Ducks Trip Portland; Post 3-0, 6-5 Wins

By Buzz Nelson
Emerald Assistant Sports Editor

Oregon rallied for two runs in the seventh and last inning Tuesday afternoon to edge the Portland Pilots 6-5 in the second game and sweep a doubleheader at Vaughn street ball park in Portland.

The Ducks took the first game 3-0 as Bill Blodgett blanked the Pilots on three singles.

Coach Don Kirsch's club opens the home season this afternoon when they face Lewis and Clark college on Howe field. Game time is 3 p.m.

Maddox vs. Hyde

Terry Maddox, sophomore from Medford is the likely starting hurler for today's clash. Ray Hyde, who whipped Oregon last year, will probably toss for the Pioneers.

Portland had seized a 5-4 lead in the sixth inning of the second game when Ted Norbert, son of the old Portland Beaver favorite of the same name, pinch hit a three-run homer.

But Maddox led off the Duck seventh with a sharp single to left. Pete Williams dropped another single into left, and then Maddox scored when Portland Pitcher Joe Erceg threw wild to first on Jim Johnson's sacrifice.

Erceg got the next two men out, but Williams came in to score when the try for a force play at second on Jim Pingree's infield grounder failed to catch the runner coming down from first.

Williams Relieves

Williams pitched the last of the seventh and retired Portland one-two-three for the ball game.

In the first contest, Blodgett worked in and out of trouble but had plenty of stuff whenever the Pilots threatened.

Oregon jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first as George Shaw hit a fly 335 feet into the left field bleachers for a home run.

The margin went to 2-0 in the second as Williams singled with one down, stole second, moved to third as Jerry Ross went out and tallied on Neal Marlett's single.

The final score came in the seventh as Ross walked, and then stole second, third, and home for the run.

WILDLIFE Lines

If you're wondering how to kill the time until June when final exams commence again, here are a few suggestions.

Varmint hunting seems to be at a standstill with the grey-diggers and rockchucks not putting in too consistent an appearance in this area yet, but you can still shoot the cob webs out of the old leadslinger.

If you're a scattergun fan why not try skeet or trap? These clay pigeon games are a favorite pastime with many shotgun enthusiasts during the time when they're not shooting holes around pheasants and ducks.

Trap consists of a series of shots from each of five different stations. A round is made up of 25 shots or five from each station. The clay pigeon is released anywhere from 16 to 26 yards in front of the shooter, depending upon his ability. The shot always is at a rising, going-away bird, similar to the cackling rise of the cock pheasant.

Eugene Trap Range Nearby

There is a trap range at the Eugene Gun club, on west 11th street, that is public. The gun club holds organized shoots every Sunday, and anyone can enter.

Skeet is a little closer to actual game shooting. The skeet shooter makes the round of eight different stations, which are located in a semi-circle around the two skeet houses.

The birds are released high and crossing from the "high house," and skimmed along low from the so-called "low house." The two houses are facing each other, and the birds are released at a slight angle away from the opposite house.

Skeet calls for fast gun handling and a quick two shots. An open bored gun is best and number eight shot seems to be most popular. The trap gun is usually a long barreled full choke gun, and number seven and one-half shot is the favorite for this more deliberate game.

'Skish' Popular for Anglers

The fisherman doesn't need to stow his rod just because the spring salmon are not running too well yet. For him there is a very popular game called "Skish."

Skish is played by casting at 30 inch rings placed at distances unknown to the caster. The fly caster casts distances from 30 to 50 feet and the bait caster casts at rings placed from 40 to 80 feet from his casting position.

The chief factor for Skish's popularity is that it is played with regulation fishing tackle. There's no specialized tackle for the skisher. Accuracy is what counts, and practice is a must.

Organized Clubs Few

We have been informed that Coos Bay is the closest town that has a casting club, so that sort of puts the bit to organized skish. But that shouldn't stop the enthusiastic fisherman.

People may stare when they see you casting on the lawn at a garbage can, or some other target, but it surely is good practice. In the few days we've spent casting on our lawn, we've had many people stop and express a desire to learn to cast.

If you want to spend time fishing opening day, instead of climbing trees to retrieve your lures, you've got to practice and get your reflexes in shape. Here's where a little casting in your spare time will do wonders. As the national Skish organization says, "If you can't go fishing, try Skishing."

Bob Baker Moves Up in Rating; Johnson Called Logical Contender

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Heavyweight boxer Bob Baker is advanced to "outstanding boxer" and Harold Johnson is back at his old stand of logical light heavyweight contender in the spring ratings of the National Boxing Association. Baker's promotion from honorable member to one of the outstanding heavyweights reflects his string of nine straight victories, NBA Championship Committee Chairman Fred Saddy said in releasing the quarterly ratings Tuesday. Baker's last win was over Julio Mederos of Cuba.

Doak Walker Unsure About Retiring

DALLAS (AP)—Doak Walker remained undecided Tuesday night on whether he would continue in professional football or retire to private business but he had the word of the Detroit Lions that they will pay the price he wants if he cares to sign a new contract.

Nick Kerbawy, general manager of the Lions, conferred with Walker, halfback star of the Lions, for several hours Tuesday, seeking to sign him to a pact.

Two Forfeits Mar IM Softball Play

A pair of forfeits, two run-aways and two tight games highlighted intramural softball action Tuesday in the second day of competition.

Joyle Dahl pitched a no-hitter and struck out 10 of 12 men to face him as Sigma Alpha Epsilon downed Lambda Chi Alpha, 14-0.

Dahl Near-Perfect

Dahl struck out the side in the first and third innings and allowed the ball to be hit only twice. The fast-balling sophomore's perfect performance was marred only by a groundout in the second inning and a fly-out to right field in the fourth.

Meanwhile the SAE hitters teed off on the Lambda Chi Alpha chucker for six runs in the second inning and five more in the third to go with one in the first and two in the fourth.

Alphaholic Rally Fails

Barrister Inn survived a last-inning hitting rally by Alpha hall to win its first start of the season, 5-2.

Dick McDaniel was the big factor in the Barrister win as he held Alpha to three hits and two runs, all coming in the last two innings.

Gordon Sakamoto's triple in the second inning broke open a scoreless game as he led Barrister to a 3-0 lead that lasted until the fourth. After Barrister scored two more, Alpha pushed over a run to make it 5-1 after four.

In the last half of the fifth, two walks and a single scored another run for the Alphaholics, who loaded the bases again before McDaniel retired the last batter on a ground ball to third.

Hinman Throws One-Hitter

Phi Kappa Sigma trounced Kappa Sigma's softballers, 7-1, on the strength of a one-hit pitching performance by Bob Hinman.

Hinman also led the Phi Kap's at bat with a home run. Jack Murray allowed only four hits for the Kappa Sigs, but the Phi Kap's bunched their bingos to win, going away.

French Aced by Frosh

Jerry Martin's two-run single in the bottom of the third pulled the Straub Frosh out of a one run deficit into the winners' seat against French hall.

Ed Forbes singled and scored on a hit by George Twidwell to put the French nine in the lead in the top of the first. The Straub Frosh left three stranded in their half, but came back in the second to tally on a walked-in run, with two out and the bases loaded.

Lee Bumford homered for French in the third, but Martin's timely single pulled the game out of the fire for the Frosh. French scored three runs on three hits in the fourth and held the Frosh scoreless, but the score was reverted to the bottom of the third, as the action was past six o'clock.

Nestor and Sederstrom took easy wins with-forfeit victories over Chinery and Gamma when the latter teams failed to show for their games.
