

MUSIC FOR THE MILITARY BALL will be provided by the 534th Air Force band from McChord field in Tacoma (above). The Airmen feature twenty pieces and have toured the Northwest and parts of Canada visiting Air Force installations. They have also appeared on KING-TV in Seattle.

Military Ball Will Be Held Saturday

The ROTC Military Ball, last held in 1953, will return Saturday night as Army and Air Force cadets and dates turn out at the Student Union ballroom for the announcement of the Little Colonel at intermission.

A formal affair, with ROTC uniforms in order, the tickets are selling to military personnel for $1.65 at the ROTC department for the 9-12 p.m. dance. The service with the most tickets sold on a percentage basis will have its candidate named Little Colonel.

Junior Weekend Luncheon Monday

Junior Weekend committee chairmen and junior class officers will hold a "kickoff" luncheon for Junior Weekend Monday at noon in the Student Union.

A discussion of general plans and policy for Junior Weekend will be held at the luncheon, to give an over-all picture of the weekend to the leaders.

Debate Team Travels To Linfield Contest

Oregon's debate team, looking forward to the possibility of a bid to the West Point tournament, left early Thursday to compete in Tournament of Champions at Linfield college.

The tournament, which is the second largest in the Western United States will continue through Saturday. Debaters representing schools in Montana, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, Idaho, Nevada, California, Washington, and Oregon, will compete.

It is at the tournament of Champions that the two schools who will represent the Northwest at the National Invitational Debate tournament at West Point are announced. The Invitational is held sometime during spring term. Oregon received a bid last year.

Five Teams Entered

Oregon is represented at Linfield by five teams. Competing in the junior women's division are Pat Peterson and Betty Herrman; and Donna De Vries and Force are Pat Leonard, senior in speech; Ruth Joseph, senior in speech; Joan Hunter, senior in education and Janet Wick, senior in history. Army finalists are Alma Owen, senior in speech; Marcia Dutcher, senior in journalism; Charlotte Britts, senior in music and Diane David, senior in foreign languages.

March 10 Paper Last This Term

The last Emerald issue of the term will be Thursday, March 10, and will be a 16-page paper with a special feature section.

Deadline for all feature copy is 3 p.m. Sunday, with news and women's page items due Monday at 4 p.m. Religious notes will be due Saturday at 3 p.m.

Advertising deadlines are Sunday at 3 p.m. for ads in the feature section, and 3 p.m. Tuesday for regular advertising.

Today's paper is the last until the special edition.

IFC Okays Alum Council

The Inter-fraternity council Thursday night approved an alumni committee report calling for the setting up of an alumni IFC to aid houses on business and financial problems presented to it.

The alumni council would be composed of five or more men, at least three of which would be University of Oregon graduates. The council would be appointed by the executive council of the Oregon Alumni association on the recommendation of several interested groups, including the local IFC.

Plan Needs Approval

The plan must still be approved by the Oregon Alumni association. The group would function only at the request of the campus IFC.

The IFC also heard a Greek Week committee report from Chairman Ward Cook, and recommended unanimously that the weekend dance be an informal barn dance. Dates would be optional.

Cook reported that houses, but not individuals, would be paired for the exchange dinners, without individual sign-up. Half the groups would eat at the sorority and half at the fraternity.

Easter Egg Hunt

In other action, the IFC voted approval of an Easter Egg hunt for Eugene children April 9 to be sponsored by the junior class and the Eugene Active club.

Bud Hinkson, junior class president, reported that the Active club would furnish the eggs, but that the dyeing would have to be done by the houses. The living groups would also have some responsibility for supervising the children.

More Weekend Petitions Asked

Duck Preview petitions for coordinators, chairmen and committee members are due today at 4 p.m. Petitions are to be turned in to the ASUO box, Student Union third floor.

Positions open are for coordinators of housing, promotion, hospitality and program. Committee chairmen are needed for men's and women's housing, transportation, registration, program, exchange dinners, dance, vodvil, assembly, exhibits and tours, and pre-vodvil. Other chairmen are needed for publicity and campus promotion.

'The Contrast' Opens Tonight

"The Contrast," a comedy by Royall Tyler, opens a five-day run tonight on the main stage of the University theater. The play is directed by Frederick J. Hunter, assistant professor of speech.

Settings for the comedy have been designed and painted by John Jensen, senior in speech. The show has three scenes all in different homes and one other on the street. Scene changes are made by using shutters, similar to the manner done in the period when the play was first produced.

Tapscott Plays Lead

Leading men's roles in the show will be played by Mark Tapscott, junior in speech, Irle White, sophomore in speech, Phillip Sanders and Gordon Howard, both graduates in speech.

Top women's role will be played by Wilma Sundahl, graduate in speech, Audrey Mistretta, senior in music and Pat Johnson, senior in speech.

Supporting roles will be played by Jack Baker, junior in liberal arts, Delece Peterson, sophomore in speech and Sally Guinn, freshman in liberal arts.

With Festival of Arts

"The Contrast" is being given on campus in connection with the Festival of Arts, currently in progress. The play is the first comedy written and produced in America by an American author. It was produced in 1787 at the St. James theater.

The University theater has partially remodeled the front of its stage to look like the St. James setting. Costumes, designed and constructed under the supervision of Wilma Sundahl, are typical of the period of the play.

MARK TAPSCOTT Lead in "Contrast"

Tickets for the production are available at the theater box office any afternoon between 1 and 5. Price is one dollar each. The play runs Tuesday through Thursday of next week.

Folk Dancer Lectures, Demonstrates in SU

Lloyd Shaw, nationally known folk dancer, will give a lecture and demonstration on folk dance Tuesday in the Student Union ballroom.

This event is part of the Festival of Arts program which will close March 11.

Shaw has been putting out records for American dancers since shortly before his retirement in 1951 as superintendent of Cheyenne Mountain School, Colorado Springs, Colo., with which he was affiliated for 33 years.

While still at the school he organized dance teams and took his students on tours from coast to coast to demonstrate the values of the American dance. Although he has a great interest in all types of dances, he is particularly an authority on square dancing.

Some 17 University dance students will assist Shaw in his demonstrations of old and new couple and square dancing. Caller will be Helen Mawson, a Eugene dance instructor.

Senior Class to Name Permanent Officers

A permanent class president, secretary and governing board of five persons will be elected by the class of 1955 at the senior class meeting Tuesday at 1 p.m. in the ballroom of the Student Union.

Nominations for the offices will be made from the floor, according to Don Rotenberg, class president. It is important that all seniors attend the meeting, which is during the assembly hour, Rotenberg stressed.

Also on the agenda for the meeting will be announcements concerning graduation. The ordering of graduation announcements, caps and gowns and necessary clearance with the registrar's office will be explained, Rotenberg said.

Also on the program will be an explanation of the alumni record of the seniors and of the activities of the University's alumni association by Les Anderson, alumni secretary. Karl Onthank, director of the graduate placement service, will explain the functions of his office.

Plans for a spring term senior class picnic will also be discussed during the meeting, Rotenberg stated.

The agenda for the senior class meeting Tuesday is as follows:

1. General announcements, graduation announcements, caps and gowns, commencement tickets, clearance with registrar's office.
2. Alumni record, Les Anderson.
3. Graduate placement, Karl Onthank.
4. Election of permanent officers.
