

Letters to the Editor

Headline Questioned

Emerald Editor:

May I call your attention to a news item appearing on page seven of today's (March 1) Daily Emerald.

The headline reads, "College Students Want Eisenhower." Yet in the story which follows we are told that a number of college students were asked whether or not they think that Mr. Eisenhower will run for a second term in 1956.

I suspect that among these students who were polled, at least some would like to make a distinction between what they want to happen and what they think will happen.

I do not mean to suggest that this was anything but an oversight on the part of your paper's staff. However, similar distortions are all too frequently deliberate on the part of certain editors, and I would not like to see you included among these people.

On Thinking

Emerald Editor:

I noticed on the editorial page of today's (March 1) Emerald that you eloquent leaders of the Fourth Estate on this campus were surprised that a poll of U.S. College students showed that 51 percent of them don't know what SEATO is. Personally I was surprised that the Emerald printed such an editorial. I had come to assume that it was your editorial policy not to editorialize beyond the bounds of campus affairs. It seems to me like the pot calling the kettle black when the Emerald pointed its finger at the half of the country's college students who aren't concerned with the world they live in. However I took your editorial as a spark of hope. Since the Emerald editors have become appalled at the fact that half the nation's college population doesn't think, perhaps we can now begin to read what the Emerald editors do think.

Presumptuously yours,

W. B. Swenson

Young GOP's Hear Jones

Gerald Jones, junior in Anthropology and Republican college league western council representative, will speak tonight at the Young Republican meeting in the Student Union. He will give a brief report concerning the recent Midwestern and far Western Young Republican convention held at Colorado Springs, Colo.

While attending the convention, Jones was elected chairman of the Western Council of College of Young Republican clubs. He has previously served as chairman of the University Young Republicans. He was a member of the state college league board for almost two years.

Other business on the agenda is the Oregon college league conclave at Surftides on March 26 and 27. To date eight local Young Republicans will be attending this annual social event. They are: Bob Porter, Ed Peterson, Chuck Blackburn, Jerry Jones, Jerry Maxwell, Carl Fleshman, Dorothy Yergen and Clare Thompson. Anyone else interested in attending this conclave should attend the final Young Republican meeting of the term tonight or contact Blackburn by March 18, telephone 3-2375.

KWAX to Give 'Dracula' Today

One of the most terrifying novels ever written, Brian Stoker's "Dracula," will be presented by radio KWAX today over KOAC AM at 4 p.m.

The hour-long program was adapted for radio by Loanne Morgan and will be performed by the radio workshop players on the University hour.

Being KWAX's first hour-long program of the year, it will feature the most extensive use of sound effects yet employed by the student station. The show, directed by Jon Powell and Loanne Morgan, will star George Goldagger as Dracula and Winston Rust.

Others included in the cast are Bruce Holt, Victor Heyden, Pat McCormick and Floy Louise Van Gruenwall.
