commander, also had protested that the record was "somewhat subversive" in that it ridicules congressional investigations.

William L. Browne, Portland detective captain, chairman of the Legion's Subversive Activities Committee in Oregon and a member of the Legion's national Un-American Activities Committee, took a leading role in the protest.

WUS Calling For Petitions

World University service is calling for petitions for the following committees: solicitations, publicity, promotion, speakers, firesides, special events, carnival and auction.

Petitions should be given to Gail West at Alpha Delta Pi or to Russ Walker at the YMCA office in the Student Union. Deadline is Thursday at 5 p.m.

All houses are to report their house representatives to Kathryn or Jean Sandine by the deadline, according to Miss Sandine.
