MANILA (AP) — The death toll from the worst quake of the century in the Philippines reached 432 Sunday, the Philippine News service reported.

Charles R. Burrows, U.S. charge d'affaires, offered full American aid in the tremendous task of combatting disease and suffering in the southern Philippines.

The Philippine Red Cross said 12,000 were homeless. It estimated 300 injured. But Philippine News service said the number had risen to 2,000 as fresh reports came in from remote districts.

Hardest hit in Friday's great quake was the Lake Lanao district in Northern Mindanao, second largest island of the Philippines.

Most of the casualties came from this region, where the earth cracked open, stone buildings came crashing down and sleeping villagers were swept to their deaths by a tidal wave.

Property damage was in the millions.

Burrows' offer of aid was made to President Ramon Magsaysay, Magsaysay, who visited Mindanao, said the destruction was terrible.

"I hasten to extend to you and to the Philippine people my sincere sympathy and the sympathy of my government," Burrows said in a message to Magsaysay.

"You may be sure in this emergency that my government stands ready to be of assistance."

Red Cross Sends Aid

The Philippine Red Cross hurried food, clothing, medicine and tents to the stricken areas. A U.S. Air Force medical team was sent from Clark Air Force base.

Secretary of State Dulles also sent a message to Carlos P. Garcia, vice president and foreign secretary.

"I assure you of my sympathy," Dulles said, "and my desire to support whatever steps United States government agencies can take to assist in measures of relief."

Operation Easter Egg To Be Promoted on TV

Three members of the Operation Easter Egg committee will make a television appearance tonight over station KVAL-TV.

Appearing on the Red Reynolds' show at 6 p.m. will be Bud Hinkson and Martin Bradenfels, general co-chairmen, and Anne Hill, publicity chairman.

Miss Hill has also made several spot announcements and interviews for radio broadcasts during the week promoting the Easter egg hunt and variety show to be held on campus Saturday afternoon.

Primary grade students in Eugene schools have been extended invitations to the event, which is sponsored by the Eugene Active club and the junior class,

'American Dream' Faulkner's Topic

William Faulkner, winner of the 1949 Nobel prize in literature, will speak April 13, in the Student Union. Faulkner, who is appearing on campus as a failing distinguished lecturer, will speak on "The American Dream — What Happened to It?"

Generally considered America's outstanding novelist, Faulkner has won many literary honors in his twenty-five year career. Besides the 1949 Nobel prize, he won the O. Henry Memorial short story award in 1939 and 1940 and the National Gold book award in 1951.

This year he received the National Book award for "The Fable."

NAACP Elections Postponed Thurs.

Election of officers for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was postponed at Thursday night's meeting because of poor attendance. The election was re-scheduled for the next NAACP forum.

The group voted to continue its forum program during spring term. Tentative topics are "Causes and Cures of Prejudice," "The High Cost of Discrimination," "Relegion's Role in Group Relations," and "The Role of the Emancipated Woman in American Society."

Thurgood Marshall, prominent American Negro lawyer and legal counsel for the national committee of the NAACP, also will speak at one of the association's meetings during his stay on the University campus.

Open Rushing Starts Today

Spring term open rushing for both men and women opens today for a three-week period.

Rushing will be conducted on an informal basis, with students indicating what houses they are interested in when they sign up for rush at the office of student affairs.

The houses will then issue dinner invitations to the rushees on an individual basis. All students who wish to rush must have a 2.0 GPA in their last term of school, or a 2.0 cumulative GPA.

Women who intend to rush must have signed up at the office of student affairs by last Friday. Men can sign up anytime before April 25, but must sign up at least one week (five class days) before pledging.

A $5 fee will be charged to students who have not rushed previously.
