

Oregon Golfers Begin to Qualify Webfoot Nine to Entertain Willamette Here Thursday

Qualifying for Coach Sid Milligan's varsity Oregon golf team began Monday, March 20, and will last through April 12. The aspiring divoters will play 72 holes of medal play during this period at the Eugene Country club and the ten low qualifiers will comprise the team.

Returns from last year's team, which sustained only one loss and which extended its Northern Division undefeated streak to six consecutive years, are headed by senior Neil Dwyer, a two year letterman, who will act as team captain. Other lettermen are Howard Zenger, Bob Takano and Justin Smith.

Although Don Kreiger and Al Mundle, the top players from the 1954 squad, have graduated, Coach Milligan expects another strong team with the addition of some fine sophomore swingers. Sophomores from last year's strong freshman team who will bolster the varsity this year are Bob Norquist, Chuck Huggins, Mike Starling and Don Bick.

Another outstanding prospect is Barry Ott, a sophomore transfer from Portland State. Ott as a freshman played in the number one position for PSC.

Huskies First Opponent
The Duck divotmen will begin their attempt for their seventh straight ND dual match play crown April 16 when they take on an improved University of Washington team at Eugene.

The following week a Duck six-some will travel to Santa Cruz, Calif., for the Northern California Intercollegiate Invitational tournament. In last year's invitational, the Webfoot team tied for second place.

Frosh Also to Qualify
Freshman Coach Johnny McKay will have his team qualify at Oakway golf course and the low six will form the Frosh nucleus. They will then play at the Eugene Country club along with the varsity.

The most outstanding prospect for the freshman team is Bob Prall from Salem, who won the state high school medal play championship last year. Don Anawalt and Keith Gubrud, both of Eugene, and Martin Swan from Vancouver, Wash., are other top prospects.

Bowling Signup Asked For Boy-Girl Leagues

Signup for the student mixed double leagues to begin next Tuesday and Wednesday is asked for now in the Student Union recreation area by Louie Bellisimo, director.

Each league is to be made up of 16 boy and girl teams, and competition will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday nights for seven weeks. Signers are asked to indicate the league night they prefer when they register.

Barring more rain, Coach Don Kirsch's baseball team will open the home season against Willamette Thursday on the lower diamond at 3 p.m. Howe field is too soggy to be used.

The Ducks worked out Tuesday for the first time since returning from California. Wet grounds confined the practice to work in the batting cage. The pitchers threw in the gym.

Kirsch plans to start veteran righthander Bill Blodgett against Willamette. Norm Forbes, the Ducks' star hurler in 1954, is still suffering from the shoulder trouble which has hampered him all spring.

Forbes pitched only three innings in California and was reached for five runs. Kirsch commented that his delivery was smooth, but that his shoulder—possibly a bursitis condition—still hurt him.

The starting lineup is pretty well set with Dick Schlosstein at first, Jim Johnson at second, Pete Williams at third and John Keller at short.

Neal Marlett will handle the catching chores and George Shaw will patrol centerfield. The right and left field spots are still wide open, with Jerry Ross, Jim Pingree, Bob Wagner, Bernie Averill and Forbes battling for the two openings.

Winning two and losing three, the Oregon nine considered the California tour a fair success, since most of the Cal schools had played about ten games before the Ducks played their first.

Kirsch was pleased with the hitting and fielding, but said the pitching was only mediocre.

"Bill Blodgett and Bill Garner looked very good in the first game against Stanford (won 3-0), but both were hit later in later games," Kirsch stated.

"Maddox and Williams, who each pitched twice, showed good stuff, and John Lundell, who relieved in one game, showed promise," he continued.

Kirsch said that Cal and San Jose State both had powerful clubs, but that Stanford didn't have the hitting it has had in previous years.

While Oregon was winning two and dropping three, Oregon State, expected to be the Ducks chief rival for ND honors this spring, lost five out of six to comparable opposition.

Lettermen Smoker Scheduled Friday

Tag team wrestling and a boxing match between the Australian Featherweight champion and an Oregon Golden Gloves star will be featured as highlights of the Lettermen's Fight Night, to be held Friday at 8 p.m. in McArthur Court.

Receipts will be used to finance the furnishing of the new lettermen's lounge in Mac court, according to Bob Reid, Order of the O president.

Gil Durey, the Australian title holder, is slated to meet Jack Puscas, the Golden Glover, in the evening's feature boxing match. Four football lettermen will provide the wrestling climax when they meet in a tag team tilt. Lon Stiner and Harry Johnson are to go against Larry Rose and Keith Tucker in the encounter.

Other boxing matches scheduled include Bob Williams against John Coefield and George McNight versus Karl Steen. Don Dexter will face Don Biehn in the other wrestling go.

UO Netters Slate Portland Openers

With a hopeful eye toward the weatherman, Oregon's varsity tennis team will head for the Portland area this weekend to open the season with a pair of matches against Reed college and Portland university.

New Coach Hilbert Lee has ten dual matches scheduled for the netmen in addition to the Northern Division meet at Pullman May 20-21. The Pilots and Griffins will come to Eugene later for return matches. Other non-conference play is slated with Seattle and the Oregon Medical school, both at Eugene.

Lee is also in charge of the freshman team, with its first meet tentatively scheduled for April 30 in Eugene against Corvallis high school. Grant of Portland, Roseburg and the Oregon State Rocks will probably provide other competition.

Frosh Schedule Pair In Portland Saturday To Begin Season Play

Oregon's promising Frosh baseball squad will open the season against Portland's Cleveland high school Indians in a home double-header tentatively scheduled for Saturday, April 2.

Final arrangements on a date will not be complete until later this week.

Weather has limited this week's drills to light indoor workouts plus several movies and chalk talks. Coach Bob Basich issued uniforms for the first time Tuesday, and he expects to have his team down to about 25 men by the end of the week.
