

First Greek Week Begins Saturday

The University's first Greek Week, sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity council and Panhellenic, will be held Saturday afternoon and evening. The day's events will center around athletic contests, an exchange dinner and a barn dance.

The athletic contests will begin at 1:30 p.m. and will consist of a marathon bicycle race, and a chariot race with pledges acting as horses. The sororities will participate in a tug of war and a football game with the houses north and south of 15th street competing against each other.

The afternoon events will end

Preview Housing Lists Due Today

Preference lists for Duck. Preview housing for women are due today at 2 p.m. They should be turned in by house representatives at their meeting this afternoon.

The lists should be made out in triplicate and should be typed and alphabetized. Legacies must be marked by each house. The lists should also include information as to the maximum number of girls who can be comfortably housed.

House representatives should call Mrs. Wickham's office to find out where the meeting will be held. Purpose of the meeting is to eliminate duplicates, set up rules for housing and cover sending invitations, according to Nan Hagedorn.

ASUO Senate Plans Spring Essay Contest

The ASUO Senate is sponsoring an essay contest on the subject, "The Role of Student Government on the University of Oregon Campus," and all students who desire to submit an essay must do so before Wednesday, April 20.

Essays, which are to be judged on content, organization, appropriateness, and language, must be from 1000 to 1500 words long. All papers should be typewritten and double spaced.

The purpose of the contest is twofold. It is intended to stir up thought about student government at a time just prior to the spring elections on campus. The essays will also help the Senate in evaluating its work and perhaps get some concrete ideas for improvement. The essays need not be favorable to the present role of student government.

Arts Workshop Calls for Petitions

Petitions for chairman of the University Creative Arts Workshop are now being called for by the Student Union board.

The Workshop is a combined program of student-created drama, music, dance, and literature to be presented late in May. Petitions should be turned in to the SU petition box on the third floor of the SU by April 4.

Morris, dean of the school of business administration, and Donald DuShane, director of student affairs.

All regularly enrolled Oregon students are eligible to enter. Entries can be turned in to the ASUO offices on the third floor of the Student Union and none will be returned.

American Poet, Critic Speaks in SU Tonight

Allen Tate, American critic and poet, will speak tonight at 8 in the Student Union ballroom in the third of this year's Failing Distinguished Lecturers series.

The topic of Tate's lecture is "Modern Poetry: The Aesthetic Historical Mode."

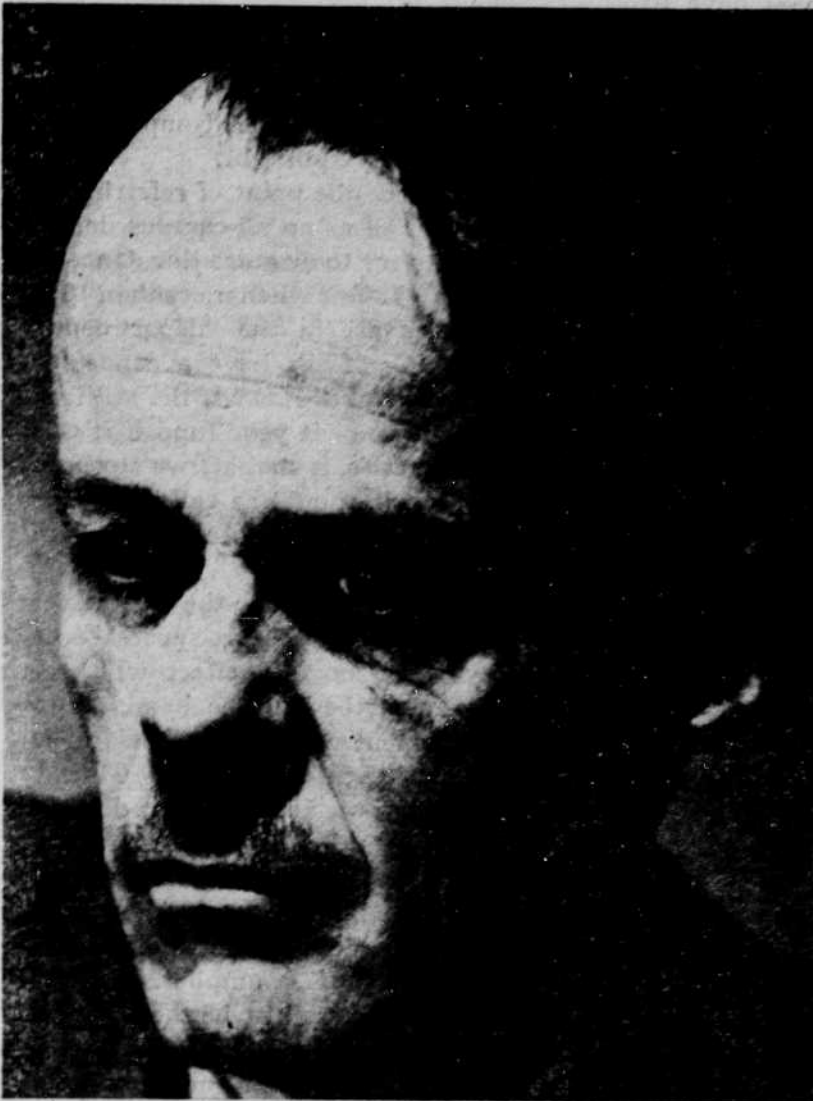

Tate will also give a public reading and discussion of his poetry at 4 p.m. in the Dad's Lounge.

During his career, Tate has been a free lance writer, professor, lecturer, and editor of several literary journals. He has lectured and read poetry at many American universities and in foreign universities such as the Universities of Rome, Lege, Louvain, Sorbonne, London and Oxford. Since 1952, he has been senior fellow in the school of letters at Indiana university.

His writings include works on Stonewall Jackson, and Thomas Jefferson, several volumes of his own poetry, and many editions of poetry and criticism.

Tate entered the editing field as editor of "The Horn and Hound" from 1930 to 1934. In the past 15 years, he has been editor of "The Swanee Review" and advisory editor of "The Kenyon Review," both distinguished literary journals.

ALLEN TATE, distinguished poet-critic, will lecture tonight in the SU ballroom on "Modern Poetry: The Aesthetic Historical Mode."

GPA Disqualifies Board Chairman

The disqualification of Bob Pollock, senior in economics, as Student Union Board chairman was announced Monday by the office of student affairs. Pollock failed to attain the required 2.0 grade point average winter term.

Andy Berwick, senior in business, will assume the position of board chairman. Berwick, now assistant chairman, was chairman of the board last year.

A new assistant board chairman will be elected at the Wednesday SU board meeting, according to Berwick.

Berwick will also take over Pollock's ex-officio duties as a member of the ASUO cabinet, the student affairs committee and the Eugene-University Civic Music association board. He will serve until elections are held in May for next year's board officers.

Berwick termed Pollock's resignation as board chairman a "great loss to the Student Union and to the University of Oregon."

"Pollock has contributed actively to the board program for the past four years and certainly has been one of the most outstanding students in the SU board's history," he added.

Berwick currently is serving on the SU advisory board and executive committee. He was the first student chairman of the executive committee for the regional student union conference.

His other activities include membership in Friars and chairmanship of the Millrace council. He is also a former president of Beta Theta Pi and is on the military education committee.

Spring Open Rushing Begins April 4 for Men, Women

Oregon fraternities and sororities will begin their spring term rushing for a three week period beginning Monday.

Rushing requirements for men and women are subsequently the same, except that women must sign up to rush before this Friday at Student Affairs office in Emerald hall. Men can sign up at any time during the period with a deadline of April 25. An additional restriction for men is that sign up must be at least one week (five class days) before pledging takes place.

Open rush procedure is on an informal basis. All interested persons, when they sign up indicate what houses they are interested in. The houses then issue all invitations to dinner to the rushee, with the whole schedule on an individual basis.

The fee for those who have not rushed previously is $5.00. Dates for the rushing period are as follows:

Monday, April 4, first day of rushing. Saturday, April 9, first day pledging can take place. Women's rushing will end on Monday, April 25. This is the last day men can sign up for rushing. Men's rushing will end on Saturday, April 30.

All people who desire to rush must have a 2.0 in their last term of school or have a 2.0 accumulative GPA.

Term Cards Not Issued

Athletic cards for spring term will not be issued and will not be necessary for attendance at baseball games and track meets. Regular student body cards may be used.

AT NEW YORK COLLEGES

RO Loyalty Oath Under Fire

A compulsory ROTC loyalty oath, enforced at many colleges all over the country, has come under fire from a student group, according to the Syracuse Daily Orange, the newspaper of Syracuse university.

In a recent edition the paper reported that the National Student association, at a New York regional conference, passed a resolution calling for elimination or change in the loyalty oath provision.

The present oath, in operation at most colleges and universities, requires that ROTC students in the basic course state that they have never belonged to any organization on the Attorney General's subversive list.

The Daily Orange had this to say on the matter:

"As many colleges, including land grant schools, require the basic ROTC course for all enrolled physically fit males, the group felt that the oath was interfering with college administration's freedom of choice of students."

The paper also brought out that the association thought that "the present oath was negative in its approach." It suggested a simple oath of loyalty to the United States government and Constitution.

The main problem in the past has been that some of the organizations on the Attorney General's list have been recognized on several campuses until recently. Now many of these organizations are being required to sign the loyalty oath.

Represented at the conference were NSA member colleges from New York state with the exception of New York City.

According to the University ROTC department, Oregon is currently using the loyalty oath program and is requiring freshmen to sign it upon entering the basic course.

Five Law Students Make Honor Roll

Five University law students made the law school honor roll for winter term. John R. Gill was the only third-year law student. Second year students are William E. Hurley and Elizabeth S. Risley. First-year students are Edward N. Fadeley and John H. Kottkamp.

The law school honor roll is based on the cumulative grade point average covering all work done at the University law school and includes those students having a 3.0 or higher accumulative GPA and carrying a full study program.
