Faculty Members to Attend Family Relations Meeting

Several faculty members and one student from the University will have an active part in the Pacific Northwest Conference on Family Relations which will be held on March 24, 25, 26, 1955, at Portland State college in Portland.

Students are invited to attend. Invitations may be picked up in 205 Commonwealth, or students may register at the conference.

"The New and Current in Family Life" is the general theme of this conference which features Brock Chisholm, former Director-General of the World Health Organization. He will give addresses on Thursday evening and Friday morning.

In the Friday afternoon special interest groups, John Pierce-Jones, professor of education and psychology, will be moderator for the "Changing Concepts of Child Rearing" group. Will Drum, assistant professor of sociology work, will speak on "Marriage and Family Counseling." T. B. Johannis, instructor in sociology, Herbert Bisno, assistant professor of sociology, and N. D. Sundberg, assistant professor of psychology, will speak on the "Impact of Social Change on Family Life."

The Saturday morning program, which was arranged by Mr. Johannis, will feature research talks. Carol Wenner, senior in sociology, will talk on "Family Religious Behavior as Reported by a Sample of College Females."

"Studying the Child in the Normal Household" will be the topic of the talk given by R. A. Littman, associate professor of psychology. The research for this was done by Pierce-Jones, Theodore Stern and R. A. Littman.

W. T. Martin, associate professor of sociology, will speak on "Trends in Marital Status by Sex in the State of Oregon, 1890-1950."

R. W. Leeper, head of the psychology department, will speak on "New Developments in Personality Theory." Paul S. Ullman, graduate assistant in sociology, will talk on "Married College Students and Their In-Laws." Curtis E. Avery, professor of education will also speak.

Home Economics Tea-Has Clothing Exhibits

Wives of University deans and department heads were entertained at a special tea last Friday afternoon.

The tea was sponsored jointly by home economics faculty members and students, the executive board of the Women's Faculty club and the Newcomers club.

Clothing exhibits were shown during the program and refreshments were served by several of the department's foods classes.

The US paid $11,250,000 to France for the Louisiana Purchase.

The Ford Foundation, a Michigan nonprofit organization, was established in 1936.
