

Violinist to Perform Tonight In McArthur Court Concert

Spivakovsky One Of World's Best

Tosy Spivakovsky, who will appear at McArthur court tonight at 8 p.m. has been called one of the greatest violinists of the modern world.

In his ten years in America, Spivakovsky has already become one of its most famous concert violinists. He has appeared in concert all over the United States and has given benefit concerts to help local symphony orchestras.

Born in Odessa, in southern Russia, Spivakovsky was taken to Berlin before he was two. In Berlin, he studied violin under the famous Willi Hess. He gave his first concert at the age of ten, as a child prodigy. He made his first recordings for the Parlophone company of Berlin at 13.

In 1937, Spivakovsky fled from the Hitler regime in Germany to New Zealand. Later, he came to the United States and in 1943 he appeared with the New York Philharmonic. Since then, he and his 1721 Stradivarius have appeared in all 48 states, Canada, and South America.

SHOWN ABOVE is world-famous violinist Tosy Spivakovsky. The former child prodigy will appear at Mac court tonight at 8.

'TRADITION IN SCULPTURE'

Scheyer to Speak For Arts Festival

Ernest Scheyer, professor of art history at Wayne university, will be the speaker for this week's browsing room lecture Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the SU.

His topic will be "The American Tradition in Sculpture: The Adams Memorial by Augustus St. Gaudens."

German Background

He will also give a Friday luncheon address on "Universal Values in a Regional Expression in Sculpture" in the Student Union as part of the Institute of Pacific Northwest Sculpture, meeting on campus.

Scheyer, born and educated in Germany, has been active in art circles in this country and in Europe. He has been a lecturer at the Prussian State Academy of Fine Arts at Breslau and a museum assistant at Cologne. He has also been manager of the Goudstikker Galleries in Amsterdam and chief curator of the museums in the West German Republic.

In 1936 Scheyer became an instructor of art history at Wayne University, and in 1947 he became professor of art and humanities. Since 1947 he has held the position of visiting professor of the history of art at Cranbrook Academy of Art, and at the University of Michigan.

Holds Educator's Job

In 1950 he became a consultant to the office of cultural relations and education of the U. S. High Commissioner for Germany. His most recent assignment is that of chief curator in the Ministry of Education of the West German Republic.

Scheyer is being brought to the University in conjunction with the second annual Festival of Arts. Discussion leader for the lecture will be M. R. Spokenburgh, assistant professor of art.

'School 'Aid' Would Help Banks More'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) said Tuesday the administration's proposed school-aid program possibly would be "of greater aid to banks than to school children and their teachers."

Neuberger said A. L. Beck, Oregon state school planning director, had told him that proposed federal support of school bond interest rates up to 3½ per cent "may produce an undesirable effect" in Oregon.

The average interest rate for Oregon school districts, Beck said, has been 2.45 per cent. He added that commercial agencies probably would raise their rates if Congress authorized 3½ per cent on school loans.

Neuberger declared in a statement:

"It is possible that the Eisenhower program may be of greater aid to banks than to school children and their teachers by stimulating a great wave of borrowing at higher interest levels."

Tickets on Sale For Senior Ball

Tickets for the 1955 Senior Ball, "Dreams of Tomorrow" will go on sale today at the main desk of the Student Union, according to Don Rotenberg, class president and chairman of the dance.

This will be the only advance ticket sale for the dance, he said. Tickets will cost $1.80 per couple.

Entertainment Promised

The only major all-campus dance this term, the Senior Ball will feature Dick Schwary and his orchestra. Rotenberg has also promised "excellent" intermission entertainment.

Still keeping her decoration plans a secret, Loris Larson, class representative and decorations chairman, has admitted that the ballroom will be "completely transformed" by her committee for the event.

Musical Invitation

Barbershop quartets are issuing "musical" invitations to campus living organizations this week to attend the dance, according to Ward Cook, promotion chairman.

In keeping with tradition, the Senior Ball will again be formal this year, Rotenberg stated. Flowers are optional.

Positions Are Open For Rally Board

Petitions for five positions on the rally board are due next Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Positions open are: Rally chairman, special events chairman, skit chairman, secretary-treasurer, and publicity chairman.

BA Conference To Open Today

By Joan Dennis
Emerald Reporter

The eleventh annual student business conference, sponsored by the school of business administration, will be held today and Thursday afternoon.

Classes in the school of business administration will be dismissed both afternoons. Any student may attend the conference, with freshmen and sophomores especially urged to attend, according to Jean Underhill and John Watson, student chairmen.

The purpose of the conference is to acquaint students with possible job opportunities.

Chairman of this conference is Alfred L. Lomax, professor of business administration.

The conference will open at noon today with an informal cafeteria lunch in 110 Student Union for guests and faculty.

Experts to Speak

Businessmen who are experts in their fields will be the speakers in the afternoon discussion groups, which will be held in the SU. The students will have an opportunity to question the speakers at each meeting.

The program for this afternoon will open with three meetings scheduled for 1:30.

W. L. Thompson, assistant professor of journalism, will preside at the advertising meeting in SU 334. Wayne Leland, partner of the House & Leland Advertising Agency, Portland, will be guest speaker.

C. F. Ziebarth, associate professor of business administration, will preside at the production management meeting in SU 333. The speaker will be William Chesnut, production supervisor of Continental Can company, Portland.

W. T. Guerts, general manager of the Oregon Turkey Growers, Salem, will speak at the marketing and merchandising meeting, SU 315. W. D. Richins, associate professor of business administration, will preside.

Coffee Hour Scheduled

Phi Chi Theta, women's professional business sorority, will be hostesses at a coffee hour in the Dads' lounge from 2:45 to 3:15 p.m.

Four other meetings are scheduled for 3:15 p.m.

C. E. Johnson, associate professor of business administration, will preside at the public accounting meeting, SU 214-15. Speakers will be Raymond M. Alexander and Douglas M. Nicholson, from the Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., Portland; McNamara M. Pope of Pope, Hewitt & Loback, Portland, and Glen R. Porter, of Spencer Collins & Co., Eugene.

George Blinkhorn, Eugene realtor, will speak at the real estate meeting in SU 333. L. R. Johnson, assistant professor of business administration, will preside.

Ziebarth will preside at the traffic management meeting, SU 334. E. C. Ordway, general freight agent at the Southern Pacific company, Portland, will speak.

Presiding at the banking, credits, and collection meeting, SU 315, will be Wesley C. Balaire, professor of business administration. Guest speaker will be Willis Warren, assistant vice-president of the First National Bank, Eugene.

No Visitors Sign Is Still Posted

Still posted on the infirmary doors Tuesday was the sign, "No visitors until further notice." There were 21 patients suffering from the highly-contagious flu which has been circulating about the campus. The halt in visitors was done with the hope that the infection will not spread.

The patients were Ronald Carlson, Elizabeth Church, Maureen Naylor, Gwendolyn Ellis, Rose Marie Bruce, Georgia Lee Gayer, Nancy Gayer, Nancy Lidbeck, Marilyn Stratford, Nancy Taggart, Marlene Perry, Roy Schlessler, Wayne Brandt, James Imbrie, Richard Church, David Madein, John Waugamah, Larry Kenyon, Walt Ching, Pat Reed and Will Starnes.

Nation's Top Journalists To Confer With Students

Three of the nation's top journalists will hold special conferences with University students on the campus this week.

The three are here for the 38th annual Oregon Press conference, sponsored by the school of journalism and the Oregon Newspaper Publishers association for the state's daily and weekly publishers and editors.

The special conferences will be open only to journalism and pre-journalism students, and will be held in the Allen hall reading room.

The speakers are: Irving Dillard, editor of the editorial page of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. He will speak to students at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Palmer Hoyt, 1923 graduate of the school of journalism and highest-ranking graduate of any journalism school in the nation, who now is editor and publisher of the Denver Post. He will speak at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Don Belding, University graduate and former journalism student, now senior partner in the Foote, Cone & Belding advertising agency. He will speak at 1:45 p.m. Saturday.

All three will speak on the Press conference program as part of the dedication ceremonies for Allen hall. Dillard also is the ninth annual Eric Allen Memorial lecturer, and his address at 1:30 p.m. Friday in Allen 221 will be open to the public.

Junior Weekend, Special Petitions

Petitions for Junior Weekend committee chairmanships are due at 5 p.m. Tuesday. The petitions may be turned in to a special box in the Co-op or to committee headquarters in Student Union 303.

Special Junior Weekend petition forms are to be used. Regular ASUO petition forms will not be accepted, according to Bud Hinkson, junior class president. The special petitions may be obtained in SU 303.

A suggested theme for the weekend is to be written on the back of the petition.

Hinkson has called for chairmen of the publicity, all-campus clean-up, promotion and public relations, queen contest and coronation, all-campus sing, junior prom, all-campus luncheon and terrace dance committees.