

Living Organizations To Entertain Children

By Anne Hill

Emerald Assistant News Editor

The first Operation Easter Egg will be held Saturday afternoon with campus living organizations playing host to 2000 children.

Children in the first, second and third grades from 21 Eugene elementary schools will take part in the pre-Easter event, which is sponsored by the junior class and Eugene Active club.

Crippled children will attend the variety show after having a special egg hunt presented by the Active club at the hospital.

Whole grades will be assigned to paired living organizations where they will be served ice cream and cookies before the hunt. Children will arrive on campus at 1:30 p.m.

A live Easter bunny will be hopping around the old campus during the Hunt which begins at 2 p.m. Thirteenth street will be blocked off during this time.

A special section will be set up in front of Commonwealth hall for a lost-and-found area. A microphone will be there to help locate lost children.

Nurses from the infirmary will be standing by in case any children are hurt.

Following the hunt, children who found prize Easter eggs will be awarded prizes, which are being donated by downtown merchants.

Variety Show Planned

A variety show will start at 3:45 in McArthur court. The show will include numbers by Pat Viles, Ken Kesey doing a magician's act, Conrad Larsen doing a fire eating act, and a play "Three Bears," which will be presented by the Stage Door theater, a local high school group.

Signs bearing the name of the living organization and schools will be placed on the lawns when children first arrive. They will then be carried around the campus as a means of keeping the groups together. After the variety show the signs will be in front of Mac court to help parents find their children.

These signs are being made by Lambda Chi Alpha and will be distributed Saturday morning.

Each child and student will have an arm band corresponding to the sign of their organization.

Eggs are being colored by women's living organizations and will be hidden immediately before the hunt.

Women's houses are preparing 160 cookies per house and each men's living organization is asked to donate 75 cents to pay for ice cream.

Veterans' Committee Not Given Approval

Recognition was denied the newly-formed campus Veterans' Committee by the Student Affairs committee Thursday pending selection of a faculty adviser by the group.

Donald M. DuShane, chairman of the committee, stressed that the committee's action does not imply disapproval, but that recognition of any group is contingent upon selection of a faculty adviser.

The committee also defeated a motion which would ban all fund raising drives which are not campus-wide, class-wide, or for charity. The committee expressed the feeling that such action should be left up to individual living organizations.

ASUO President Bob Summers announced that Jerry Harrell, editor of the Emerald, has been appointed to fill the vacancy on the board created by the ineligibility of Bob Pollock due to grades.

The Museum of Oriental Arts will honor the birthday of Siddhatha Gautama, founder of Buddhism, April 14. Gautama's birthday is April 8, but the observance was postponed because of Good Friday.

The museum administration is also honoring Jiro Harada, lecturer on Japanese arts at Oregon during 1935 and 1936. His contributions to Oregon's educational program were recognized when Oregon granted him an honorary Lit. D. degree.

One of the sculptured images which will be featured during the display of the month at the museum was presented to Oregon as a token of gratitude for his being here by the imperial government of Japan.

Reception Planned

A public reception will be held April 14, at 4 p.m. in the museum. W. S. Baldinger, director of the museum, will speak on the subject, "Buddhist Beliefs and Their Expression in Sculpture." The Oriental Art Study group is sponsoring the program.

One of the museum's works, a carved wooden image of Siddhatha Gaulama, which was made about 900 years ago, will be placed in the position of honor among three other sculptured images for the new masterpiece of the month display.

This group will be shown alone in a special room set up to sim-

Second Veterans Group Organized

A second veterans' committee was formed Thursday evening when sixteen students met in Barrister Inn. The group calls itself the "Veterans' Committee of More Than Ten."

The group elected officers and appointed a constitution committee which will submit its proposed constitution at the group's next meeting.

"We do not plan on entering campus politics," stated Orlo Wipf, senior in political science and spokesman for the group. "However, the veterans will hold a meeting and vote at the command of the veterans' commander."

Officers elected at the meeting were Bob Schooling, veterans' commander; James Wells, veterans' executive officer; Dave Epperson, veterans' adjutant, and Wipf, veterans' sergeant ma-

mor. Wipf is to serve as the group's treasurer and spokesman.

Members of the group said that the local Veterans' Administration office should be given support for the work it has done and that veterans must not be "misrepresented by small groups."

Dave Roberts Re-elected Campus YMCA President

Dave Roberts, sophomore in liberal arts, was re-elected president of the campus YMCA Wednesday. Vice-President will be Elton Engstrom, and Roger Miller will serve as treasurer. Elliot Carlson will be secretary.

Spring term plans for the YMCA include a discussion series on "Love, Faith and Sex," to be led by professors and students. There will also be visitations to churches, and the YMCA-sponsored trip to the Oregon legislature on April 16.

Kip Wharton Will Run For Senior President

Kip Wharton, junior in business and a veteran of four years of Navy service, announced his candidacy for senior class president Thursday.

Wharton, a member of United Independent Students, has served as president of both Inter-hall council and Alpha hall for 1954-

55. He is currently platform committee chairman for UIS.

"The Senate lacks power," Wharton believes, "because it doesn't follow up its issues." An example of this, he feels, was the "two-card" issue, where the administration overruled a Senate decision to combine athletic and studentbody cards and no further pressure was brought to bear. He is in favor of a Senate with a more rigid attitude in its policies.

Wharton is also serving as public relations chairman for this year's canoe fete.

The UIS party platform has not been announced as yet, but Wharton expressed his "full support of its stands and policies."

Men's Housing Lists for 'Preview' Must Be Submitted by 2 pm Monday

Men's housing lists for Duck Preview must be turned in to the office of Brad Blaine, men's counselor, in the Student Affairs office, by 2 p.m. Monday.

Lists must be submitted in alphabetical order and typed in triplicate, according to Don Peck, chairman of men's housing.

Official registration for the weekend will be from 7 to 10 p.m. April 22 and from 9 to 12 a.m. April 23.

Unofficial registration may be completed Friday afternoon, April 22.

Registration lines will be conducted like fall-term University registration, with separate tables for alphabetical sections.

High school students should not use stairways in the Student Union, in order to avoid congestion during registration, Peck said. Members of Kwama and Skull and Dagger will meet the guests by the elevator, when they have finished registering, and will help transport their luggage directly to the living organizations.

ASUO President Bob Summers will act as master of ceremonies for the Saturday morning orientation assembly, and Jane Bergstrom, AWS president, will describe campus women's organizations. Another speaker for the assembly will be Ron Christensen, who will represent the campus religious groups.

A tentative program includes numbers by both the University Singers and the concert band, according to Barbara Williams, assembly co-chairman.

Deadline Extended By Student Union

The deadline for submission of petitions for next year's Student Union board has been extended until 5 p.m. today, according to Jack Socolofsky, assistant chairman of the board.

Petition forms may be obtained from the ASUO petition box on the third floor of the SU and may be returned to the box or to the SU board chairman's office on the third floor.

Two year positions, to be filled by sophomores, include: school of architecture and allied arts, school of music, college of liberal arts, and school of health and physical education.

One year terms are open in the law school and the graduate school.

Holdover members of the board represent the schools of education, business and journalism.

'Messiah' Presentation Scheduled for Sunday

The school of music will present the Choral Union, University Singers, and University Orchestra, in the second and third parts of the "Messiah," Sunday at 8:15 p.m. in McArthur court. Only the Easter portion of the musical story of Christ will be performed.

M. D. Risinger, assistant professor of music, will conduct the group.

The program will begin with the chorus's presentation of "Comfort Ye My People, Saith your God," followed by "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted," featuring John Moseley, tenor. The chorus will then sing two numbers, "And the Glory of the Lord," and "This Saith the Lord of Hosts." Audrey Mistretta, contralto, will sing "He shall feed His flock."

The chorus will perform "Behold the Lamb of God," followed by Miss Mistretta singing "He was Despised." Surely He Hath Borne our Grievs," and "Thy Rebuke hath Broken His Heart," will be rendered by the chorus, followed by Moseley's second selection, "Behold, and See."

The chorus will sing "Lift up

Your Heads," followed by "How Beautiful are the Feet," sung by soprano soloist Ann Stearns, and "Why do the Nations," featuring James Carkhuff, baritone.

The chorus will answer with "Since by Man Came Death," and Patricia Taylor, soprano, will sing "I know that my Redeemer Liveth." The musical story will be climaxed by the chorus's finale of "Hallelujah!"

Nearly 300 students will take part in the program, to which the public has been invited.
